YESTERDAY morning I went in to Shaw's to see about Valentine cards and tallief. . . and got side-tracked. . . There are lots of what I was looking for, but I realized what was happening. I was all tangled up in my department.
Incidentally, when I got understand and decided I'd better my way. I found that the weather had done a turnover, and the outside was covered by a blanket of snow. . .
I surprised. . . I did have a good time going through those books and there are a couple of new ones that adults will enjoy.
At least, adults with my al equipment.
Pack-Diney's "Surprise Pack-well-loved story stories, was I had heard about before.

Because some of the stories are being released, in the distant future, as Disney's moving pictures, and they are shelved only temporarily until the war. . .
book is $1.50.
I saw at Shaw's was new
. . . But fascinating!
called "The Horse Who Upstairs" in a big brick ing in New York and was titled. . . Written by McGinley and illustrated Elen Stone, it is the kind children and adults like to rough again and again. . .

perused the book, "The Wife" too. . . A guidefor young navy wives that relating to civilians, and told by a long-time navy to the oldtimers, too. . . the navy traditions and ms, navy entertaining, terms, etiquette, etc., in a moving, easy-to-read style.
"My Wife" was written by val officer's wife and an officer's wife. . . And is ed at $2.50.
as I was leaving the I saw a copy of Bob
"I Never Left Home"
had to skim through it . . . Really, I'm going to to buy that book. . . I've through it several times, every time I find something to enjoy in the story of the and movie comedian's cracking trek from En-through Africa when he entertaining servicemen on side of the world. . . It's $2.00, and no tax, so may-somebody will give it to aw Stationery is at 729
