five of the brand of western hospitality which is offered here.

It is a matter of no small gratification to us that this community had the things the navy could use in furthering the enormous part it plays in the prosecution of history's greatest war. It has been Klamath's duty to offer whatever possible official and unofficial cooperation was needed by the navy locally. That duty will continue until the big job is done.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—Governor Dewey is confident; Mr. Roosevelt is scared. This may not mean much. The president always gets scared just before election.

Two weeks before the vote on the third term he grossly underestimated his own victory. This time he has been frightened into campaign touring and speech making, which are trying to his magnificent endurance.

The touring may be doing him some good, but each word he adds to the debate is proving to be fuel on Dewey's fire. There is not much in the record of the last few years to make sensational democratic vote-getting material, and no grand promises could sound plausible in the confused state of the world. Silence worked his way better than his later public utterance.

Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

TODAY, the nation expresses its pride in its great navy, which is carrying the battle to the enemy on the far-flung fronts of this global war. It is especially fitting that Klamath Falls, with navy connections most unusual for an inland city, should observe Navy Day with interest and enthusiasm.

The three phases of specific navy activity which have been developed extensively here are in the fields of navy aviation, medicine and surgery, and construction. Further, the marine corps, which has one of its finest installations in Klamath Falls, is a part of the navy.

It has been only about a year since the navy came here to take over the municipal airport for a full-fledged naval air station. The excellent flying conditions here and the availability of vast areas for gunnery ranges made this an ideal location for development of an active training program in flying, gunnery and bombing. On the site of the municipal airport the navy has developed a big station, including many facilities which will remain for all time and which unlikely would have been within the realm of local possibilities without the navy's coming here.

But the real thrill comes to us in the fact that our navy aviation program has been completely successful, making a distinct contribution to fleet air in the Pacific. Weather conditions have proved most favorable, living up to all expectations, and the Klamath naval air station has steadily expanded as the navy found it useful. We in Klamath long expressed the wish that our aviation situation could be brought into full play in the war effort. That is what has happened, in a big way, through the navy.

Navy Medicine

LIKEWISE of great importance has been the navy's medical program here.

At the Marine Barracks, the navy bureau of medicine and surgery has one of its most challenging projects, directed by Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, noted authority on tropical diseases. Here is one of the finest of navy dispensaries and laboratories, and the work being done at the Marine Barracks may well make medical history in the field of tropical diseases.

Navy medicine likewise carries on at the naval air station, protecting the health of the fliers, gunners, groundcrewsmen and station personnel at this active base.

Construction

THE development of these installations has called for extensive construction work, which is handled through the navy's bureau of yards and docks.

Under this bureau, the naval air station's added landing facilities, the huge concrete apron, the buildings, sewage plant, water system, heating plant, etc., were constructed. The bureau also directed the construction of the big Marine Barracks plant, which is still expanding.

The navy's expenditures here have run into millions in construction.

Our Duty

KLAMATH people have taken great pride in the unique position this community occupies as a navy town. They have found the navy people interesting, friendly and quickly recep-

Interesting

WOULD not vouch for any story about Mr. R.'s health in campaign time unless it carried affidavits from a disinterested group of physicians who made an examination. The following one, borne around Washington by authoritative tongues, is worth relating only as "interesting, if true":

"I said the president's blood count is not high enough to warrant exertion and his advisors informed him they would not be responsible if he persisted in taking his current restricted campaign tour. His supposed reply is the interesting part of the story, something to the courageous effect that 'if I have to go I would rather go that way than any other.' This is not a health story in the usual partisan sense and did not come from partisan sources."

Genuine Conviction

THE Dewey people are genuine in their conviction that they will get at least 5 per cent more than the polls show as their vote—which would mean a republican landslide. They reason that at least that average number of votes are concealed by fears—CIO men fearing Hillman, businessmen fearing income tax or labor retaliation, sailors fearing the admirals, etc.

Only a count of the secret ballots will disclose this inner balance of electoral power, they figure. Their estimate does not seem to be unreasonable.

DO have definite information that Mr. Roosevelt will have grave trouble with his electors in some of the southern states if the vote count offers any opportunity for them to bolt. If he gets an overwhelming vote, they can not do anything, but if the results are anywhere near close, there will be votes for Senator Byrd cast by some southern electors.

I know one southern state in which two-thirds of the Roosevelt electors today are anti-Roosevelt and awaiting an opportunity to express themselves. This election could become a more serious national melee than the Hayes-Tilden contest if the outcome is close enough to make each electoral vote of consequence.

Confusion Looms

THERE are electors who think they and their areas have been dictatorially shanghaied to support Mr. R., and they are capable of action which would throw the election into the courts, house confusion or the republican column, feeling as they do that they have aggrieved justification for nearly any step.

The extent to which the cheaper grade of politicians deceive themselves and their people in their frantic search for any kind of argument to win an election contest is less noticeable this year than usual—but not entirely absent. Both sides have behaved rather well as a whole.

Worst falsification on either side to date has been the left-wing democratic claim that Dewey was trying to keep the soldiers from voting.

SIDE GLANCES

"She got the idea from all these would-be celebrities floating around—anything to attract attention!"

Klamath's Yesterdays

From the files — 40 years ago and 10 years ago.

From the Klamath Republican October 27, 1904

J. W. Whittaker, working on the Klamath Canal company tunnel, fell about 50 feet down a shaft and was killed.

Klamath county's total voter registration is 937, running about two to one republican. We suggest the remaining democrats get in line and make it unanimous.

From the Klamath News October 27, 1934

D. Ellis Young, Klamath pioneer, died yesterday at the age of 88.

E. W. Vannice, Richard Hovey and Horace Dunlap have been named on the new Klamath county budget board.

Potatoes

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Potatoes: arrivals 140; on track 270. Total shipments 230; supplies moderate, demand slow; for best quality western stock, market about steady; for northern stock, market dull. Idaho Russet Burbanks U. S. No. 1, $3.10-3.20; Washington Russet Burbanks U. S. No. 1, $3.14; Russet Burbanks U. S. WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—The trade in grain futures was dull today and prices were mixed. Wheat was about steady but the feed grains showed a tendency toward weakness. Fractional gains were made at the opening but the market eased back.

Wheat was higher at the start when brokers bought for elevator interests. Colorado red and government support. Resting orders and government support. The market eased back.

At the close wheat was 1/2 to 1/4 higher than yesterday's. December $1.64. Corn was 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower. December $1.12. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower. December 60 1/2. Rye was lower to 1/4 higher. December $1.13 1/2. Barley was off 1 to 2 1/2c. December $1.05 1/2.

Medium hogs $9.50-10.25. Calves for week: 375. Fully steady; choice vealers quoted $14.00, several loads medium to good hogs $10.00-11.00, common $9.00-10.00. Hogs: salable 220. Steady; few packages good to choice 200-240 lb. hogs, rowers and sills $13.75, few good sows $14.00. For week: 2400. Good clearance. Sheep: salable 300. Nominal. For week: receipts 8800. Generally strong to 50 cents higher. Quality vastly improved. Dozen loads good to choice $13.50-14.25.

Large Grazing Program Evid

SALEM, Oct. 27 (AP)—The grazing committee of the state postwar commission, which met here yesterday, said that the federal grazing program after the war would cost $5,000,000 for Oregon alone.

It would permit an increase in cattle on the range from 235,000 to 325,000, and sheep from 425,000 to 600,000.

The committee said the state predatory animal control law is inadequate and should be strengthened at the next legislative session.

Currin's

THE once-a-year special on Tussy "Rich Cream" will start at Currin's tomorrow (Saturday) . . . But don't put off getting in your year's supply of this wonderful night cream, because this year the special is good for only half the length of time of previous years.

The regular $1.75 jar is now $1.00, plus tax . . . And the regular $3.00 jar is now $1.95, plus tax . . . And think what you save in tax, too!

Tussy "Rich Cream" is ideal for dry, weather-beaten skin, you know . . . And its continued use each night on face and throat really bring surprising results.

Currin's is at Ninth and Main Streets.

Shaw Stationery

AND now, once again, you can get personal printed stationery at Shaw Stationery . . . And you'll have it in only a week, or less, in a livery!

The line includes postpaid, various colors, and government stamps, with your name and address printed on the correspondence side. . . . Airmail stationery and regular stationery in several different styles.

There are a number of different kinds of type to choose from. . . . And the cost of the stationery and printing is most economical, when you consider the quality, etc.

Postcards, printed, are 10 per hundred. . . . Government (stamped) postals are $2.25 each for 100 sheets and $2.00 each for the stamp.

The airmail stationery, regular red-white-and-blue mail borders on the envelope is $2.95 for 150 sheets and $2.95 for 100 sheets and 10 envelopes. . . . With your name and address on both sheets and envelopes, as in the airmail stationery. . . . You can get printed sheets, too, of course. . . . And, as I said, delivery in a week or less.

At Shaw Stationery, 721 Main Street.

Studio of Beauty

OTHER day that hair-do's can help a lot in giving the illusion of facial proportions, but that much of the effect will be lost if the mouth and eyes (including eyebrows) are out of balance.

She showed me a drawing of a face with the ideal measurements, and then proceeded to explain how a gal can go about giving the illusion of perfect proportions.

The eyes and mouth are the main points, because they are mobile and alive and attract attention. . . . Do things to them, and you'll be surprised!

The ideal face is divided into three equal parts. . . . From the top of the head to the eyebrows should be one-third of your face. . . . From the eyebrows to the tip of the nose is another third. . . . And from there to the point of the chin is the third third.

There are also various exact proportions concerning width.

If your eyes are too close together, pluck a few hairs from the inside corners of your eyebrows. . . . If your nose is too short and upturned, shape your eyebrows so the inner corners seem to point down toward the end of the nose. . . . For a long nose, be sure the inner eyebrow corners are as nearly level as possible.

In this way, you'll help give the illusion of a perfect one-third.

Fern told me all kinds of things. . . . How to make small eyes appear larger; how to make a narrow face look wider, and vice versa. . . . And so forth.

One of the most interesting bits was about mouths. . . . Because few are perfectly proportioned but they easily can be made to seem perfect by the correct use of lipstick.

The upper and lower lips should be about the same fullness. . . . If the lower one is too narrow, you put lipstick on the upper and then press it down on the lower lip to leave an impression which you can then fill in.

If the upper lip is too narrow, you extend the lipstick-line to make a different shape. . . . But if the lower lip is much too full, and you want to make it appear smaller, you press the made-up upper lip on it and then fill in only where the impression is made.

Fern said that too many gals with small faces are fixing mouths for themselves that are too large. . . . They should keep their mouths in proportion to the size of their faces.

There was so much she explained that I don't have room to write about. . . . But she told me that the operators at the Studio of Beauty know as much about make-up as she does, and so if there are any questions you'd like answered, why don't you run up to the Studio on the mezzanine at Whytal's, and ask them?

Whytal's

ENSATIONALLY different slacks suits were in a shipment that has just arrived at Whytal's. . . . And this store is noted for its "different" slacks.

The ones I want to mention now are of gabardine, and can be worn inside or outside the house. . . . For lounging or for outdoors activities.

They have slightly Chinese overblouses, usually belted, with long, wide-cuff sleeves and hile neckline. . . . And the trousers are beautifully man-tailored.

The colors are: Purple overblouse with grey slacks. . . . Melon overblouse with grey slacks. . . . And aqua overblouse with brown slacks (really gorgeous combinations!) . . . Priced at $19.95.

You really ought to see these and, while you're at it, look at the other unusual slacks outfits at Whytal's. . . . Ninth and Main Streets.

Art & Gift Shop

HAVE you seen the "Golden Fleecce" stuffed dogs at The Art and Gift Shop? . . . Besides being awfully cute, they're wonderfully soft and fluffy (100 per cent wool). . . . And are washable.

They'd make nice Christmas gifts, but, this being October 27, I'd suggest you do your Christmas shopping now. . . . They're $3.95 to $5.95, depending on the size and the shape.

The Art and Gift Shop has a large selection of other stuffed animals. . . . Squirrels, teddy bears, elephants, donkeys, etc., in browns or pastel shades. . . . As low as $1.25 for the small sizes, and on up for the larger ones.

The Art and Gift Shop is at 519 Main Street.

Your Store

CHRISTMAS shoppers, with the big day less than two months away, are going to snap up the Callaway towel sets that just came in to Your Store the other day.

The towels are the heavy quality Turkish type, and the bath towels are the big, popular 24x90-inch size that aren't so easy to find.

Each set contains a bath towel, hand towel and wash cloth. . . . For a total of only $2.29 a set.

Colors are gold, blue, turquoise, green, peach and pink. Your Store will wrap these sets for Christmas gifts. . . . Just as they'll gift-wrap anything you buy there.

And remember Your Store's lay-away plan, too. . . . It's mighty convenient for early Christmas shoppers.

Your Store is at 721 Main Street.

Currin's

IF you are one of the dozens of users of the Powder Base Cream, I ought to be told that a new double size has been introduced. . . . You'll find it at Currin's.

Enthusiasts know that the ounce jar is $1.00, plus tax. Well, the new 2-ounce jar is only $1.60, plus tax.

For the benefit of those who don't know yet about Powder Base Cream, I'll tell you that it is one of those make-up creams that do tint your complexion and be used without powder. . . . Skin has a tendency to dry out.

Currin's for Drugs is at Main Street, on the corner Ninth.

Garcelon's

WHEN I dropped in at Garcelon's yesterday afternoon I asked, "What's new?"

"What's new?" "What's new?" "What's new?"

Of course, I always ask a lot of questions. I got through I'd found out Garcelon's had bought a decorated what-not which arrived at Currin's. . . . So many other things they'd decided to sell, not selves at cost in a hurry move them out in a hurry.

So these attractive painted (in enamel) ware are selling at cost.

There are four sizes, double, and 3-shelf sizes, priced at only $3.95 to $5.95. . . . The single-shelf one is $2.95. . . . They're so beautiful, they're so lovely in breakfast rooms, rumpus rooms, porches, etc. . . . For rooms, too, if you want of color.

Garcelon's is at 401 Street.

RUDE AWAKENING
(Salem Statesman)

If the little Townsend act should pass, some of those voting for it will have a rude awakening. They fail to realize that the words "gross income" include all the money received by a person, partnership or corporation during a given month, and that the three per cent tax is based on the full amount of such incomes, not just the net income after deducting expenses, taxes and contributions.

They will get a jolt when they find out if they sell a farm or a house, a minimum of three per cent of the gross will have to be paid to the state. They will get a jolt again when they find out that if they are beneficiaries under an insurance policy they will have to pay three per cent of their insurance money to the state. The poor who are on direct assistance will get a jolt when they find they will have to pay three per cent of their grant to the state. The working man who is trying to support a large family on an income of $140 a month will get a jolt when he finds he has to pay three per cent of his $140 to the state to help pay $60 to 80 to

It seems to this writer that Dewey's approach to the subject of American foreign policy in the critical years that are to come is by long odds the most intelligent, the most hopeful, the most PROMISING OF SUCCESS in the later history of our country.

Postwar automobile engines will be no smaller physically than those now in use, but will have considerably higher output. These higher outputs will be needed for travel over main inter-sectional and transcontinental roads that will be built after the war and on which high speeds must be maintained.
