

TULELAKE BOY KILLED MONDAY IN ACCIDENT

"Jim" Nelson is survived by his mother and two brothers, Robert in the South Pacific with the U. S. Army, William, who is at home, and one sister, Pvt. Evelyn Nelson, stationed with the WAC in Georgia. The family is well known in this area and Mrs. Nelson, mother of "Jim," is the sister of Mrs. George W. Osborne of Tulelake. James Nelson was born April 10, 1927, in Grange, Wash. He was active in the Presbyterian church at Tulelake and held office in the Christian Endeavor. He had recently returned from a young peoples' conference and had entered school which closed a week ago for harvest. Ward's ambulance was summoned to the scene of the accident and returned to Klamath Falls with the body. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

figure would soon be doubled or possibly tripled. Considering our increasing expenditures and realizing the unlimited supply of financial and recreational facilities provided by the USO, we felt they were better equipped to carry out the program we wanted for our servicemen.

Didn't "Walk Out"
"Perhaps it may have appeared to some of you that by disbanding, we walked out on the servicemen, but that is not true. We are still in there pitching as individuals. We are seeing our dreams and hopes of yesterday coming true. The new USO building to be constructed in Klamath will be one of the finest to be found on our Pacific coast. We didn't want to give up, we expended every effort and it took a lot of discussion before we reached our final decision. "Remember your Commando unit died by its own hand and for a purpose. A cause that is far greater than we could ever hope to be."

Work for Servicemen
"Please keep in mind you were not working for us nor are you working for the USO. You are working for the servicemen. Unless the spirit which ostered your Commando unit is kept alive all of our ground work has been in vain. "This beautiful USO building must still be operated by local people and you must continue to provide the food donations. You have it within your power to make our local center a lasting memory of every boy entering its portals. "We have a great pride in our community and appreciate your faith and loyalty in our organization. May we ask one last favor of each and every one of you? Do not erase the record of being the most hospitable town in the world by failing to do your part."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The supreme court refused today to reconsider its decision that interstate commerce and is subject to the Sherman anti-trust act. The South-Eastern Underwriters association in asking a rehearing of the case involving its activities told the high tribunal that the decision last June has brought about a situation where "hazards have been imposed upon the negotiation of every insurance contract and the very conduct of the insurance has been rendered perilous." The court decided the question by a 4 to 3 vote, Justices Roberts and Reed taking no part in the case. The association in requesting reconsideration said a case of this character should be decided by a majority of the whole court.
