

DEMOS GAIN STRONG HOLD ON CONGRESS

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Democrats strengthened their hold on congress today and swept into defeat Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and Representative Hamilton Fish of New York, bitter Roosevelt critics oft-assailed by administration leaders as "isolationists."

Nye conceded defeat by Democratic Gov. John Moses several hours after a similar acknowledgment by Rep. Fish, one of the most outspoken opponents of the president in the house. Fish fell before Augustus W. Bennett.

Smashing republican predictions that the administration would lose control of both houses of congress, the democrats snatched 21 house seats from the republicans while losing only two. Many races remained undecided.

With 11 senate races still to be decided, democrats counted 51 certain seats compared with 58 they hold now. The republicans tallied up 32, counting holders against a present 37. The senate's lone minor party member was not up for election.

In the house, early afternoon totals showed 211 democrats elected, 119 republicans.

Eleven incumbent democratic senators already had been returned. George of Georgia, Overton of Louisiana, Hill of Alabama, Pepper of Florida, Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky, Thomas of Oklahoma, Tydings of Maryland, Hayden of Arizona, Thomas of Utah, Wagner of New York and Lucas of Illinois.

New democratic senators-elect included J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina, and Brien McMahon of Connecticut, who upset Republican Senator John Danaher.

The republicans unseated a democrat, too—Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa, who fell to that state's governor, Bourke B. Hickenlooper. Other republicans winning senate places were Alben of Vermont, Reed of Kansas, Morse and Cordon of Oregon, Gurney of South Dakota, Millikin of Colorado and Wiley of Wisconsin.

Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut, attractive blonde thorn in the administration's side, slipped through to victory despite a frantic democratic attempt to unseat her.

The seventy-ninth congress thus will keep its date with destiny next January prominently democratic. The president's intimates in the senate can route important international commitments, perhaps even the final peace treaty, through the legislative machinery.

When it comes to getting there, you can depend on inspiration and perspiration to make swell teammates.

Poll Books, Vote Lists Burned

PORTLAND, Nov. 8 (AP)—All the polling books and voters' lists of a Portland precinct were burned up in a furnace today, the county registrar of voters reported.

James W. Gleason said election board members, obliged by law to destroy extra ballots, apparently tangled the voters' lists with the waste paper. The janitor of the school where the precinct was located obligingly disposed of it all in the school furnace.

Duplicates of the lost material are on file in the county clerk's office.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY RE-ELECTS HEADS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 8 (AP)—All Multnomah county officials seeking reelection except Coroner F. Floyd South surged well into the lead today.

Dr. South, on military leave of absence, fell behind his republican opponent, former Coroner Dr. Earl Smith.

Tom H. West, republican incumbent, won the race for county commissioner over democratic and independent opponents. Martin T. Pratt, long-time county sheriff, easily won reelection on the republican ticket.

The voters approved three other incumbents—Francis Lambert, democratic county treasurer; Charles G. North, democratic constable; and Tom C. Watson, democratic county assessor.

Frank L. Shull, long-time county commissioner and republican nominee for county clerk, pulled slightly ahead of Al Brown, democrat in the only closely-contested county race.

In the only city office contest, Commissioner William A. Bowes defeated ex-commissioner J. E. Bennett. On the basis of incomplete returns from nearly all precincts, Portland rejected a bill for a retirement measure for city employes, but approved a tax to finance a new municipal court building and jail.
