AMBASSADOR INCLUDED IN U. S. CLEANUP

envoy, was still in China. Hurley, by most responsible accounts, went to China to try to help step up the war effort and get Chiang together with the communists. The fact that he is still there suggests a belief in the continuing possibility of some success.

The president told reporters there was no connection, evidently meaning no direct connection, between the recall of Stilwell and the resignation of Gaus. He said that Stilwell's return was purely and simply a result of a clash of personalities between the general and Chiang Kai Shek and had nothing to do with strategy or politics.

Good Record
For himself, Mr. Roosevelt said, he thinks that Stilwell has done supremely well; he likes the general personally; he considers that he has an excellent record. The president left no doubt that while he heeded Chiang's request to replace Stilwell he did not thereby intend any reflection on the general.

Mr. Roosevelt did not go into the background of differences between the general and Generalissimo but it is common knowledge among reporters who have served in China and military and diplomatic men there that the two had been at odds since the battle of the Burma road two years ago, that Chiang had ever since favored a more cautious strategy than Stilwell considered desirable.

Different Case
The case of Ambassador Gaus is somewhat different. He and the Chinese leader have never been more than formally friendly. He has wanted to come home for a long time, expressing the wish to a friend here a year ago, when he was back for consultations. His wishes had been well known throughout the present period of disagreements but usual diplomatic sources knew nothing about their being at last acted upon.

President Roosevelt's acceptance of his resignation at this time, therefore, was regarded as a significant move in relation to the entire China problem. The circumstances around it implied that what is being done is at the highest levels of government, under the personal direction of Mr. Roosevelt.

Dispatches from correspondents recently returned from the China-Burma-India theater meanwhile reported deep-rooted Chinese-American differences over U. S. proposals to intensify China's war role.

Show Personnel Given Party

Personnel of the "Shot from the Sky" show were entertained Tuesday night by the Klamath troop entertainment committee which gave a Halloween dance at the Legion hall for the more than a hundred persons connected with the enemy equipment exhibit.

A special program was presented in addition to the dancing and games in the Halloween-decorated hall. A special feature was the celebration of the birthdays of four of the show's personnel.

Today, Wednesday, is the last showing of the exhibit, located at the carnival grounds which were given for the show's use by Angelo Doveri and Frank Ferrari, co-owners of the grounds.

MAHONEY WINDS UP ONE-DAY CAMPAIGN

Willis Mahoney, democratic candidate for the United States senate, wound up a one-day campaign in Klamath Falls Tuesday by appealing to his supporters to keep "their commander-in-chief" in the White House.

Mahoney was honored at a small dinner at the Willard when a group of close friends gathered at 6 o'clock, followed by a 60-car torchlight parade to the armory where the candidate went on the air for a few minutes in a statewide hookup. He spoke during intermission of a public dance which Mahoney supporters had arranged.

Mahoney promised to protect the interest of small sawmill operators on his return to Washington, said that "we must see to it that under our reciprocal trade agreements, Argentine beef will not be dumped on the American market in competition with our American farmers," urged cheap power available to southern Oregon through Bonneville, and completed his talk by reminding Americans that they would not recall Eisenhower, MacArthur, Nimitz or Marshall, then why should they "recall President Roosevelt?"

Japs Ask Chiang To Join 'Kith'

CHUNGKING, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Japanese have battled into the north railway station of Kwelin, key defense center for southeast China, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

Heavy fighting also was in progress in the eastern suburbs of the Kwangsi capital, the Chinese announced, as three enemy columns continued their drive on the city.

advance appeared to be halted temporarily.

Two miles eastward, along the highway, the doughboys broke the back of another Japanese delaying concentration. Associated Press War Correspondent Fred Hampson reported the Japanese raked the roads with heavy and light artillery, mortars and machine guns, exacting a "considerable toll."

Hammer Roadside
The Nipponese withdrew only after Americans had hammered the roadside for hours with artillery and had thrown a flanking column around the enemy.

The second American column, the first cavalry division, was poised at Barugo, a coastal town five miles from Carigara. The Japanese must stop both legs of the American advance or lose their last strategic base northeast of Leyte's man-killing, heavily jungled mountains.

Reinforcement Trail
If they fail to stop the attacks, which might reach the village today, they must drop back along a single escape route skirting the coast to Pinamopan, only spot from which they might negotiate a winding trail over the mountains to the south. This trail has been the route of Japanese reinforcements brought from Cebu via Ormoc bay; and the forces in the north must reverse their travel on the same treacherous road or face annihilation. No good port lies west of Pinamopan on the north coast, and only a trail leads even to the mountainous villages in that mountainous sector.

The two American forces both gained ground yesterday. The 24th division moved northwest of captured Jaro for three miles, slowed there when it met a strong Japanese road block, but gathered force late in the day to whittle down the desperate enemy opposition and resecure its advance.

On the east, first cavalry division units moved westward captured Burigo, less than five miles from the next objective.

Troops Improve Italian Posts

ROME, Nov. 1 (AP)—Eighth army forces have improved their beachhead across the Ronco river south of the Po valley stronghold by Forli and have cleared the Germans from Meldola on the stream's west bank, allied headquarters announced today.

German troops facing the fifth army on the central sector south of Bologna were thrown into a series of heavy counterattacks yesterday in an effort to wipe out several allied salients. American forces, sometimes fighting hand to hand, hurled them all back.

Chick to Command Redmond Air Field

REDMOND, Nov. 1 (AP)—Lt. Col. L. W. Chick, formerly stationed at the Portland army air base, is the new commander of the Redmond army air field. He relieves Maj. R. H. Vincent, who will stay here as executive officer.

Parties Exchange Shots as Campaigns Near Home Stretch

By J. W. DAVIS

Associated Press Staff Writer
The political wheel rolled through bitterness today toward the Tuesday election, Governor Dewey calling President Roosevelt a man of worthless promises and Senator Truman ripping out charges of republican bigotry.

Everything will be much calmer in a few days, but major and minor addresses started off a presidential campaign that started quietly.

Major addresses left are: By Dewey at Boston tonight, 6:30 p. m. PWT over NBC and MBS; at Baltimore tomorrow and New York Saturday night; by President Roosevelt from the White House tomorrow night and Boston Saturday night.

Loud Acclaim
In his Buffalo speech last night, loudly received, Dewey said that his democratic opponent had promised jobs to every American when peacetime comes but "on the record, his promise of jobs is worthless."

Dewey likewise dubbed as proved worthless, by the new deal record, other promises he said the president had made in campaign speeches to the farmers, small business men, would-be home owners and to laboring men who want to shuck off what the republican candidate called "strangling bureaucracy."

He also declared that the new deal attitude is one of sneering at the "old American attitude of 'getting ahead.'"

Un-American Campaign
Truman, democratic nominee for vice president, discussed what he called encouragement by Dewey and his aides of an "un-American campaign directed at Americans at foreign birth." His scene was New York City, where many of the people are of foreign birth or extraction.

"They have refused to repudiate those who seek to fan the flame of racial and religious bigotry," Truman said in a speech sponsored by the liberal party, a group split off from the American labor party.

Vice President Wallace, who lost the nomination to Truman, spoke with him, saying that some are sulking because they don't like "something a reactionary democrat has done." He added, "but I want to say to you that I am out working with all brands of democrats who are in favor of Roosevelt."

Bonneville Surveys Irrigation Projects

THE DALLES, Nov. 1 (AP)—Postwar irrigation projects in this district were surveyed by the engineering department of the Bonneville administration, which completed its preliminary report today.

Two plans are being studied, pumping water from the Columbia river, or drilling wells for pumps to provide irrigation for farms and small orchards.
