Thomas: "About this (McCormick site, etc.) I can only say that utiliza-lion of it will be considered in the course of the bureau's inves-tigation of power sites on the Klamath river. This investiga-lion is a definite part of our plans for the immediate postwar future. I have no doubt that it will be made as soon as avail-able manpower and appropria-lions will permit. "It is intended that the inves-tigation of the power and water resources of Klamath river will be of a comprehensive nature, paying due regard to coordina-tion with the Bonneville-Grand Coulee power system on the north and the Central Valley-Shasta Dam system to the south. The result of the inter-connec-tion of these two larger power systems with such development as may be justified on Klamath river should make available all of the low-priced public power this area will ever reasonably need. the death of Karl Bold, Klam-ath farmer, last Sunday. Civilian as well as military witnesses were called by the board, which has been busy most of the week on the case. More than 100 pages of testi-mony had been taken and other witnesses were still being in-terrogated Saturday. Bold was found one morning last week lying behind a local business building. Cause of his death has not yet been deter-mined, certain body tissues hav-ing been sent to the state crime laboratory for study. Final re-sult of an autopsy on the body will not be known until all the medical facts are in.

Do you ever think of the advertising available through your newspaper as a package of readers, rather than so many inches on a printed page?

Actually the success or failure of your ad depends largely on what you put in it, but what you buy, for any size ad, is a package of potential readers.

The following chart shows a comparative package of readers and the average cost per column inch for that package.

SALEM — Emergency serv-ices of British war relief, which are supported in part by con-tributions to the Klamath coun-tributions to the Klamath coun-ty war chest, are being called up-on to meet needs arising out of the continued bombing of Brit-ain by azil V-1 and V-2 bombs, according to a report received to-day by Charles A. Sprague, pres-ident of the Oregon war chest, from the national war fund. "The emergency services of the British War Relief society continue to operate under in-tense pressure," said the report. "Three hundred and thirty-six ambulances are in operation, as well as mobile kitchens, chil-dre's clinics, clothing distribu-tion amany other vital proj-cets." A report from London on one

A report from London on one bombing said: "The target' of a flying bomb was a group of houses. Not a single allied soldier was killed or a factory worker injured. The war effort was not delayed one split second. The military dam-age was nil but it caused casual-ties and suffering. It killed small children riding scooters. It buried old women, and blasted small kitchens where working-i en's wives were cooking.... Patiently, these people are going over the debris, salvaging as much as they can."

Nine were booked for assault and two for investigation. The arrests were made after an altereation between evacuees, which resulted in no serious in-juries, it was understood. It was reported several evacuees "jumped on" one man near a mess hall.
