POLITICIANS END SEASON; PEOPLE DECIDE

By J. M. DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer
The flood of argument—Republican and democratic—that orators roar out to America every four years is about over for this time, and tomorrow the people will speak.

For 17 hours, over the various time zones of the country, an estimated 44,000,000 men and women (some guesses run up to 50,000,000) will decide finally whether they want Franklin D. Roosevelt to be president for a fourth term, or whether they want Governor Thomas E. Dewey to take over the job.

The great issue—who is the better man to speed victory and guide the peace? Both the president, who once was governor and the governor who would be president are expected to confine their remaining words largely to appeals for a big vote.

Mr. Roosevelt's last campaign appearance will be a brief address tonight on a program over the four major networks, from 7 to 8 p. m. PWT, under the sponsorship of the democratic national committee.

His schedule today, as customary, called for visits among communities neighboring his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, making talks here and there.

Governor Dewey, after a 15-minute talk over the four networks tonight at 8 p. m., PWT, will go to New York City tomorrow where he and Mrs. Dewey will cast their votes.

Dewey disclosed at Albany that, after his major campaigning was over, he had "almost lost" his voice.

Election eve found the vice presidential candidates back home. Republican Governor John W. Bricker at Columbus, Ohio, and Democratic Senator Harry S. Truman at Independence, Mo.

Spreading praise of their running mates, Bricker and Truman have campaigned farther and harder than the presidential nominees, each leading a varied assortment of workers in the fight to convince the people that the election of his man is essential.

But, as the voters over the country well know, this isn't just a two-man election. There are also 114 candidates for governor, senator and representative, and the winners will figure importantly in peace-making and employment tasks.

The republicans stand their best chance in 12 years of capturing the now closely-divided house, in which all seats are up for voting on this year.

Canby
Many pranks were played on Halloween by goblins, but one prank resulted in both inconvenience and a great deal of unnecessary expense to a number of people. Some thoughtless person drained the anti-freeze from the school bus. An overheated and damaged motor resulted as the driver was unaware of the condition until too late.

and son Jack, have moved back to Canby from Coburg, Ore. Mrs. Annie Pope has been confined to her home with the flu. We are glad to hear she is improving.

Mrs. Grace Myers has returned to her home after a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Billie Sivesind.

About four inches of snow was reported at Loveness logging camp Thursday morning.

A special election will be held Tuesday, November 28, at the school house from 2 until 7, at which election there will be submitted the question of issuing and selling bonds to the amount of $20,000 for the purchase of lots and the erection of a new school building.
