Can You Match This Sacrifice?

TWENTY-EIGHT months in the Pacific war zone is an awfully long time, but to most of the American youth who have done it, the sacrifice seems very much worth while.

PFC Ralph Wolfe who is now at the Marine Barracks here was on Guam not too many months ago when the Japanese started an attack, a drunken fanatical charge, on their positions during the night.

Mortar fire found its mark on three different counts and the machine gun that he was manning was knocked out on each of them.

Finally when dawn came, Wolfe's gun and two others could claim 462 dead Nips. It was a good score, but somehow there wasn't too much rejoicing. A lot of those plucky Leathernecks were dead.

Our country is still very much at war—Are YOU???

Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

IN the course of discussion of power questions here the last week, the city council of Klamath Falls and the Klamath county court adopted resolutions favoring bringing Bonneville power into this region.

Before taking action, neither the council nor the court called for a general public hearing on the question, and neither asked for or received representations on the matter from the private utility now operating in this area.

The reason for what may appear to some to be rather hasty action was that Bonneville representatives urged an immediate showing of public interest here in order to support a proposed Bonneville budget item to provide for construction of the big transmission line from the Columbia river into the Klamath country.

EPLEY

There is a great deal that all of us will want to know about this whole subject before making up our minds. At least one organization, the Klamath chamber of commerce, has an able citizens committee that is seeking all available information upon the whole question.

From our experience in attending one of the discussion meetings held this week, we can see that there is need for hearing all sides, for tolerance of each other's views, and for making our final decision on the basis of what is best, from a broad business standpoint, for our community and its surrounding area.

Line Legislation

BEFORE congress at this time is a flood control bill which contains a provision which would prohibit the government's constructing transmission lines, from power projects authorized in the bill, unless 90 per cent of the power has not been purchased after a three-year period.

We believe the best policy for a community such as ours, regardless of any particular project, is to oppose federal legislation of this sort.

If these big dams are to be built with public money, it would seem that the way to make them widely beneficial over a general region is to permit government transmission lines from them, to carry power for local distribution through either private utilities or publicly-owned systems.

Bible-Reading Project

IN THE period from Thanksgiving to Christmas, a nationwide effort is being made to stimulate reading of the Bible. These, indeed, are times when the teachings of the Book need our earnest thought, and this column is happy to cooperate in the effort along lines suggested to us by local ministers.

For the period in question, we will print daily selected verses, with the suggestion that our readers, after perusing these, seek out the Biblical character and read it all.

We begin today with these selected passages from John XIV, quoting Jesus in conversation with his disciples:

"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.
'In my father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.
'And if I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.
'... I am the way, the truth and the life. . . . Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that believeth in me, the works that I do shall he do also, and greater works than these shall he do. . . .
'Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you. . . . Let not your heart be troubled. . . . Neither let it be afraid."

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — These stories you hear again now of a quick end of the war seem to be about to create another wave of optimism. They are rooted more in hopes than in facts.

Actually strong resistance has been met by our initial power drives at the German line. The military men consider it theoretically possible that everything will break right for us for once and our current drives may go rolling on faster as the hopeful say, but they do not expect it. Tougher ground certainly lies ahead of General Patton, and perhaps all along the front.

What the sound judges here want to see before changing their mind about it taking all winter is some evidence of Nazi defensive weakness. If you see that you will know the end is near.

The Philippines campaign certainly will not be over soon in any event. General MacArthur's job ahead means months. Not only the hurricane weather is favoring the Japs, but also the terrain beyond Leyte, upon the main island of Luzon.

The Jap drive in China luckily is limited. All advances here prove rather conclusively that the Jap strategy is directed only toward cutting central China off from Burma—if it can be done. But even if this mission is accomplished, they will then have long lines of communications running back to the coast and exposed to the Chinese on both sides, the north and the south.

Chiang Not Equipped

SUCH extensions are really invitations for the special type of fighting the Chinese do best. Chiang is not sufficiently equipped for battle, indeed could not protect five or six of our valuable airfields which have now been lost to the enemy.

That the Jap armies may attempt to go on to Chungking is hardly likely. Their game is to make themselves strong along the coast for the days ahead when we have a chance to get at them. An end of the war in China anytime soon is hardly to be expected, but possibly the opposite—a new guerilla-type campaign by the Chinese.

Certainly no inner preparations are being made here within the government for an early conclusion anywhere. Senate appropriations committee Acting Chairman McKellar had been trying to get up some estimates of how war costs could be cut at the end in Germany. He gave it up, saying nothing could be figured now, except going straight ahead.

It will be necessary therefore, for everyone to strain a little harder at the tasks in hand and not risk disappointment in easy optimism.

Investigation Suppression

ONE effect of the democratic victory will be suppression of congressional investigations. The fact that the people voted democratic despite all the regulations and red tape has removed the popular impetus for congressional policing of the government bureaus.

This is an unfortunate thing as such policing sponsors efficient administration. A bureau subject to congressional inquiry is hardly likely to run far away with itself.

Along with the Dies committee will go the Smith investigation of the war labor board. The senate has a judiciary sub-committee looking into that subject, but nothing can be expected of it. The Mead war investigating committee will continue under administration auspices.

But also dying is the house radio hearings. With Chairman Fly out, the committee will decide to close.

Of course, with Paul Porter, democratic publicity man in as radio (communications) chairman, and the labor boss Petrillo holding the disc-making activities of NBC and Columbia well in hand, you can see how radically the situation has been altered.

If the republicans had won they would have sponsored investigations into surplus power, enlarged the Smith committee, and maintained the congressional policing system.

Home Front Problem

KLAMATH FALLS — (To the Editor)—Now that the election is behind us, will you kindly allow me space in which to discuss a home front problem, not connected with any party—I hope?

We have an apartment building on corner of Main and Broad streets separated by one building from the Armory, which is located at east end of same block.

Public dances are regularly maintained at the Armory on Wednesday and Saturday nights of each week, occasionally of tenor, and from the beginning of dances until they end at one a. m. and sometimes for an additional one to two hours, this corner is a veritable bedlam of noise.

These same offenders hide their liquor in the rear of our buildings and take their girls and other friends back there to drink and carouse. They have been called on a few occasions to stop fights.

The service men who are not guilty of these offenses need not be offended by these accounts as I know lots of service men who conduct themselves as gentlemen should.

These dances are supposed to be great morale boosters for the men. Fine—but it is a peculiar brand of morale that is disgraced by these dances. If they are supposed to be attending a dance, why are they allowed to overrun the neighborhood. Some service men may be able to do without sleep, but I can assure you that most working people still have the habit; in fact a little morale

UNCLAIMED PROMISES

Success in life is not gained without effort and perseverance, and surely this is doubly true of the Christian life. Jesus said, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." (Matt. 7:7-8)

Gordon Peate Hurt In South Pacific Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peate of Lakeview regret to learn that their young son Gordon, 18, serving with the U. S. navy as gunners mate on a transport, has been wounded in both legs and feet and is now in a hospital in New Guinea. Word was received by the Peates from the war department this week. Gordon is a nephew of Dr. Leslie W. Peate of this city, and enlisted in the navy shortly after graduating from Lakeview high school. His father is postmaster at Lakeview. The Peates' other son, 1st Lt.

Richard Peate, is convalescing in a hospital in England following serious injuries received in France when Dick was with Gen. Patton's army early this fall. If it's a "frozen" article you need, advertise for a used one in the classified.
