

Roosevelt Appeals For Re-election of Wagner at New York

By The Associated Press
In campaign style reminiscent of three previous presidential election years, President Roosevelt toured rain-swept New York City in an open car, and made an appeal at Ebbets field for the re-election of "my old friend, Bob Wagner."

Wagner, author of the labor relations law, seeks re-election to the senate.
As Mr. Roosevelt, seeking a fourth term, made his appearance on the streets of the metropolis in a 50-mile scheduled drive, Thomas E. Dewey, his opponent, returned to Albany, N. Y., from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he made an address on the labor situation last night.

Speaks Tonight
Mr. Roosevelt's visit to New York, which was his first public appearance since the presidential campaign became intensive, will be climaxed with a major address before the Foreign Policy association in the Waldorf Astoria hotel, New York, at 6:30 p. m.

Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent, will speak Sunday, 7:45 to 8 p. m., over KFJL, for the independent voters committee of the Arts and Sciences, on behalf of President Roosevelt.

As Mr. Roosevelt launched a major vote-getting foray which will take him to several other key cities before the election, his republican opponent asserted that the new deal is "playing with the rights of labor for political power and political cash."

Outlook Criticized
Dewey's foreign policy outlook meanwhile was criticized by both Vice President Henry A. Wallace, who is campaigning in the middle west, and Wallace's designated democratic successor, Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri.

"Even today," said Wallace in a speech prepared for broadcast from Omaha, Dewey's "conversion to the cause of international collaboration smacks of deathbed repentance."

"While Governor Dewey frankly proclaims his loyalty to the cause of international cooperation, many of his followers in congress are launching daily torpedoes against Bretton Woods and Dumbarton Oaks," Wallace asserted.

Speaks at Rally
At Butte, Mont., Senator Truman told a democratic rally that Governor Dewey had to be "smoked out" on foreign policy and that "a fellow who has to be smoked out is not one to be trusted."

The republican vice presidential candidate, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, announced in Reno, Nev., that he would make another speech-making swing through the east. In a speech and at a news conference, Bricker challenged what he called new deal claims of restoring the nation to prosperity.

"It is unfair," he contended, "for anyone to take political credit for profits and prices or anything else at the present time."

In Worcester, Mass., Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R., Conn.) said at a political rally last night that "the existence of a Roosevelt foreign policy is largely a political legend, a myth, a fairy tale" and that its only consistent aspect, as "appeasement of soviet Russia."

Victory Revival Churches Announced

The special children's meetings of the victory revival, which will be held at 4:30, Monday through Friday, for two weeks starting next Monday, are to be at only two churches instead of the five announced in an ad which appears elsewhere in this paper.

The first week the grade children will go to Klamath Temple each afternoon and the second week's meetings will be held at the Bible Baptist church.

Detwiler Admits Passing Bad Checks

PORTLAND, Oct. 21 (AP)—A 23-year-old youth who Detective E. H. Clark Jr. said admitted cashing $1200 of worthless payroll checks in Seattle was under arrest here today.

Clark said the man, John E. Detwiler, also admitted assaulting and robbing four persons since his arrival here October 6. Detwiler was held as an escapee from the Indiana State reformatory.

Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent, will speak Sunday, 7:45 to 8 p. m., over KFJL, for the independent voters committee of the Arts and Sciences, on behalf of President Roosevelt.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY SATURDAY MORNING

City fire trucks were called out three times Saturday morning, answering first calls since October 12.

At 6:11 a. m. the truck responded to a call from the James Pisan residence, 1644 E. Main, where fire from a defective flue burned a hole in the roof. Owner of the place is Victor Andreotti.

The second call came in at 10:21 a. m., when a wood truck, dumping a load at 136 S. Eldorado, backed into power wires, tearing them loose and causing a short. No damage was done to the truck.

Firemen were busy making out the second report when neighbors called them to 320 N. Rogers at 11:48 a. m. Fire in the attic of the J. V. Napier residence threatened the structure. Some damage was done before flames were extinguished. There was no one home at the time.

Unions Urged to Fight Against Race Discrimination

PORTLAND, Oct. 21 (AP)—Malcolm Ross, chairman of the president's committee on fair employment practices, called upon labor unions today to combat racial discrimination.

The Washington, D. C., official told a businessmen's group that labor is the group most able to eliminate race prejudice.

Ross reported that 80 per cent of his committee's cases have involved unfair labor practices against negroes, 10 per cent cases involving Jews, and 10 per cent cases of various foreign minorities.

HANDICAPPED CHILD COURSE PLANNED HERE

EUGENE.—The selection of Klamath Falls for a new kind of extension course has been announced by Dr. Henry Stevens, assistant director of the general extension division in the state.

Designed for the general public, the class will be one on the handicapped child, dealing with problems encountered in daily life.

Unusual feature is the group of the most outstanding authorities in their fields west of the Mississippi who will participate in teaching the course, Dr. Stevens advised.

A handicap program on this basis has never been tried before in the state, according to Dr. Stevens. The course will be as non-technical as possible, although 3-hour credit may be earned by those who wish it.

Beginning October 30, the class will meet twice a week, from 7:15 to 9:15 every Monday and Tuesday evening for seven weeks. It will be held in the Klamath Union high school.

Teaching will be the following: V. D. Bain, assistant superintendent of the state department of education and director of handicapped education in the state; Mrs. Ethel Fortner, state supervisor of the visually handicapped; John E. Taylor, state supervisor of the hard of hearing; Dr. Lewis D. Clark, director of crippled children's division, University of Oregon medical school; Dr. Lewis C. Martin, director of child study and special education in the Portland public schools; Kenneth Scott Wood, University of Oregon speech department; Dr. Leon Lassars, state supervisor of speech correction, and Dr. Claude E. Kantner, speech correctionist at the University of Oregon medical school.

Fees for the course are $6 for non-credit and $7.50 for credit.

Mahoney to Visit In Klamath Falls

Plans for the coming visit to Klamath Falls of Willis E. Mahoney, democratic candidate for short term in the U. S. senate, were discussed Friday night at a joint meeting of the Klamath county democratic central committee and Democratic club held at democratic headquarters, 1016 Main.

Mahoney is expected here, Tuesday, Oct. 31.
Several other business matters were brought to the attention of members at the meeting presided over by Mrs. Dora Goddard, vice chairman of the central committee.

Committee Opposes State Civil Service

PORTLAND, Oct. 21 (AP)—A legislative committee appointed to study a proposed civil service system for Oregon turned thumbs down on the plan today.

Rep. Leo Smith, Portland, said the majority opinion held that establishment of civil service at the next legislative session might operate against men now in service, and would deprive state department heads of the privilege of choosing their own employees.

The opinion was written by Sen. J. N. Jones, Juntura; Sen. Lew Wallace, Portland, and Rep. W. W. Chadwick, Salem.

Smith, who with Rep. Earl Hill, Cushman, wrote the minority opinion, asserted that civil service would end appointment of state employees through political or personal preference.

Both opinions will be submitted to Gov. Earl Snell by November 1.

WAR PROJECT FOR BULLY CREEK EYED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Construction of the Bully creek reclamation project on the Malheur river in Oregon as a war project is still regarded by Representative Stockman as a possibility.

Two of the more than 14 projects being readied for post-war development—Modoc unit of the Klamath and the Deschutes—already are under construction as a part of the war food program. Bully creek was next in line but favorable action has been retarded by the question of whether it could be made to produce while war-time food needs are great.

Stockman has insisted in recent conferences with the war food administration that work could be started within two months or less and that the work could be completed in 13 months. It was estimated by the reclamation bureau, when the others were approved, that the Modoc could be completed in 20 months and the Deschutes project within 17 months.

The Bully creek project, to cost $1,217,000 at 1940 prices, would consist of an earth dam and canals. It would irrigate 5000 acres and have the added value of flood control.

Including the three projects mentioned, the reclamation bureau has outlined a $59,681,000 land development program for Oregon. It contemplates irrigation of 266,334 acres of new land, supplemental water for 92,770 acres already under cultivation and development of 8500 kilowatts of firm power.

HOLY BIBLE

SERMONS DIRECT from the BIBLE

Despite the efforts of all infidels of all ages to destroy the Bible, the Bible is today translated and sold in more than 850 different languages and dialects, distributed in every nation under heaven, and enjoys a wider sale than that of any other ten books combined. Every year the sale of the Bible has mounted higher and higher. In 112 years it has enjoyed an average sale of 197 copies per hour night and day, year in and year out in the United States alone.

Such men as Mr. Robert Ingersoll spent their life trying to overthrow the Bible, but when he came to speak at his brother's funeral he gave vent to these powerful words:

"Life is a narrow vale between the cold and the peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud, and the only answer is the echo of a wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of unrepenting dead there comes no word, but in the spite death hope sees a star and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing."

In Mr. Ingersoll's moment of anguish, he tried to over into another and better world, and said, "Yet in the night of death hope sees a star, and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing."

Like the dog, being shipped by express, "chased the tag" which told of his destiny, even so every man in rejecting the Bible when he comes to the sad and gloomy hour of death, longs for direction that gives information where he is going.

Mr. Ingersoll, and his writings are practically useless to this age but long before he was born the Bible here and still stands, pointing to the sinner: "Behold, the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world." Jno. 1:29.

Spotless Robe—Because of his faith, God counted Abraham righteous. God robed him in spotless white and forever, "Abraham believed God and it was counted unto him for righteousness."—BIBLE.

Faith says that God brings forth life out of death, that He raised Christ from the dead and that He will breathe life into your soul, now "dead in trespasses and sins."—BIBLE.

Faith says that God commended His love toward us in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Faith loves the Lord's promise—"I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." Which for you? Sin and death or Christ and life?
