SCOUT HEADS, WIVES ATTEND DINNER MEET

A total of 115 scout leaders and their wives met at the Willard hotel for dinner Friday evening, November 17. The dinner was held in honor of the scoutmaster, cubmasters, and skippers of the Klamath Basin Boy Scout group.

Those honored were Heber Radcliffe, troop 1; William Van Cleave, troop 2; Don Anderson, troop 3; Warren Whitlock, troop 5; Bob Chilcote, troop 6; Harold Ashley, troop 8; John Hamilton, troop 15; G. P. Kelton, troop 17; Wesley Cross, troop 18; Crawford Lewis, troop 30; Hugh Bronson, troop 44; C. E. Peterson, troop 50; Claude Davis, cub pack 3; Hans Norland, cub pack 6; Dr. Byron Friedman, Sea Scout ship 100.

Toastmaster for the evening was Vern Owens, Klamath basin district chairman. The program featured music by the rhythm section of the Marine Barracks orchestra, as well as a solo by Alice Wells, accompanied by Barbara Zinn on the piano. A flute solo was also given by Mary Griffiths. An accordion number was also given by three scouts from troop 7 of Merrill—Ronald Trotman, and Mervin and Jimmy Shuck.

roduced and allowed to say a few words for the benefit of the "radio public."

Also included on the program was a weight lifting demonstration by Jack Peebler, Roy Premo, John Williams, and Frank Bechtel.

Concluding the evening on a serious note were a few short talks of appreciation by Mrs. Heber Radcliffe, representative of the scoutmaster's wives, young Robert Hilton of troop 3, and a response by Warren Whitlock, scoutmaster of troop 5.

Lt. Col. G. O. Van Orden emphasized the importance of the scoutmaster's job in his talk from the viewpoint of a former scout. He pointed out that the Boy Scouts were the finest organization that a boy could join, whether he was going to live in a peace-time world, or would be forced to fight for his country.

Other guests, in addition to Lt. Col. Van Orden, were Mrs. Van Orden, and Mrs. K. G. Klahn.

THIRD ARMY ENTERS METZ, ATTACKS SAAR

gains today in the arc east of Aachen, and the first army also slugged forward against strongly-entrenched Germans.

The Germans were throwing tanks and troops into attempts, reckless of cost, to stem the American advance, fighting for every inch of ground. The greatest advance by the first army in three days of fighting has been only four kilometers (2 and a half miles) a front dispatch said, but there are indications the Germans have been badly shaken by terrific artillery and air bombardment, and have suffered heavy losses.

Berlin pictured the assault in the Aachen sector as lengthening. The American wedge has been thrust now to within 25 miles of the Rhine.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's rampant third army sent mechanized cavalry patrols over the German border near Perl, inside the German border near the junction of the Luxembourg and French frontiers, and about five miles northeast of the Saar itself.

Infantry crossed the Moselle bridge into Metz from the north during the night, while other patrols from the south also penetrated the city, where the Germans have been preparing a stiff defense in the streets and the thick stone walls of the houses.

northeast of Budapest and terminal of a main line running north into Slovakia. Hatvan is under attack from three sides.

Polish troops of the British eighth army in Italy captured Monte Fortino, five miles south of Faenza on the Bologna-Rimini road, in a 1000-yard advance against bitter resistance. Two Nazi counterattacks were thrown back.

Allied informants said the Germans were erecting mysterious structures in central Norway's mountains, possibly as bases for secret weapons.

Japs Cooperate In Defeat of Own Fleet In Surigao Straits

was one important difference. All the American battleships—the Tennessee, the West Virginia, the Maryland, the Mississippi, the California and the old fleet flagship, the Pennsylvania—were in firing position. Only the two Japanese battleships—none of the supporting cruisers and destroyers—were within range. They were bottled up in the straits behind each other—and the Americans were the cross of the T famous in naval strategy during the whole age of steam.

Thus almost all of the American guns could fire—many of them firing for the first time in their long history against enemy naval vessels.

Murder, He Says "It was murder in the first degree," said Comdr. S. P. Smith, Washington, D. C., who was the Tennessee's executive officer.

POWER FUTURE HERE SET FOR DISCUSSIONS

ply problem was discussed at some length at a meeting of the city planning commission and the post-war planning committee of the chamber of commerce. E. P. Ivory, local lumberman who has made considerable study of the question, spoke to the groups and joined in the discussion.

Ivory pointed out that seven mills have closed down in this area in recent years and suggested that every possible local effort be made to stop the reduction of cutting capacity at this point. This brought up the matter of timber supply for mills, it being pointed out that it would be sound policy to stabilize cutting capacity at a point where a steady supply of timber could be available.

Forest Allocations

This brought up the question of forest service allocations of timber for cutting in this area. Three national forests have timber in Klamath county but none of them have their head offices here. An effort will be made to learn more of forest service plans as regards timber harvest in this section.

The advisability of cutting the timber resource rapidly, or conserving it for a long period, was discussed at the meeting. Development of re-manufacturing needed for that would increase the man hours of labor from forest products was discussed as an important phase of the solution of the community's industrial problems.

The interest of national and state legislative delegations in connection with government angles on local problems will be enlisted, and discussions with private agencies and companies active or potentially active here are planned.

A Job For Women Who'd Like To Do Men's Work

This job is about exactly the opposite of what women so often do in business. That's why it's interesting—and why women seem to like it. The work: helping mechanics, etc., in the S. P. shops . . . handling tools, cleaning up . . . housekeeping, you might say, with locomotives in the front parlor. You won't look exactly glamorous in overalls and turban, and maybe you'll get smudged up a bit . . . but we think you'll like it . . . like working with other men and women whose hearts are in their jobs and whose jobs are vital. You'll be a railroad—and proud of it. (Learn railroad lingo too, you'll find.) The work is definitely NOT HEAVY. No heavy lifting. We need you urgently. Won't you come in and talk it over?

See or write Trainmaster, S. P. Station, Klamath Falls, or nearest S. P. Agent.

EDITORIALS ON NEWS

much effort and materials into foundations.

THESE what-is-its in Cherbourg were taken by us before they could be used. Maybe they're being reproduced in Norway.

OUR thoughts recur instantly to the V-weapons (robots and their successors.) The robots are persistently pooh-poohed in most of the news reports, but we can't laugh off the damage done to London by the buzz-bombs.

It's quite possible that the robot menace is one of the reasons for our mighty thrust at Germany's western gates here at the beginning of winter.

THE Jap radio at Manila is exhorting the little yellow men at Ormoc to death-defying efforts, and says the FATE OF THE EMPIRE hangs on the battle there.

Meanwhile interesting hints come from Washington. An official navy report, just out, says that while our victory over the Japs in the naval battles of the Philippines may turn out to be one of the DECISIVE battles of modern times, it DIDN'T break up the Jap communications with Leyte, where they are still landing reinforcements and supplies—largely from nearby islands.

There are suggestions that we may have to make a landing on Luzon.

MEANWHILE the Japs move inward into China, strengthening the suspicion that complete conquest of the Chinese before we can get there to help may be their present major objective. They're grandiose little devils, and they may have in mind to set up a new empire on the Asiatic continent in lieu of the island empire they are certain to lose sooner or later.

THIS question is an interesting one: How realistic, all-for-Russia Stalin look upon such a continental empire as the EASTERN BORDERS? Maybe that's why he's talking suddenly about JAP AGGRESSION.
