

Homemaking Highlights

Turkey time... The turkey bird is here again! The Thanksgiving turkey, we mean, perhaps in your case it is a goose or chicken this year. Or maybe roast duck. In any event, Mrs. Winnifred Gillen, Klamath county home demonstration agent, the home-maker who has chosen to look and act as the peak of perfection for the thankful feast. As a means of achieving this end, Mrs. Gillen suggests the use of the USDA booklet titled "Poultry Cookery" which is not only a valuable handbook on the preparation and cookery of nearly every bird, but is an inspiration as well, by way of the photographic illustrations therein.

And now for the final touch... the gravy: pour the drippings out of the roasting pan and let the fat rise to the top of the brown stock. Skim off the fat and set it aside. For each cup of liquid (brown stock and giblet water), measure 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons of flour and place in a roasting pan. With the flour, blend an equal quantity of the fat skimmed off the brown stock. To the smooth mixture, add the cool or lukewarm liquid slowly with constant stirring over a low fire. Cook the gravy until thickened, and if there are any lumps, beat smooth with an egg beater. Season the gravy to taste with salt and pepper, and, if desired, chopped parsley, or any favorite herbs. Serve piping hot.

WOMEN'S GROUPS TO ADD TO NAVY

The Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs plans to add to the Navy Armada during the Sixth War Loan drive. All women's organizations in Klamath county are requested to conduct a drive toward that end, under the leadership of the Klamath Falls Library club.

It is hoped that women's clubs in Klamath will make their usual showing, and that enough money will be derived from the drives to purchase a Superfortress inscribed for the Klamath county women's organizations.

Presidents or secretaries of all women's organizations are asked to contact Mrs. Esther Lawler, secretary of the Sixth War Loan committee, at the chambers of commerce in order that quotas for the different clubs may be assigned.

During the last war loan drive, the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs concentrated on buying equipment for the army, and the Klamath Falls clubs united in buying the "Klamath" bomber.
