Handy with tools? This job may be up your alley

This is a good job. And a bit unusual in many ways because it's got just a bit more excitement and real he-man's "stuff" to it than most jobs. The work: Helner in Southern Pacific's big R. R. shops or roundhouses... working with skilled craftsmen on locomotives, rolling stock, other R. R. equipment. You don't need to be experienced—just willing. If you wish, you can learn railroading on the ground floor... learn a fine craft from men who know their business. You'll be part of a fine outfit... a company whose biggest job still lies ahead: carrying the war load for the huge Pacific offensive. Regular railroad wages. Fine pension plan. R. R. pass privileges. Medical services. Investigate today. See or Write Trainmaster, S. P. Station, Klamath Falls, or your nearest S. P. Agent.

COLWELL RANCH PURCHASED BY TULELAKE MAN

MERRILL—Sale of one of Klamath county's pioneer ranches was announced Monday by Donald Colwell of Colwell Brothers. Co-owner of the 230-acre ranch, which is only part of the original acreage, is Robert Colwell, brother of Donald. Both are sons of Dan Colwell Jr., Klamath Falls, and grandsons of the original owner, the late Dan Colwell Sr. Robert Nebiker, Tulelake, is the new owner. Colwell brothers have purchased the Howard Van Valkenberg ranch of 2300 acres six miles from Klamath Falls on the Keno highway and are completing the move to the new property this week. Eight hundred acres of the ranch are under irrigation and farmed and the remainder is in pasture. The Colwells will divide their cattle operations between the new ranch and one at Sprague River. Two complete sets of buildings including one two-story brick home and a two-story frame home are included in the Van Valkenberg property. Van Valkenberg, who has owned the place for many years, plans to retire to a home in Ashland. The holdings originally totaled 760 acres part of which was home-steaded by Dan Colwell Sr., native of county Tyrone, Ireland, who came to Merrill in 1871, living here during the Modoc Indian war. The land was subdivided in 1908, two years after the death of Colwell. Children of the family still living in Klamath county, among whom the land was divided, are Mrs. E. M. Hammond and John Colwell, Merrill, and Dan Colwell Jr., Klamath Falls. Colwell brothers have farmed the place for nine years, raising principally potatoes with some hay and grain. No consideration on either transaction was made public.

The dining quarters are housed in one of the apartment buildings used as living quarters for the track laborers. RED CROSS UNIT IN MERRILL CLOSES

MERRILL—Since no 1945 quotas for surgical dressings have been received by local chapters from national headquarters, it is presumed that unless an emergency arises that no further dressings will be made by individual chapters. Mrs. Leta Stolt, chairman of the Merrill unit, announced Friday that the Merrill surgical dressing room will close January 30 at which time it is hoped that the 1944 quota can be completed. She asks that workers who have dresses in the room call for them either on Wednesday or Friday afternoons prior to that date. Other classes in the county will be closed also at that time. It was announced by Mrs. Maud Hosley, Klamath county chairman. The Merrill unit has been working nearly two years, having been organized in April 1943. Mrs. J. R. Blatch and Mrs. Warren Fruits have assisted Mrs. Stolt as instructors.

The wires hum. It's a "31" order—important instructions for a train soon to arrive and for which the conductor must sign. The station agent sets the semaphore. The red light flashes its warning. The train arrives and rumbles to a stop.

This is just one of many safety measures established by Union Pacific to assure reliable transportation of passengers and freight. War resulted in a tremendous increase in rail traffic. A large part of that traffic has been directed over Union Pacific's "strategic middle route" uniting the East with the Pacific Coast.
