Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

PEOPLE of Klamath Falls have reason for real gratification in the favorable financial condition in which the municipality finds itself. Whatever problems may confront this community in the future, it will be better able to meet them by reason of the sound state of municipal fiscal Retiring City Treasurer Ruth Bathiany pointed out, in a talk before the Kiwanis club this week, that the present net bonded debt of Klamath Falls is $321,000. That is a modest obligation in a municipality with an assessed valuation of approximately $9,500,000, but the impressiveness of the figure is enhanced when one looks back at the situation a dozen or so years ago. In 1930, Klamath Falls had a net bonded debt of $2,289,121. The difference between the net debt at that time, and that at present, is net debt at that time, and that at present, is $1,867,646. Bonds issued since 1930 have totaled $292,400, and outlay under the pay as you go program has totaled $153,972. That makes a grand total of $2,414,018 actually paid out or laid away in meeting the city's obligations in the 14-year period, in addition to maintaining interest payments on the entire bonded debt.

The period, quite obviously, has been one of outstanding financial progress for the municipality. Credit must go to the city bond committee, its various administrative officials during the period. Mrs. Bathiany, the budget coming the period, Mrs. Bathiany, the budget committees, and to the people of Klamath Falls who have supported this sound financial program including the change to pay-as-you-go levies instead of interest bearing bond issues for needed improvements.

They Like It Here

N the business news of the week were two interesting items that indicate the attractive-ness of this area to people who come here under business assignments.

business assignments.

G. C. Blohm, for several years manager of the U. S. National bank, announced that he is resigning the banking job, but is remaining right here to go into farming in the Malin area, where he has acquired farm property. Mr. Blohm has been constructively active in many Klamath county civic and public affairs, rendering real service to the community that is now his choice for a permanent residence. We are his choice for a permanent residence. We are glad he is staying.

We say the same to C. L. Lolcama, who came here as manager for Wadham's, wholesale grocers, and is remaining to become proprietor of Boito's market on South Sixth street. He, too, has taken an active interest in local affairs, and is demonstrating his personal confidence in the future of the community.

N a discussion of public salary increases here the other day, nothing was said about the salary of the circuit judge, a fact which drew the attention of Judge Dave Vandenberg . . . sibly a public hearing on the matter would bring other ideas of even much more value. Yours truly, W. A. CHAMBERS, 752 N. 10th.

The War Today

YOU'VE got to have a lot of faith, hope, and charity to believe that there can be any-I charity to believe that there can be anything like a wholesale application of the principles of the Atlantic Charter to a Europe which already is rapidly slipping back into its naughty political habits of pre-war days.

That presumably is one of the delicate problems which will come before Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin at their forthcoming meeting. If the problem is solved it certainly will require a lot of what we euphemistically call

Prime Minister Churchill Thursday nailed his position to the mast in a fighting speech which was one of the most forceful of his brilliant career. He told the world bluntly that he and Stalin had agreed on a joint policy for the Balkans to prevent future wars. He declared, however, that "this agreement raised no question of divisions of territory or spheres of in-terest after the war," and that President Roose-velt had been kept "constantly informed."

Lincoln's Principle

BRITAIN, he said, has one principle about the liberated or repentent satellite countries

That is "government of the people, by the people, for the people,"

The world at large accepts Mr. Churchill's declaration as sincere. It notes also that not only he but Marshal Stalin has subscribed to the tenets of the Atlantic Charter which, signed or unsigned, still stands.

However, without impugning the personal motives of any of Europe's leading statesmen, the cold fact is that circumstances are forcing the breaking up of the continent into spheres of influence. Call it power politics if you want to. And when zones of influences are estab-lished, then the small countries within those zones lose some or all of their independence.

Take the case of Poland. The Lublin Polish provisional government established itself in Warsaw yesterday while the capital still burned with the fires set by the retreating Germans. As this column predicted, the leftist Lublin government—which has the blessings and support of Moscow—thus is rushing organization of Polish territory as fast as the Russians liber-

It helps Poland, is left stranded high and dry. It helps not one whit that both the United States and Britain still recognize it, and haven't recognized the Lublin regime.

Well, what's the answer to this? It's clear mough. By the time the Germans have been victed from Poland, the Lublin government likely will have all the country organized under its rule. In due course, there will be a plebis-cite to see what sort of government the people want, and who do you think will win?

One Klamath tavern was named in a 30-day suspension order by the state liquor control commission today, and another local place received a warning.

The suspension was declared against the Schuss tavern, on a charge of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor.

Molatore's Metropolitan hotel was given a warning for "illegal liquor sales," the state commission announced. 1. Of young people going to or coming from work. I believe we have a child labor law which prohibits juveniles from working except between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Nazis Exile Inhabitants Of Warsaw, Reports Soviets

LONDON, Jan. 20 (P)—Soviet Russia's leading war correspondent reported today that the Germans had exiled every living inhabitant of Warsaw before yielding the Polish capital to the red army.

Describing the newly-seized city as "one big ruin, smelling of burning destruction," M. Makarenko wrote in Pravda:

I am not in any sense trying to find fault with our juveniles, but I am finding fault with parents that permit them to run the streets after hours. Neither would I like to see a law so rigid that emergency cases could not be excepted. If the law is amended, I would recommend:

1. That a special room away from the police station be arranged where juveniles out after hours may be detained until parents call for them.

2. That the first offense be a warning, and that for the second or subsequent offenses, a fine be imposed upon the parents and that the name of the child never be publicized.
