

WESTERN RANGE CATTLEMEN TO HOLD MEETING

Denver, Colo., on January 11-12, 1945, will be the meeting of the western range cattlemen where their association will deal with not only the present situation but also plans for the postwar era. It will be the 44th annual convention of the American National Live Stock association and over 500 delegates from 18 western states are expected to attend.

Executive Secretary F. E. Mol has announced that there will be two round table discussions, one on world trade headed by Harry Terrell of the Western Policy committee. Des Moines, Iowa and the other on stock marketing headed by J. Abbott of Hyannis, Nebr. Leaf production, ranch labor, estate sanitary regulations and many other problems will be discussed at the convention. A great deal of work has been done on the latter subject and more progress is expected to come by virtue of this convention.

TRACTOR DEMANDS TOP STATE SUPPLY

Oregon's first quarter 1945 sale of crawler tractors for agricultural use does not provide grounds for optimism, according to N. C. Donaldson, executive assistant to the state AAA committee. The new state quota of 48 machines compares with the authorized release of 80 in the fourth quarter of 1944. The armed services continue to take 85 per cent of the output of tractors, according to war production board reports, and indications are that military demand will be heavy during the coming year. In spite of the tightness of the crawler tractor situation, units were released to Oregon farmers in 1944, Donaldson stated. In addition, 43 standard wheel tractors converted into crawler tractors have been released, a total of 400 units. The committee received applications from 934 farmers for tractors, and it is estimated that many more applications were screened out by the committee.

Farm Committeemen To Meet in January

Farmer committeemen representing all Oregon counties will assemble at Corvallis January 18-20 for the state conference of AAA county committeemen. R. B. Taylor of Adams, chairman of the state AAA committee, has announced. This is the first such state meeting since the war.

The committeemen will devise operating plans for the 1945 conservation practice and production goal programs, and will make recommendations for the 1946 programs. Also due for discussion are problems relating to price supports, rationing of equipment and supplies, and other assignments handled by AAA committeemen.

RICHARDS LEAVES LIVESTOCK STATION

In leaving the Eastern Oregon Livestock branch experiment station to accept the management of the large Oxbow cattle ranch at Prairie City, D. E. Richards, superintendent, and formerly of Klamath Falls, is turning over the station in excellent condition for continued research for the livestock industry, says William A. Schoenfeld, dean and director of agriculture at Oregon State college. A successor is expected to be appointed soon so that there will be no interruption in the work of the station.

The branch station is now stocked with more than 100 head of good quality, well bred Hereford cows and 350 good half-blood ewes. In addition there are 61 yearling steers in experimental fattening trials this winter and 90 calves used in conducting winter feeding experiments. Ample feed is on hand to carry all of the stock through the season, Richards reported in submitting his resignation. Richards took over the station 13 years ago, succeeding the late Robert Withycombe. Since that time the emphasis has been on livestock research, which was closely coordinated with the work at the Squaw Butte and Harney branch stations. Richards also served as superintendent of the Malheur experimental area.

Farm Planning Group To Meet in February

The Klamath county agricultural planning committee will hold its meeting on February 14 to consider recent agricultural developments and future prospects. The four-fold purpose of this session will be to discuss recent trends in agricultural production in the state and county, to consider latest outlook information, to hear the first report of the newly formed county veterans agricultural advisory committee, and to consider the possibility of county economic conferences after the war ends.

Sub-committees will meet with the central committee on land use, livestock, crops, farm home and rural life, farm labor, and veterans agricultural advisory. Representatives from all agricultural agencies will be invited.

Warning of OPA Laws Requested by Group

PORTLAND, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Portland OPA agricultural advisory committee recommended today that OPA directives, especially those affecting feeder cattle, should be announced far enough in advance to enable growers to be prepared. Orders issued at the beginning of a season should be continued through the season, the committee said. The proposals will be presented to the national committee at a Washington, D. C., meeting soon.

Removal of all ration points on lambs in western Oregon in June, July and August—marketing time—was urged by R. C. Burkhardt, president of the Western Oregon Livestock association. This should relieve growers of a surplus, he said.

He also asked that ceiling prices on live cattle be discontinued, explaining there are too many grades of cattle to be "lumped together" as hogs are.

FARM OUTLOOK GOOD IN '45; THRIFT URGED

By WINNIFRED K. GILLEN

Careful planning and saving of food, clothing, and family income should be the keynote for the rural homemaker's 1945 program, according to a summary of farm family living and outlook released at the end of 1944 by agricultural and home economics extension workers in Washington, D. C. A smaller supply of some of the necessary commodities, coupled with smaller sums for current family living costs in many cases are factors which farm dwellers should take into consideration now if the year ahead is to be a successful one for Klamath county people and for the nation at war.

The money available for family living in 1945 will, in many farm families, be less than was the case in 1943 and 1944. To offset this, however, accumulated savings will be greater than in the past year. Now is the time to make careful family financial plans. The value of money spent for food can best be judged by the nutritional needs of the family. Continued shortages are predicted in materials vital to farm operation and expansion: meat, fats and oils, butter, citrus fruits, lumber, and cotton for clothing and equipment. The civilian food supply for 1945 is expected to be at about 1944 levels. Farm families with their home-produced food will be well situated. Those who need new homes, however, can do little at present except to plan and save. However, limited improvement of present housing is possible, where home labor, materials and used equipment can be secured.

A Lot To Do About Ground Meat

There's a difference in the pan-frying and broiling times for the various kinds of ground meat. Beef and veal require the same cooking time but lamb and pork take a bit longer. When two or more kinds of ground meat are mixed together, the time is gauged by the kind of meat in the largest proportion. However, when there's fresh pork in the combination it's advisable to follow the timing given, for pork must be cooked thoroughly.

GROUND BEEF AND VEAL

Because of their leanness, ground beef and veal are benefited by the addition of fat or liquid, such as suet, eggs, or evaporated milk. Eggs and evaporated milk also act as binders to help hold the ground beef and veal together after they're cooked.

Tests show the best results are obtained by using 2 eggs or 4 tablespoons of evaporated milk or 4 tablespoons of suet for each pound of ground beef or veal. 1/4 pound beef or veal patty, broiled or pan-fried, should be cooked about 10 minutes—5 minutes on each side.

GROUND LAMB

It isn't necessary to add any binding ingredients to ground lamb for it holds its shape when cooked. However, the addition of a little chopped bacon contributes a delectable flavor and adds the fat that is needed.

For patties and mock cutlets and chops of average thickness that are to be pan-fried or broiled, it is best to allow about 30 minutes—15 minutes for each side.

GROUND FRESH PORK

Ground pork is often confused with fresh pork sausage. The difference lies in the fact that sausage contains spices and seasonings while ground fresh pork does not.

A binding ingredient or extra fat is not required for ground pork because it is tender and juicy enough without any additions.

It takes at least 20 minutes for pan-frying or broiling of fresh pork patties of average thickness and it is important that they be well done throughout.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

CREAMED GROUND MEAT: Sauté 1 lb. ground meat, 1/2 cup finely diced onion, in 2 tablespoons shortening until meat and onion are browned. Break meat apart as it cooks. Blend in 4 tablespoons of flour, season to taste. Gradually add 3 cups milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick. Serve on toast cubes, in pastry cases, in noodle ring or over steamed rice. Serves 6.
