

Friends Witness Citation Ceremony

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Raffetto, and of their son, First Lieutenant John A. Raffetto Jr., gathered at their home on Portland street last Sunday afternoon. The occasion was the presentation of the Bronze Star, for the heroic achievement performed in the line of duty by Lieutenant Raffetto, who is now a prisoner of war in Germany.

Captain O. M. Smith, commanding officer at the Medford army air base, read the citation and made the award to Mr. and Mrs. Raffetto.

Following the presentation ceremony, refreshments were served from a lace-covered table centered with fall flowers of bronze and yellow.

A letter to Lieutenant Raffetto, to be sent to POW camp at Oflag 64, was composed by the guests, each person present signing his name and writing a brief note.

Witnessing the presentation were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Collier and Dorothy, Mrs. Fred Ehlers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeBolt, Phyllis Foster, Adelle Zamsky, Mrs. Otto Erlanson, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Victor O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Eichendorf, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howard, Mrs. H. C. Bonney and Sgt. Joe E. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill assisted Mr. and Mrs. Raffetto with the arrangements.

Wed Thursday

In a simple wedding on Thanksgiving Day at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Laverne Johansen became the bride of Sgt. Major Bernard Dumas of the Marine Barracks. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Victor Phillips in the First Methodist church which was decorated with white chrysanthemums and palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, L. L. Dunn, wore a moonstone blue frock with nail head trim and a small black lace hat with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Thomas McClure was her attendant and wore a light blue wool frock with a corsage of gardenias. Tech. Sgt. Thomas McClure was the best man.

Just before the ceremony, PFC Carl Hagel of the Marine Barracks sang, "I Love You Truly." Soft music was played by the organist.

Later twenty-five guests gathered at the Winema for Thanksgiving dinner and a beautiful wedding cake was cut by the new Mrs. Dumas. The three-tiered confection was topped by a miniature bride with groom in the dress of the marine corps.

Following a brief wedding trip to San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Dumas will be at home at 715 California avenue.

At the close of the meeting Mildred Seavey, refreshment committee chairman, served cake and ice cream to the group. She was assisted by Marion Cronon, Clara Houston, Rose Pearl Hoskings, Martha Lavenik, Ella Lesmeister, Catherine Schumaker, Emilie Miller, Freda Newman, Mary Parks, Ethel Fairland and Alice Abbot.

The table was covered with a beautiful lace cloth and centered with a large amber flower bowl filled with bronze chrysanthemums. Grand Regent Phillis Mahoney poured tea and Mildred Smith presided over the coffee service.
