Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

OUR voters' pamphlet came through the mail today from the office of Bob Farrell, secretary of state.

All registered voters will get the pamphlet in a few days. This is a distinctive Oregon public service, giving every registered voter an opportunity to read the texts and arguments on all direct legislative measures, as well as to learn something about national, state and district candidates who care to purchase space in the pamphlet.

The Oregon law is mandatory as regards the publication of the text and ballot title of the measures to be submitted to the people at the general election. Provision is made for sponsors of measures to provide favorable arguments, and for opponents to file opposing arguments. Candidates may, or may not, as they wish, place their pictures and campaign statements in the pamphlet.

A lot of people we know have never paid much attention to their voters' pamphlets. If they are careful readers of their newspapers, they have probably obtained the same information by the time election day rolls around. But the pamphlet is a collection of a lot of important information, that can be kept available at all times for reference, and we think it is a good thing to read and to preserve until after election day.

Measure Classifications

NINE state measures will be voted upon by the people at the general election. This makes for a lengthy ballot, and it probably means there will be a great deal of hit-and-miss voting that is poorly informed on the measures.

Six of the measures were referred to the people by the legislature. Of these, four are constitutional amendments, and two are bills.

One of the measures is a referendum ordered by a petition of the people. This means that the measure was passed by the legislature, but that its opponents secured sufficient names to force a popular vote upon it.

The other two measures are initiative proposals—that is, they were initiated by petitions circulated among the voters, and have not been before the legislature.

From time to time in the next few weeks, this column will discuss various measures, in the hope of developing public interest in them and promoting an informed vote on November 7. We urge that our readers go to the trouble of reading the texts and ballot titles of the measures, at least. The pride they take in being registered Oregon voters should cause them to do no less.

Briefs From the Pocket File

DR. LLOYD GOBLE, Klamath optometrist, is wearing a Roosevelt picture button. . . It's a 1904 button, and the picture is that of Theodore Roosevelt, republican candidate who licked Bryan in the 1904 presidential election. . . The button is a lot bigger than the campaign celluloids worn nowadays. . . A youngster we know is wearing a "no third term" button. . . When we asked him about it, he replied simply that he is against a third term. . . In one general election contest in Klamath the candidates are exactly the same as four years ago. . . That's the contest for 17th district senator, with Senator Marshall Cornett and Marius Petersen the contestants. . . The 17th district, incidentally, embraces Klamath, Lake, Deschutes, Crook and Jefferson counties. . . The war, for obvious reasons, attracts interest from politics this election year. . . But that doesn't mean important decisions are not to be made at the polls.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 — Good old Dan Tobin's gentlemen of the Teamsters union are presumed to have become so efficient at the opportunity of becoming the first audience to be addressed by Mr. Roosevelt in opening his campaign in the usual partisan sense that they beat up a couple of naval officers who had straggled into the Statler hotel here after the speech.

The officers were looking for a dance to which they had been invited, the beating being administered because they did not have politics on their minds and declined to answer courteously the inquiries of the teamsters as to whether, as navy men, they intended to vote for Roosevelt.

That is the way it has been presented to the public, and left, but that is not the way it happened.

The teamsters did not assemble here for union business purposes of their own. Nor did they come voluntarily to cheer Mr. Roosevelt. They were ordered to Washington by Mr. Tobin for the special and sole purpose of becoming a background for the president's "first" partisan effort.

Many of them were drafted all the way across the country by their union boss, and did not like it. Aside from the tribulations of travel these days, a few of the coast unions actually did not have the cash in the till to make the trip and sold government bonds from their treasuries to get the funds together.

Partisan Unrest

THESE especially did not care for the honor. They cheered, as required, but the way they talked when they returned home, (my information comes from union sources) indicates not only that L'Affaire Tobine was less of the gala political festival than advertised, but that there is dark partisan unrest within the union labor crowd that has been assumed to be wholeheartedly for Roosevelt.

The best possible non-partisan authority recently has made a check of inner union campaign trends and returned here with doubts that put even California and Washington in unsure categories. Mr. Roosevelt is holding a good portion of the CIO satisfactorily, but the AFL is pretty well split. To hold the coast he must keep the AFL.

The diverging elements are not running off haphazardly but are moving deliberately and solely on the question of what is best for their particular unions.

The Hillman leadership is distinctly unpopular among all AFL people, even those unioners who intend to vote for Mr. R. They foresee Hillman and his associates gathering around a Roosevelt victory increasing power over all the labor movement, possibly absorbing it if he can muster the power.

Gompers Wiser

THE old Gompers political leadership was unquestionably the wisest union labor has enjoyed in all its history in this country. His counsel was to make both republicans and democrats equally amenable to labor influence. He refused to endorse fully even such a purely labor third party attempt as the elder late Senator La Follette made in 1924.

The wisdom of this course lay in the odds that sooner or later, by strictly partisan political alignments, labor would one day suffer political defeat and do its major interest irreparable damage. Even as far as matters have gone in this campaign, it is evident that AFL will have Washington backing to assume leadership in labor to the detriment of CIO, if Dewey wins.

Personally I do not fully accept yet the evidence that the strongest class support Mr. Roosevelt enjoys, is critically breaking up, but certainly the evidence is sufficient to warn of the possibilities of a November 7 surprise.

FROM A VISITOR

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (To the Editor)—If you see fit will you publish this letter from a visitor to your town who hopes to establish a business here if conditions seem to warrant.

Anyone interested in locating here wants to know what general living conditions are and what the tax load will be. This is not only because of the cost to him, but he knows that if living conditions and tax rates are undesirable the population will not increase but decline and thus leave more and more property in the hands of the county and city and therefore untaxed, thus throwing a greater and greater burden on the remaining property owners and therefore bring a constantly increasing tax until it becomes confiscatory and the town dies by its own hand.

You have a beautiful large park near the lake that would be suitable for your larger gatherings and picnics, that can only be reached by car. Small community parks or rest spots for children and grownups are very desirable. I note several of these about town but only one or two kept suitable for use. A downtown small rest place where one is not in obligation to any commercial establishment would be very attractive to visitors and residents alike.

If your town can not afford to keep up its present small parks and keep streets clear of broken glass etc., can you afford to lay away a nestegg for another park that will not only require cost to build and put in attractive order but heavy maintenance and policing?

I have been in military service and give all honor to the present armed forces, living and dead. I believe they would like a centrally located memorial best.

Are sanitary conditions of water tributary to the proposed park suitable? If your sewage disposal empties into the lake without proper treatment it would be dangerous. If you take in much new territory within your limits you will have an unavoidable heavy cost of sanitary development which would be met by levy, doubtless. This would be a necessary and sound development.

A sound businesslike administration attracts business and homes.

Very truly,

LEADERS BENEFIT FROM SCOUTING

Adult volunteer workers who serve as troop leaders, committee members and assistants for Girl Scouting get as much fun and benefit out of their scout work as the girls themselves, according to Mary Stevenson of the Girl Scout national staff. Visiting Klamath Falls in her official capacity as training advisor, Miss Stevenson will work with the council and executive secretary.

Women become interested in Girl Scouting as a service to the girls, and then discover that they've done themselves a good turn, too. They develop new interests, hobbies and friends—and association with the younger generation rejuvenates their own spirits and points of view," Miss Stevenson said.

Thousands of Girl Scouts are taking part in the war effort, by collecting salvage, working for or in hospitals, making scrapbooks for convalescent soldiers, aiding as blood donor centers, learning how to raise and prepare foods, carrying on other important and useful wartime services, Miss Stevenson reported.

Membership in the Girl Scouts has increased more than 33.7 per cent since Pearl Harbor, and there are 1,008,644 girls taking part in the program. Many more would join if room could be found for them in the already overcrowded troops.

"More leaders and adult volunteers is the answer," Miss Stevenson said. "Even though there are nearly 200,000 women—and men, too—enlisted in Girl Scouting, twice as many could be used. Any woman who can give an hour or two a week—or a month—to the girls of her community will find a job for her in Girl Scouting, and one which will repay her a thousandfold."

Giant Locomotive Now In Portland

PORTLAND, Oct. 17 (AP)—One of the largest locomotives ever brought into Portland—a 1,081,000-pounder capable of hauling 200 to 250 loaded freight cars—is serving with the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railway.

The 126-foot engine, one of two specially built for the line, was delivered here Saturday and made its initial run to Spokane yesterday. The giant, equipped with special movable drivers to enable it to negotiate curves without leaving the tracks, will ply over a 4 per cent grade roadbed between here and Spokane.

WINTER STREET PROBLEM HEARD BY COUNCILMEN

Winter arrived early for members of the city council when almost two hours of Monday night's meeting was devoted to discussion of street problems which residents hope will be remedied before the onslaught of bad weather.

George Kunzman, resident of the Biehn and Lowell streets area, headed a delegation which has sought for several years to rectify a condition resulting from improper drainage. Following lengthy discussion, A. H. Bussman, chairman of the street committee, recommended that a culvert be installed at the alley off Biehn, culverts on each side of Ohio and Holabird streets, and that three loads of rock from the surplus cemetery supply, be placed on low spots on Lowell.

He also made other recommendations, approved by the council. Parking strips were roundly discussed, especially on streets where "no parking" signs are stationed. A. J. Kroenert of the Klamath Business college which has just taken over quarters at the Hanks' home, where the Klamath county health unit has been established, asked for permission to put up a barrier to keep cars from ruining the lawn.

To Remove Tree
R. H. Dunbar, representing members of the First Christian church, was given permission to take out a large locust tree at 9th and Pine, and to place a curb on the 9th street side. That action and blacktopping the parking strip there, was referred to the street chairman and city engineer.

A letter was read from L. E. Geist, manager of M&M market, and Frank Clanton of Pacific Fruit and Produce, favoring a city ordinance controlling wholesale and retail peddlers. They suggested such an ordinance would "furnish protection to local merchants." The mayor will seek further information and report back.

Urges "No" Vote
A resolution was presented to the council by the Klamath Realty board, urging a "no" vote on all special levies and bond issues unless there is a "real emergency." The resolution was placed on file.

Charles Stark, secretary of the Klamath county chamber of commerce, also submitted a communication urging city council's cooperation in post-war planning on the aviation problem. The city chairman, G. A. Krause, and members of his committee will meet with the city planning commission and the chamber of commerce at the suggestion of the council.

Appointment Approved
The mayor's appointment of James Souther on the boxing commission, replacing Major Robert A. Thompson, was approved.

Chief of Police Earl Heuvel presented a five-year graph to the city council, showing activities of his department.

WPB RELAXES RESTRICTIONS FOR HOUSES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—Restrictions were relaxed today to permit construction of an approximating prewar standard by the war production board. The national housing act "will permit builders to use of materials and equipment as they become available."

Restrictions on total floor area were relaxed, and were removed, but the maximum board-foot allowance of dimension lumber per square foot of floor area was retained.

Another relaxation eliminated a requirement that in areas exterior walls be of brick, clay, or concrete. Houses now can be built of wood to minimum construction requirements of the federal administration.

Any materials that can be obtained without a priority may be used. Among other relaxations the removal of:

- 1. The limitation on the number of electrical outlets.
- 2. Restrictions on the hot water storage tanks.
- 3. The requirement that rooms and kitchens be backed.

Retained are general provisions requiring conservation of lumber and other materials. "The net result of changes will be to permit builder a greater freedom of design and the use of material housing construction," the agencies said.

SERMONS DIRECT FROM THE BIBLE THE BIBLE

Do you appreciate the fact that you have a Bible get one for the asking? Few people of this generation realize or even know the sacrifice that has been made for human blood, that we may have and may read our Bibles at any time, protected by the laws of our land. How many years ago the English Bible was "banned and burned" and those who read it tortured and banished? John Wesley finished his translation of the Bible into English in 1739. Without the aid of printing it was circulated among people in manuscript form. It was sternly opposed church and state. Yet within a few years, "the sword of God's word had been tested by great multitudes." It set up all night to read or hear it read. Some gave as much as $200.00 for a book. Others gave a load of hay or farm products for a few chapters from Paul. When Coverdale's efforts resulted in "The Great Bible" enjoyed official recognition, chained copies were stored in the churches. Crowds would gather around it if someone read. Our access to the Word of God is a privilege. Do we appreciate it?

Paul looking down the stream of time wrote to Timothy: "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but having itching ears, will hear to themselves teachers after their own lusts; and will turn their ears from the truth, and turn aside unto fables." 2 Tim. 4:3-4. Was Paul talking about this generation? Do you lose your faith, if you ever had any? Are you a Bible reader?

A thoughtful person simply cannot experience the rows and joys of this life and be disinterested in the life of eternity. How long is eternity? This question is perplexed many but remains unanswered. Eternity is a personal question because it will be experienced by each individual of mankind. Although your body will be renewed to earth again, yet your soul, that part of which now, today, knows and discerns, will never cease to exist. How extremely important, then is this subject of eternity. What would you give for the happiest moments of your life insured against sorrow during your entire life? It is possible for you to have happiness, greater than you ever experience in life, guaranteed to you eternally. Christ, however, is the underwriter of such a sure policy. You will have to meet His requirements. These conditions are found in His word, the New Testament.

Is a desire for eternal life natural and spiritual? We have hospitals, doctors and nurses still we seek further the ingenuity of man to relieve and prolong life. To pretend to not desire a life with such provisions for relief will not be necessary, if my Father's house are many mansions." Jno. 14:2. Do you want one of these mansions?

Come and study this great book, the Bible, with Sunday Bible classes from 10:11 a. m. Evening 7:45; mid-week service 7:45, Wednesday.

SCHOONER TRAVELS NORTHWEST ROUTE

VANCOUVER, B. C. Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—The first voyage ever completed in a single season through the treacherous northwest passage across the Arctic top of America was triumphantly completed here last night by the little Royal Canadian Mounted Police schooner St. Roch.

The passage was the third successful voyage in history through the route charted by Roald Amundsen. The famous Norwegian explorer laid out the course in a 30-month voyage from 1903 to 1906, sailing from east to west.

In October, 1942, the 80-foot St. Roch completed a west-to-east voyage through the passage in two and a quarter years. It started the return from Halifax, N. S., last July 22 and had expected to winter somewhere in the Herschel bay region.

Good time, however, led the schooner's captain, RCMP Sgt. Henry A. Larsen of Vancouver, to push on in the single year.

The voyage, he said, was a "perfect cruise," and added, "The route through the northwest passage is suitable for summer traffic by wooden vessels. The St. Roch was specially built to penetrate and withstand the pressure of the ice floes which close in on ships in the Arctic oceans."
