Mock Trial Given At BPW Meeting

An amusing mock trial, presented under the direction of Agnes Geddes, program chairman, provided an entertaining evening at the Business and Professional Women's club dinner meeting November 6 at the Willard.

Esther Shepherd was cast in the role of defendant in the trial and was accused of being only a part-time citizen and of failure to vote on election day. Presiding over the court as judge was Isabelle Britaner. Agnes Geddes was the prosecuting attorney. Winnifred Gillen, clerk, and with nesses were Bertha Geiger, Edna Russell, Jennie Crandall and Betty Jones.

The twelve jurors were Marietta Conklin, Jacquelin Newcom, Lelia Robinson, Stella Bowne, Elenora Weatherford, Noita Gwest, Gertrude Tolle, Lucile Tweed, Willie Uhlig, Veneta Hunler, Dena Backes and Edna Haupert, the latter acting as foreman.

Holiday Bazaar Plans Announced

A group of little boys in hobo costumes called at the back door of the Elmer J. Gardner home for a "hand-out" recent-ly, when Mrs. Gardner gave an unusual Halloween party for her son, Joe.

Each "hobo" brought several required articles tied in a red bandana slung over his shoulder on a stick. Chili con carne was "doled" out in tin cans, home-made bread was served in a frying pan, and donuts were passed on a coat hanger.

After playing "Hot-potato-cold-potato" to decide who would build the fire, the little boys sat around on the floor and told tall tales, until a ghost appeared and told their fortunes. Later the group played "Murder in the Basement."

Best dressed hobo was Danny Mahoney, who came in a ragged suit, wearing his father's old shoes, one of which was open at the front, revealing a bandaged toe, and with a pipe in his mouth. Prize for the second best costume went to Joe Towey.

Guests were Tommy Dixon. Plans are being completed for the annual heliday bazaar sponsored by St. Paul's Episcopal church and scheduled for Saturday, November 18, in the parish house.

It will be an old fashioned bazaar, the kind that features everything from a country store to plum puddings, stuffed animals to crib covers and dish towels.
