

Slammin' Sam "Grey Mask" Wins Rassling Cage League
Back on Trail Go Over "Blood and Guts" Under Way Of Links Gold

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—The boys around the professional golf circuit have a new worry on their minds today — Sam Snead is back, ready to start slamming down golf's gold trail.

Slamming Sam, who had the hottest clubs in golf when he enlisted in the navy after winning the 1942 Professional Golfers association title, recently received a medical discharge. And he doesn't intend to let any divots grow under his feet before he goes back to reclaim that crown, and regain ranking as one of the game's leading money winners.

He intends to start down an exhibition trail while awaiting the winter play-for-pay circuit's opening with Bob Hamilton, 1944 PGA titlist, as his companion. The two will get together tomorrow in Evansville, Ind., Hamilton's home town, in the first of a series of matches that will end in Portland, Ore., when both go after the Oregon open title.

Snead, a first class petty officer when discharged by the navy, says a back ailment that prevented his enlistment early in the war eventually ended his naval career. But, he says, it has not interfered with his swing and he expects to pick up where he left off with the PGA title before his induction.

Snead said he planned to take in all the west coast tournaments this winter, starting at Portland and going down through California, Phoenix, Ariz., Texas, New Orleans and Florida.

Beatty Man Returns From South Pacific

BEATTY—Just back from the South Pacific are Cpl. Marvin J. Walker and his friend, Sgt. Frank J. Ladd.

They arrived in Klamath Falls October 6 and were met by Marvin Walker's mother, Mrs. Effie Driscoll of Beatty. They went immediately to the Walker ranch just north of Beatty where a welcome home party was held for the men.

Members of the 2nd tank battalion of the 2nd marine division, these two men are veterans of the Guadalcanal, Gilberts and Marianas campaigns.

Sgt. Ladd will spend a few days with the Walkers at the ranch before going on to his own home to be reunited with his mother, Mrs. Orena Ladd of Indianapolis.

Only a short time ago Cpl. Walker was decorated with the Purple Heart for wounds received in the battle of Tarawa.

Before a capacity crowd at the armory last night, the savage "Grey Mask" took the final half of a double main event by employing his favorite head knocks and cannonballs to "Blood and Guts" Davidson. The Mask knew he had been some place, however, as Dave gained the first fall with a back-breaker, followed by a body press. "Blood and Guts" tried repeatedly to tear the hood off the face of the Mask but met with no more success than his predecessors. The masked marvel came back to grab the second tumble with a number of head butts, followed by his famed cannonball. After this rugged treatment, Dave requested an additional five minutes to get his bearings but the Mask, never ready to oblige, refused. "Blood and Guts" showed he wasn't in the marine corps for nothing by making a game attempt to come back, but he was shaken up too much and the hooded heel took the final drop and the match with another cannonball.

The newcomer, Tony Ross, upset the dope bucket by knocking over Joltin' Jack Kizer, the Pacific coast light-heavyweight king, in the first half of the double bill. When he said Tony was a mean sort of individual, we really called the shot for once, as he did everything but throw the ring posts at Kizer.

Ross, a product of Oklahoma, pinned Jack with a back-breaker followed by a body press, to take the first fall. Kizer returned to even matters with some play in the ropes, followed by a body press. The Oklahoma bad man was not to be denied, however, and tossed Kizer through the ropes injuring his back. Jack climbed back in the ring but Ross was waiting and took the match with a body press.

In the opener, Herb Parks and Tex Porter battered each other to a draw. Tax got the nod for the first tumble with a self-strangle hold and no fall was gained in the second round. In the final frame, Porter attempted to use illegal strangle holds and Referee Wally Moss gave the round to Parks.

This winds up the rassling for this week, but there will be more mat mayhem committed next Friday, same time, same place, with another red hot card on deck.

Three factors, according to the Public Roads Administration, determine the efficiency of a highway system: new construction, improvements, and maintenance. All three factors have been adversely affected by the war.

The Marine Barracks Inter-Company Basketball League Officially Opened on the Post's Gymnasium Court This Week, Under the Direction of Lt. Francis Hogan, Athletic Officer, and His Assistants, S/Sgt. Russell Cleveland and Sgt. Les Israel.

The schedule calls for two games to be played each day, five days a week, and is in close accordance with the rehabilitation program that has been put in operation, in which each individual man is urged to participate in at least one of the activities in the post's extensive athletic program.

After the first week of league play, H&S Company has been found to be the team to beat, as the cagers from that outfit sparked by 6-foot-4-inch PFC Ernie Semsky, set back C Company 68 to 32, and A Company, 37 to 25.
