

OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

Foulon Gets Wings

Freddie Foulon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Foulon of this city, received wings from the parachute school, Fort Benning, Ga., and has been sent to England where he is stationed with a transport company. He is a member of the KUHHS and active part in the sports program.

Motschenbacher Listed

Technical Sergeant Bernard Motschenbacher, Walnut, has received recognition of his skill as a mechanic in a Mustang squadron here. General orders recently published at this Eighth Fighter Command Mustang base, awarded a special qualification badge to the soldier which he will wear in uniform. The order furnished that he was given a grade of "excellent" in his performance of duty.

Brothers in Service

Three brothers, former Bly boys, are now serving in the armed forces in various parts of the world. Pvt. Selmer Olson has been with the fifth army since the initial assault on North Carolina. He is now somewhere in the front in northern Italy. Pvt. Dale Smith has been with the infantry on the island of Kauai, Hawaii. Before going into the infantry, Smith was with the U. S. paratroops at Benning, Ga. He recently received the expert infantry medal.

is now somewhere in the South Pacific. Leonard and Dale spent a furlough together in San Francisco before receiving overseas orders. All three are well-known in Bly and are sons of Mrs. Muriel Joneschiet of Jackson, Calif., where addresses may be obtained.

Skipper Scharfenstein

WITH A COAST GUARD LCI (L) FLOTILLA SOMEWHERE IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER OF OPERATION (Delayed)—Lieutenant Charles F. Scharfenstein, Jr., USCG, of 1400 Westrose avenue, Klamath Falls, has completed 18 months of continuous service as the skipper of a Coast Guard landing ship for infantry in the European theater of operations.

A veteran of three major invasions — Sicily, Salerno and Normandy — Lt. Scharfenstein was recently named commander of a group of eight ships in this veteran amphibious unit. During the invasion of Sicily his LCI (L) was the second ship of its class to land on the Italian island of Licata.

Jackson in Top Ten

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Pvt. H. Jackson, formerly of Chiloquin, ranked among the 10 top basic deflection marksmen in a class of aerial gunners which recently received graduation diplomas and silver wings at the AAF flexible gunnery school here.

Pvt. Jackson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, Chiloquin, and husband of Mrs. Pearl B. Jackson.

Waits Commissioned

Jack Elwood Waits, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Waits, box 497, this city, was graduated September 13 from the naval air training center, Corpus Christi, Tex., and was commissioned an ensign in the U. S. naval reserve. Jack is a former KUHHS and University of Oregon student. He was one of the survivors of the aircraft carrier Lexington, sunk in the South Pacific in the early months of war.

Loosley, Eller in Jungles

Walking through the jungles on off hours, George B. Loosley and Dick Eller, Klamath men, encountered this native hunting game with a blow gun. The gun propels a rock the size of a hen's egg. The native said, "What you pay take my picture?"

Evidently a price was agreed; he was all set for the shot at his game when to Eller's surprise when he said, "Ready" the native, camera-wise, turned to give the lens the full benefit of his features rather than his prowess as a hunter. George was still interested in the birdie in the tree.

This native boy, who has served as a guide for U. S. invasion troops, is bright, alert, speaks good English, and is a very likeable person. He said if the boys would get him a mouth organ, he would trap them a parrot. Dick and George are sure all they need is a parrot along with their duffel, but they did ask us to send the native some dye—his sister wants to color her grass skirt—and he wants crayons. The dye and crayon are going out in the very gayest box—the one with the bright red Christmas bells—that is furnished by the Pelican Bay Lumber company.

ALCORN ASSIGNED
AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, Eng.—William L. Alcorn of Klamath Falls, Ore., ball turret gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress, has been assigned to the Eighth Air Force Fortress group and now is undergoing an orientation course on flying procedure in the European theater of operations, prior to entering upon combat duty in the air.

Cpl. Alcorn, who thus becomes a member of the third bombardment division, which was cited by the president for its now historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of an important Messerschmitt fighter plane plant at Regensburg, Germany, in August of 1943, is the son of Mrs. Helen E. Hoffman of route 3, Klamath Falls.
