Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

VOTER registration in Klamath county has shown little proportionate change over the last four years. Democratic registrants have represented between 58 and 61 per cent of the total for this period, and now are about 58.7 per cent.

This definitely has not resulted in uniform democratic victories at the general elections. It was particularly noticeable in 1942 that Klamath county went republican in all major office contests, including congressman and United States senator, although the county clerk's records showed a 58.1 per cent democratic registration. This is a factor that gives republicans something to fight for in this county. They should also realize, however, that in recent presidential election years, democrats have done better generally at the polls, and that this is a general election year. That is an encouraging factor for the local democrats, and with both sides thus encouraged, we should have an interestingly warm contest for votes in the forthcoming election. In that election, democrats and republicans will go into the polling booths with identical ballots, voting for candidates as they wish on either or both sides of the party fence.

As the 1942 election proved, most voters are pretty independent-minded. Under the registration system in use in this state, it is found advisable by almost all voters to register in one major party or the other, in order to vote in primary contests. Sometimes there is complaint from party registrants that they do not have opportunity to participate in the primary contests of the opposite party. In the general election, these folks can vote for republicans or democrats, as they please.

Four Year Table

HEREWITH is presented a table that shows party registration in this county, as given by the county clerk's office for publication, at the time of the various elections since November, 1940:

	Demo.	Rep.	Pct. Demo.
November, 1940.....	14,208	9,129	60.9
May, 1942.....	10,747	7,686	58.3
November, 1942.....	10,851	7,840	58.1
May, 1944.....	10,835	7,575	59.1
November, 1944.....	12,021	8,547	58.7

It appears that whatever registration efforts were made by the workers of the two parties this year had about equal results. Since May, republicans have made an 11.6 per cent gain, while democrats have increased 9.9 per cent.

Index County

SOME time ago, mention was made here that Klamath is a good index county on presidential voting.

"We have been told," we said, "that Klamath county has never given a majority vote to a presidential candidate who did not get elected." The Oregon Voter, Portland political weekly, agrees that Klamath is a good index county, but catches us up on that statement that this county always has voted for the winner. This has been true from 1896 to the present. But in 1888, Klamath voted for Grover Cleveland and Harrison was elected; in 1892, it voted for the populist, Weaver, and Cleveland was elected. Otherwise, the record is surprisingly consistent.

FOURTH TERM QUESTION

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., (To the Editor)—I voted for Roosevelt three times. I don't regret the first two times, but the third time was a mistake and a Fourth Term would be tragic for the American people.

We are plunging toward a minority controlled dictatorship so fast that it makes one dizzy. Compare this record with that of Germany during the rise of Hitler. It started in the days when the Nine Old men were held up to ridicule and the attempted packing of the Supreme Court.

It has gone on ever since with Roosevelt gaining control of the courts, so that now there is no appeal to legal justice from Presidential directives or those of his agencies.

It has gone on in the flouting and disregard of the Constitution. It has gone on in the Roosevelt political purges, in the flaying of Congress when it didn't act according to Presidential dictation.

It has gone on in the attempted suppression of the press by ridicule, by banishing the press from important conferences, by withdrawing the mailing privileges from at least one publication.

It has gone on in the attempted control of the soldier vote by the attempted abrogation of the Constitutional rights of the States to make and exercise their own election laws, by the coercive collection of campaign funds and the coercive registration in the Democratic party through PAC, and in at least one state they have even gone so far as to have a one party (Democratic) general election ballot, and taken away the secret ballot by making it necessary to make special application for a Republican ballot. At least this is true as far as the soldier vote goes.

It has gone on in the building up of the "indispensable man" legend, by the suppression or hamstringing of any able men within the Democratic party which has made it impossible for any other man to become a political threat to Roosevelt, as witness Wallace, Nelson, Jeffries, and numerous others.

It has gone on through the rationing program by withholding raw materials from non-conforming industries, withholding gas rations from non-conforming individuals. As far as I know they haven't gone so far as to withhold food rations as they did in Germany, but this is possible under the directives and rules of the present Administration.

It has gone on in the attempt to stir up class hatred, in setting labor against industry, by frequent references to "scab" interests, by trying to dictate policies regarding regional problems such as the Negro problem in the South and the Jap problem in the West.

It has gone on in the attempted control of labor, in which laws enacted for the good of labor has been construed by his agencies in such a manner as to suppress the rights of labor. The over-lapping agencies and the ineffectual Secretary of Labor has created such confusion in the handling of labor problems that Roosevelt has only to exercise his war time powers when ever he deems it politically expedient and labor could become the slave of the State as in Germany. Now they are going to try to pass a National Service Law compelling our youth to give part of their lives to the service of the State, placing them under the complete domination of the Administration for at least a year (they'll make it longer if they think they can get away with it). Witness the German Youth training.

You may not agree with my conclusions, but if you read your papers, your weekly and monthly publications and listen to your radio (and I don't mean political speeches) you will have ample proof of the facts I have stated. It is up to the voters to decide whether we are going to have a government "of the people, and for the people," or whether we are going to have a government of the people, by a dictator, and for a minority.

Sincerely,
Mrs. George E. Lewis.

Janet Roosevelt Fractures Neck

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., Oct. 21 (AP)—Janet Roosevelt, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt, sister-in-law of the president's wife, suffered a neck fracture in a fall at the Baldwin high school gymnasium here Friday afternoon, but is expected to recover.

The girl was taken to Henry Ford hospital, Detroit. Her physician, Dr. Leslie Mitchell, said she probably would suffer no permanent effects from her injury.

Follow students said Janet apparently was attempting to swing from the gymnasium balcony to the floor when she lost her grip on a rope.

The wild pea weed is known as the "devil's shoestring," and rotenone, an insecticide formerly found only in tropical plants, can be extracted from its roots.

Roberts Wills Funds To Schools, Churches

PORTLAND, Oct. 21 (AP)—Numerous requests to Oregon educational and religious institutions were disclosed today with the admittance to probate court of the will of Thomas Roberts, founder of a Portland department store.

Roberts, who died October 13, left the bulk of an estimated $1,250,000 estate to his widow, a nephew, and grand-nephews.

He directed that student loan scholarships be set up in every Oregon county with a $51,000 trust fund. Income from one valuable piece of downtown Portland property was set aside for distribution among five private O. R. G. colleges and churches, including Willamette university.

Income from another lot will go to the Portland and Milwaukie public libraries. Other bequests included $10,000 to the YWCA, $5,000 to the YMCA, and $500 to every employe of Roberts' Brothers department store, plus an additional $100 for every year of service exceeding five years.

CAMP NAMED FOR LATE KLAMATH MAN

By J. HUGH PRUETT

Astronomer, General Extension Division, University of Oregon

Although the August Perseids, because of their dependability and abundance, usually receive more publicity than any other meteoric display of the year, yet there are several other so-called "showers" which are of real interest to enthusiastic star-gazers. For a few nights around October 19, the Orionid meteors, so named because they seem to radiate from the constellation Orion, produce enough firework to cause anyone who is under the open sky for an hour or more to remark that "shooting stars are rather numerous tonight."

While the Perseids at their time of maximum around August 11 will give a single observer 60 or more "shirils" an hour, the Orionids are usually good for only about 20. But some years these meteors really outdo themselves. In 1938 counts reached as high as 40 per hour. In 1936, in the words of the Vassar college observatory director, "on the night of October 19 a remarkable shower was observed between the hours of 12:00 and 4:20." (This evidently referred to the morning of the 20th.) Many reports for that morning showed Orionid counts of above 60 an hour, or as good as the Perseids at their best. Dr. Olivier of the University of Pennsylvania said he believed the Orionids did better than the Perseids that year.

1944 Maximum

The maximum in 1944 will likely appear during the night beginning October 10. Orion will be below the eastern horizon until its rising time around 11 p. m. To observers facing east many meteors will seem to be darting up the sky. They may, however, be seen in any part of the heavens.

The best counts will doubtless be obtained during the morning hours. No promise is made of an unusual display this year. Besides, the maximum might occur a day before or after the date just given. There will luckily
