

HOSTESS HOUSE POPULAR AT BASE

are typical of thousands of new-lyweds who have married in wartime. While Jimmy was overseas, (he joined the marine corps in February of 1942), Marjorie finished high school, went to Grinnell college in Iowa for one year, then worked in Des Moines, not far from her home town, first for an insurance company and then in the office of Solar Aircraft. All this time she was tucking things away for her home, waiting for the time when Jimmy Draman would complete his service in the South Pacific.

Farm Homes
Jimmy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Draman now living at Adel, near Stuart, and Marjorie's folks still live in Stuart. They are Mr. and Mrs. Clifton C. Ellis. Both the Draman and Ellis families are farmers.

Jimmy and Marjorie drove to Klamath Falls, arriving here just a few days ago. Jimmy reported to the Marine Barracks and Marjorie found a welcome at Hostess House. Marjorie busied herself during the day keeping her room neat, reading, writing letters and in between times looking for a place to live.

Unique Installation
Hostess House in itself is a unique installation. Mrs. Jackman has been on duty there as house mother since the opening, September 1. For the first two weeks Hostess House had little "company," but from then on it has been a busy, busy place. Guests have registered from Massachusetts, Kentucky, Texas, Wisconsin, Utah, in fact almost every state in the union, parents coming to see their sons, wives to visit husbands, and sweethearts to visit—sure, their sweethearts.

"Mom" checked on the registry and found 227 guests' names. They're expecting a full house Thanksgiving week.

Focal Point
Hostess House has a huge central room with a great stone fireplace as the focal point. There is an arrangement of sofas and coffee tables on three sides of the fireplace. Elsewhere in the homey room there is a grand piano, card tables and writing tables. In one corner a stack of books was being catalogued. Off to the left of the main room is a wing of guest rooms with showers and lavatories.

Another wing houses the remainder of the 22 bedrooms. Guests pay $1 for each night. Each room contains twin beds, a chest of drawers, and the day we visited Hostess House, target cloth curtains, hand hemstitched, were being put up. The curtains were made by the domestic art students at Klamath Union high school.

Pay Day Steaks
To the right of the main room is the snack bar and off of that, the dining room. Pay days, each 5th and 20th, are big days at Hostess House and the demand for steaks is terrific.
A rough estimate places some 600 men stopping at the snack bar daily, and an average of 100 are served at breakfast, between 100 and 140 at lunch, and 125 to 140 at dinner. Prices are slightly lower than those found in town, and the food is excellent. Each day there is a "special" which thus far has been very popular, but for all-around demand, steak is the thing.

Service Attractive
Table service in the dining room is very attractive. Plates, cups and saucers are bone white with a navy blue band and a navy anchor. Probably one of the greatest attractions, as far as eating in the dining room goes, is the snow white cloth on each of the small tables.

Enlisted Men Hold Forth At Hostess House

Hostess House is open to all enlisted men on the post. It is staffed by 26 marines who do everything from cleaning out the fireplace, hanging the curtains, running the snack bar and preparing the food.

Ball-Playing Buyer
Mess sergeant at Hostess House is T/Sgt. Tom McClure of Colfax, Wash., whose right arm was broken in the Marine-Willamette game September 30. Despite the fact that McClure has spent a great deal of time in sick bay getting the arm patched up, he has continued on with his duties as buyer, in charge of the galley, dining room and snack bar. Sgt. Norman Burlington of Fond du Lac, Wis., is in charge of the upkeep of the building and sees to hiring the help.

The grand piano in the corner sees a lot of big business going on. Corp. Charles Casebeer of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was pounding out a little number assisted by a trio who did incidental stuff such as plinking in the treble.

Need Magazines
Purpose of Hostess House is to make a home on the base for boys away from home. They need magazines out there, in case you're interested in the place. And they could do with other gifts, too, such as cards, checkers, books, games, music. It's a nice room to come into from the outside especially these days with snow covering the Marine Barracks. Nice to toast your toes in front of a blazing log fireplace. "Mom" has done a good job.

Canada's policy for divorcing air and surface transport companies after the end of the war is likely to interest transportation men in this country, since the same problems that confront U. S.

SEATTLE SKIPPER WASHED OVERBOARD

ABERDEEN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Paul Luketa, 26, of Seattle, master of the 70-foot beam troller Sunbeam, was washed overboard and drowned when the boat was swept by a breaker on the Grays Harbor bar while out-bound early yesterday afternoon, according to a coast guard report to Coroner E. B. Riley. Part of the superstructure was washed away, it was reported, and three members of the crew were slightly injured. The motor lifeboat Invincible, Grays Harbor crash boat, another motor lifeboat and a coast guard craft went out to attempt a rescue. A pharmacist mate from the Grays Harbor lifeboat station went aboard the Sunbeam and administered first aid to Frank Luketa, brother of the lost man, Lloyd Glover and Enok Kolnes, all of whom sustained minor injuries.

Legality of Future TVA's Subject of Amendment to Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—An amendment designed to assure legality of future projects such as the Tennessee Valley authority was added to the $1,000,000,000 flood control bill today by the senate. The change was approved quickly after the chamber debated it for two hours yesterday with Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.), contending the measure closed the door to creation of new river development authorities.

Altamont Gridders Down Henley, 20-7

Altamont junior high proved to be too much for the Henley Hornets in their grid battle Tuesday afternoon at Altamont and came out on the long end of a 20-7 count. The game was well played all the way through and saw Henley jump into a 7-6 lead at the half. Altamont came fighting back to score in the third and final periods for its margin of victory. There will be no county championship team this year, due to the light schedule played and the forced cancellation of some games because of the potato harvest.

SALEM, Nov. 22 (AP)—The state unemployment compensation commission reported today that its reserve fund now totals $61,000,000, compared with only $16,000,000 when the United States went to war. The commission said the legislature must determine whether the fund is large enough to deal with unemployment which might follow the war.

The station is to operate on 1450 kilocycles, with 250 watts power, day and night. Authorization is subject to war production board priorities.

The radio permit granted the Herald Publishing company is preliminary, and will not be final until after the customary 30-day objection period.

Handy with tools? This job may be up your alley

This is a good job. And a bit unusual in many ways because it's got just a bit more excitement and real man's "stuff" to it than most jobs. The work: Helper in Southern Pacific's big R.R. shops or roundhouses... working with skilled craftsmen on locomotives, rolling stock, other R.R. equipment. You don't need to be experienced — just willing. If you wish, you can learn railroading on the ground floor... learn a fine craft from men who know their business. You'll be part of a fine outfit... a company whose biggest job still lies ahead: carrying the war load for the huge Pacific offensive. Regular railroad wages. Fine pension plan. R.R. pass privileges. Medical services. Investigate today. See or write Trainmaster, S. P. Station, Klamath Falls, or nearest S. P. Agent.

ESCAPED CONVICTS TAKEN BY POLICE

EUGENE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Martin C. (Mark) Broom was in a Eugene hospital Wednesday after being shot while resisting arrest by state police officers on Hatchery creek near Leaburg, about 20 miles east of here. Broom, who was captured approximately 100 yards from the place where his partner in a recent escape from the Oregon state prison was seized yesterday, had a rifle trained on a member of the sheriff's posse when they surrounded him late this morning. He was shot in the right arm before he could be taken.

Broom, who with Cornelius Price Long, escaped the Oregon state prison November 11 after overpowering guards and seizing a station wagon, was serving life on charges of statutory rape and being an habitual criminal. Long was serving 20 years for assault with attempt to commit rape. Long and Broom were discovered in the McKenzie area, which they frequented with their illicit still during the prohibition era. Officer Clair Williams was making a routine check when he flushed the pair from their camp in the brush. He captured Long, but Broom got away. State police then intensified their search of the area, and captured Broom late this morning. The two are expected to be returned to Salem this afternoon after Broom's hand has been treated.

Dudley Vain says that he, Corp. Robert J. Fain, 24, along the Leno road in Eugene probably has heard about cigarette shortage back here. One of the souvenirs he died on has just sent him an Indian water pipe.
