

SKY FREEDOMS SEPARATE FROM CONFAB PLANS

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor
CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—British opposition to an American plan for attaching five sky freedoms to a world air accord left the United States today with its proposal in a bundle quite separate from other achievements of the international civil aviation conference.

The result represented something of a victory for the United Kingdom, which would have preferred that the freedoms not be presented in any form, and to some degree a setback for the United States, which had hoped to give the ideals the prestige of attachment to the forthcoming convention.

The "five freedoms" cover the right to cross another nation's territory, to make non-commercial stops, to carry out-bound home traffic anywhere, to pick up inbound home traffic anywhere, and to carry the traffic of other nations so long as those nations do not forbid it.

This convention will include an air navigation agreement, including technical standards and procedures; a set of rules for air transport operations, and an international organization to administer the convention.

The United States, taking a sharp step to make an "open air" policy available to all nations desiring to join in it, had offered its plan as a document which might be attached to the general agreement as an optional pact. The British were unwilling to give it that status, and in a drafting committee showdown, later confirmed by voice vote in a closed committee meeting, apparently outmaneuvered the Americans.

The change appeared to be more in form than in substance, since the document now merely stands alone for individual action.

The action of the subcommittee, a body on which all nations at the conference are represented, disposed of the controversial points which plagued the meeting for several weeks. Now in its second month, the conference is expected to settle to the routine of drafting final versions of the agreements and translate them into French and Spanish.

IMPROVEMENT
DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 1 (AP)—The Durham and Southern railway which runs from Durham to Dunn, N. C., has honored Gen. William C. Lee of Dunn, who trained army paratroopers for the invasion of France, by naming a junction on its line "Genlee."
Original name of the junction was Togo.

GOAT
BINGHAM CANYON, Utah, Dec. 1 (AP)—Police Chief R. J. Contratto wondered how he could get rid of an obnoxious old goat he found down-town this week.

Mayor R. A. Murano solved the puzzle by challenging neighboring Midvale, Utah, to a war bond contest with the animal as a feature attraction.

The losing town gets the goat.

LOBBYIST
GLEN DIVE, Mont., Dec. 1 (AP)—The traveling salesman could see every seat in the hotel lobby was taken.

Going to a telephone, he dialed, then said in his most confidential tone:

"Hello... Bill? Did you know they just got some cigars at the grocery store up the street?"

He had his choice of chairs when he returned.

FARE DELIVERY
CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Three $1 bills fell out of a letter which H. R. Sampson, general traffic manager of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, received from Los Angeles. An accompanying note said:

"Years ago I rode one of your trains without paying. I am getting along in years and since I have gone west and become a Christian, I want to clear my conscience."

News Notes and Comment

By JUANITA SHINN
By 3 o'clock Thursday, November 30, 51 war bonds had been sold to high school students entitling them to tickets to the bond matinee on December 4. Twenty of these bonds were sold on Thursday, alone.

The Wi-No-Ma banquet room will be the scene of the fourth annual Journalism banquet tonight, sponsored by the Asahel Bush chapter of Quill and Scroll. Speakers for the occasion will be Frank Jenkins, editor and publisher of The Herald, and Clifford P. Rowe, Krater adviser.

The banquet will be followed by a formal dance in the girls' gymnasium for those who attend the banquet, and their guests. The entire theme of the dance will be carried out in black and white.

Tonight also will be the Future Craftsmen's fourth annual banquet. Each year the employees entertain their employers at a dinner.

Speakers of the evening will be Nelson Reed, chairman of the high school board, Ralph Howard, acting chairman of the apprenticeship council, and the principal speaker will be Alfred Collier, alternate on the apprenticeship council.

Other guests of the banquet will be Walter Morris, state director of trades and industrial education, Clem Clark, state supervisor of vocational training for war production workers, and Harold Shogren, his assistant.

There will be several other T and I coordinators present from the state. Kelly Farris will be the master of ceremonies, and Alice Wells, accompanied by Barbara Zinn, will sing.

REAPPOINTMENT LOOMS
SALEM, Dec. 1 (AP)—T. Morris Dunne, state industrial accident commissioner for 12 years, probably will be reappointed within a few days, the governor's office indicated. Dunne's term ends next January 1.

CIO LEADER SAYS BUILDING MAY LAG

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—A CIO leader predicted today a "serious lag" in building needed ships unless shipyard workers win a "feeling of security."

The workers, particularly on the west coast, are quitting to obtain "jobs which would give them some greater degree of postwar security," said President John Green of the CIO shipbuilders.

In a prepared plea to the war labor board's shipbuilding commission, Green said "certainly severance pay, based on length of service, would tend to give the workers a feeling of security and keep them in the industry."

"What are we going to eat after the terminations begin in the industry?" Green asked. "Unemployment insurance? It would barely just begin to pay the rent."

The hearing specifically involved approximately 500,000 workers at about 50 east coast yards but Green spoke for ship workers on the gulf and Pacific coasts as well. WLB removed the question of any general pay increase from consideration by the commission, reserving this until such time as the nation's wage stabilization policy may be changed.

AFL spokesmen decided to remain away from the hearing. They contended a general pay increase was the "real issue" and termed the CIO-sponsored collateral wage demands extraneous.

Merrill Vacation To Begin Dec. 22

MERRILL—Students of Merrill schools, who lost a month during the potato harvest vacation, are being surprised by an 11-day period for the Christmas holiday. School will close Friday afternoon, December 22, and classes will be resumed, Tuesday, January 2.

A Christmas musical program which will be open to the public will be presented in the high school gymnasium, Thursday evening, December 21, in which both the high school and junior high school will take part. Individual Christmas parties will be held in each room of the grade school.

Tigers Replace Old Fashioned Pink Elephants

PORTLAND, Dec. 1 (AP)—A University of California medical school professor exploded the pink elephant theory today in a session of the conference on alcoholic studies.

Delirium tremens victims don't usually see elephants or snakes at all, Dr. Karl Bowman declared. Their most frequent illusion is tigers.

Hirabayashi Found Guilty of Failure To Report At Camp

SPOKANE, Dec. 1 (AP)—A jury, instructed by the court that no question of religious freedom or constitutionality was involved, took just 12 minutes yesterday to find Gordon K. Hirabayashi, Japanese-American, guilty of failure to report at a conscientious objector camp. He was sentenced to serve one year in a road camp.

Judge Lewis B. Schwelienbach, before passing sentence, told the defendant that "if in the beginning the philosophy which you believe in and have expounded in this courtroom had been accepted universally, man never would have risen about a brutal beast."

STAGGERED HOLIDAY VACATIONS SLATED

Klamath school kids will have staggered vacations during the coming holiday season, the town students leaving the classrooms several days earlier than their country cousins.

Both Klamath Union high school and the city schools will close Friday afternoon, December 15, for Christmas, resuming classes Tuesday, January 2.

In the county schools, the greater number will close December 22, reconvening January 2. Exact date for individual schools will be announced later by Superintendent Fred Peterson. Dates vary as effected by the potato harvest vacation.
