

Fuel Rationing Now Effective; Priority Ratings Established

Fuel Information

Prepared by the housing committee, Klamath county chamber of commerce.

Fuel Rationing—Now in effect. Apply to YOUR DEALER, not the OPA office, for form to be filled out in establishing your priority. Highest priorities go to persons with less than 30 days' supply of fuel on hand.

Sources of fuel as of January 2, 1945:

Frankford Fuel company—Phone 4511. Located one mile north of city limits. Go out Highway 99 past the overcrossing. On left side of road going north. Behind on deliveries. Will take no more orders for two weeks.

Will sell dry pine slabs at the yard.

Fred H. Heilbronner Fuel—Phone 4153. 821 Spring street. Delivering coal in one-half or one-ton lots. Will sell one, two or three sacks of coal per person at the yard.

Peyton and company—Phone 5149. Main office, 915 Market street. Starting January 2 will accept orders for dry pine slabs, Prestolone and coal.

Will sell pine slabs at Riverside yard, located behind Safeway warehouse on Riverside street. Cross Link River bridge and turn left toward Ashland and Weed. About three blocks south of bridge.

Transportation available for emergency delivery of fuel: Klamath Falls Transfer and Storage, phone 5672. Pat's Cab service, phone 4488. Beacon service station, phone 8304, has two stake-side trucks and a pickup for rent for hauling fuel. Drive yourself plan.

Fuel rationing became effective in Klamath Falls today, and priorities were being established for applications from persons with less than 30 days and with less than one-fourth of a year's supply of fuel on hand.

Many people erroneously went to the OPA office to fill out forms in connection with the rationing. This should be done at the offices of the fuel dealers.

Purpose of the rationing is to assure that residents in real need will get first call on the available wood and coal.

Although Klamath's fuel shortage remained serious today, it appears that persons in emergency situations can obtain fuel, according to a survey by the housing committee of the Klamath county chamber of commerce. Suggestions to aid persons whose supply is low are contained in a special table on this page, and will be re-run in The Herald and News periodically.

amounts. Names and phone numbers of these concerns are included in the table.

The housing committee went on record as commending the fuel dealers for their handling of the situation after it had been shown that the dealers had been operating on a voluntary rationing program, had urged stockpiling last summer when supplies were plentiful and had started efforts through the solid fuels administration as long ago as last August to get additional fuel for this area.

Factors contributing to the present shortage include an estimated 30 per cent increase in population and a decrease in supply of fuel wood locally. It was forecast that the supply would continue to diminish, due to de-

A point brought out several times at a housing committee meeting last weekend at the chamber of commerce office was the fact that most wood-burning furnaces, heaters and ranges in the Klamath area are actually intended for the use of coal, and that there has been no difficulty in securing coal. While wood has been used in the past as an economy measure, those experiencing a shortage of wood this season are urged to consider the use of coal. One fuel dealer who had been asked to appear before the committee reported that the use of coal here has increased 500 per cent in the last six years.

The committee expressed itself as chiefly concerned about newcomers to the community who had had no opportunity to stockpile their winter fuel supply during the summer months. It was reported that many navy and marine families had no car in which they could haul emergency amounts of fuel when unable to obtain delivery by a dealer. This situation may be helped by publicity regarding concerns which will deliver fuel in small creasing cut by local mills and better utilization of the wood cut for lumber products.

Long-range remedies to the shortage suggested at yesterday's meeting included intensive efforts to secure greater use of coal, support of dealers' efforts to secure further allocations of wood from other communities by the solid fuels administration, and an attempt to secure the establishment of a war prisoner camp near Klamath Falls for the cutting of firewood next summer.

Another possible source of emergency fuel, according to another dealer, was the standby supply of wood stockpiled by persons using oil heating equipment. The wood was purchased when the possibility of obtaining fuel oil this season was uncertain. So far the supply of oil has been entirely sufficient to meet the demands. With part of the winter already past, it was felt that persons having a sufficiently large stockpile of wood to last a full heating season might volunteer to sell at least a portion of their surplus wood supply.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2 (AP)—Friendly hands aided Darwin A. Palmer when he slipped and fell on an icy street near his home. The unidentified man not only assisted Palmer to his feet but insisted on walking him home. Later, Palmer reported to police, he discovered that the stranger who gave him a helping hand apparently had relieved him of his wallet containing $20, a cigarette lighter and case and other articles he valued at $145.
