Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY
In the rush of compiling election returns immediately after the polls close, the votes are lumped on a county basis, and no effort is made to differentiate between city and country voting. Several readers have asked this columnist how the city of Klamath Falls went on the recent presidential election, and today we have prepared a little table showing that vote in the city precincts, as compared with outside precincts.

	Roosevelt	Dewey
Klamath Falls	3223	3144
Outside	3439	2825
	6661	5969

City and Rural Vote

It will be seen from the table that Mr. Roosevelt's margin was much less in Klamath Falls than outside. This is an interesting fact, in view of the general trend which showed that it was actually the vote in the nation's cities that returned Mr. Roosevelt to office.

However, it was in the BIG CITIES, with a heavy concentration of industrial population,

Market Quotations

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Leading stocks continued to shift cautiously over a slightly uneven terrain in today's final market of the week.

Assorted spots of strength persisted from the opening on but numerous pivots displayed a decided reluctance to get out in front and leaders were plentiful near the close.

Loew's added about 2 points to its recent substantial upturn and was at a peak for 1944, along with Pittsburgh coal preferred.

Ahead at intervals were Paramount Pictures, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Standard Oil (N.J.), Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, and Consolidated Edison.

Backward most of the day were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical.

Rail bonds were selectively improved.

that the president really rolled up the heavy leads that put him over. Klamath Falls doesn't belong in that class. There is the further factor here that much of our industrial population lives in the suburban areas. Mr. Roosevelt's outside lead was increased by the heavy voting for him in such suburban precincts as East, West and North Siesta, Lenox, North and South Enterprise, and Pelican Bay. But the precincts which went strongest of all for him were Gilchrist and Shevlin, mill and logging communities in the far northern part of the county.

The industrial population vote is in evidence in all of the above mentioned precincts.

Followed General Trend

ANALYZING the precinct vote in Klamath county on the basis of the general type of population of each precinct, it appears that this county voted right along with the general trend. Strictly farm precincts went strongly for Dewey (Mt. Laki, Langell Valley, and Pine Grove, for example) while strictly industrial population precincts went for Roosevelt.

Small business joined with the farmers in supporting Dewey, as will be seen from the comparative strength displayed by Dewey in the Klamath Falls voting.

How the State Went

GOVERNOR DEWEY went into Multnomah county election night with a lead of about 4000 from the rest of the state, but lost out in Multnomah county, where exists the biggest concentration of industrial population of the state. Multnomah county industrial precincts were slow in counting, and that was the reason the Roosevelt lead in the state as a whole did not show until late in the compilation.

Dewey received his heaviest county votes in Oregon in the western Oregon counties from Jackson north to Washington. Thus it appears that Oregon, likewise, followed the general trend.

Former Governor C. A. Sprague, in his Oregon Statesman column, makes some interesting deductions as to why the farm vote has deserted Roosevelt, as is demonstrated in the balloting here, in Oregon's farm counties, and in the midwest farm states. He sees as a major reason a fear by farm people of urban domination, and their dislike for labor unions and city political machines.

The republican party's gains against Roosevelt since 1936 have been accomplished by winning over small business and the farmers. It is clear where it must now make further gains to achieve a full return to power.

THANKSGIVING

By F. Elsworth Pellett
Mr. Farmer, your soil and fields you've filled
Until your larder now is filled,
With grateful hearts our thanks we give
To you, Mr. Farmer, that all may live.
You have toiled through heat and burning sun,
And now your reward has just begun.

You have furnished the food your country needs,
Please accept our thanks for your noble deeds.
We wish you to know that our hearts are glad,
Thanks, Mr. Farmer, for all we've had.
We have no fears of want or need
When you so nobly plant the seed.

You harvest your acres 'mid sun and rain,
That none may go hungry or need in vain.
You plow the ground, you plant and sow,
You have the faith your seed will grow.
Your days are long yet, you're toiling on
From early morn 'till set of sun.

What better time our thanks to send
To you, Mr. Farmer, and those who lend
Their time and strength to aid you, too,
'Till harvest is over and you are through.
Your country needs the food you grow
That it may prosper, too, you know.

Content with your lot you wait for spring,
And prepare for the harvest next summer will bring.
So now once again our thanks we will send,
For on you, Mr. Farmer, the world must depend.

ABOUT GIFTS

MALIN, Ore., (To the Editor)
In my letter the other day in regard the American Legion-American Legion auxiliary-Eddie Canton Christmas gift presentation program I have omitted one of the most important paragraphs:

"These gift boxes may be made up of items you would ordinarily send your own boy or girl, such as cookies, fruit-cakes, candy, cigarettes, toilet articles, handkerchiefs, leather goods, books, hand mirrors, playing cards, games, etc. Each package should be marked whether intended for a man or woman. Cash donations are not wanted. These boxes should be ready before December 10."

I am genuinely sorry of this oversight and trust the editor will make this necessary correction.

Yours truly,
F. J. ELZNER,
Commander American Legion Post No. 84,
Malin, Oregon.

TOASTMASTERS HOLD 'HECKLER'S NIGHT'

Twenty members were present at the Toastmasters regular weekly meeting Wednesday, talking part in "Heckler's night." This type of instruction in public speaking is highly profitable in that it trains the speaker to control an audience even though being interrupted. The speakers of the evening were: Floyd Clark, Ed Hickman and H. B. Stoier. Frank Smith acted as toastmaster.

Puzzle Cleared For Little Lady

Something a little old lady had been wondering about for a long time was cleared up recently by a Southern Pacific advertisement explaining what the train signals mean.

The sweet-voiced lady called W. C. Hughes, S. P. trainmaster, the day after the ad appeared in the paper and hesitatingly explained that she didn't want to bother him but did want to tell him how much it meant to her to know finally what the whistles were saying. "I listened to them in the night," she said, "and now it's just as though they were talking to me."

Visitor—Mrs. M. Murray of Delevor, Calif., is spending the weekend in Klamath Falls as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. LaLiberte, High street.

City Briefs

Red Cross Vacation—The Red Cross work-room will be closed for a Thanksgiving vacation the latter part of next week. It will be open this next Monday and Monday night, and regular hours will be resumed the following Monday. The room is usually open Mondays from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Wednesdays and Fridays from 12 noon to 4 p. m., and on Monday and Thursday nights from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. Workers are reminded that the room opens the Monday after Thanksgiving, and it is hoped that they will make up then for the lost during their Wednesday, Thursday and Friday vacation.

Potluck Dinner—Following the regular church service in the Congregational Community church, Sunday, November 19, there will be a potluck dinner in the social hall. This will give members and friends of the church an opportunity to become acquainted with Rev. and Mrs. Harry L. Slick, Spokane, Rev. Slick is considering a call to become pastor of this church, and will preach at the regular Sunday morning service at 11 a. m.

Visits—Mrs. Earl Poston arrived Thursday from her home in Baldwin, Calif., to visit her sister, Mrs. Irene Watkins, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Sample. Mrs. Sample is in the Klamath Valley hospital but is now at home. Mrs. Poston will remain for a week or two.

Leaving Klamath—Mr. and Mrs. Leland Conroy of St. Francis park, 4510 Boardman, are leaving December 1, for Lakeview where Conroy has taken over the distributing agency for Signal Oil company and the Signal station. Conroy has been with the Klamath Falls postoffice for the past 14 years.

Parents—S 2/c George McDonald is here from Farragut, Ida., until November 25, to visit his wife and the 1 1/2 new son, James Arthur, born November 13, at Klamath Valley hospital. This is the McDonald's second child. They have a small daughter, Karen.

To Ashland—Mrs. Coral Sabo of Klamath Falls was called to Ashland Friday by a notification of an injury her mother sustained in a fall.

HOLY BIBLE

Church Member Explains to God

You see, God, it's like this: We would attend church more faithfully if your day came at any other time. You have chosen a day that comes at the end of a hard week (of course I get Saturday afternoons off) when we are all tired out. Not only that, it's the day following Saturday night. Saturday evening is the one time when we feel that we should enjoy ourselves, so we go to the movie or a party and it is often after midnight when we reach home. So it is almost impossible to get up on Sunday morning. You have chosen the very day when we want to sleep later in fact, the children are often late to Sunday school because it is inconvenient for us to get up and get them ready to go. It is usually after ten o'clock when the dishes are done, and then it is time to think about Sunday dinner, not to mention the Sunday paper. I mean no disrespect to you, and do not claim my judgment equal to yours, but you must realize that you have chosen the very day on which the morning paper takes the longest time to read thoroughly, and also the day on which we have the biggest dinner.

Then, too, we must think of John. Besides having picked the time when dinner must be prepared, John is cooped up in the office all week and Sunday morning is the best and only time he has toinker with the car. The whole week offers no time so good to wash and clean the car and do the odd jobs around the place as Sunday morning during church time. When John gets into his old clothes and gets his hands all greasy you cannot reasonably expect him to even think about getting dressed for church. If you did not want him toinker with the car you should not have permitted him to get one.

Then, too, we must go visit our folks: there has been no time during the week, you see, I am telling you all these things because I want you to see our point of view and that it is not our fault that we are not able to get to church on Sunday morning and, of course you know we cannot get to church Sunday night and be at our bridge party or revel in some spicy sex-obsession at the theatre.

Really, God, we would like to go, and we know we ought to go, but it must be clear to you now that the real reason we cannot go is because you have chosen the wrong day. If you will select any other day but Sunday, while we cannot promise definitely, you know I never make promises unless I'm positive that I can keep them, we shall be glad to give further consideration.

Self-excusingly yours,
THE MAJORITY,
