Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY THE Klamath County chamber of commerce, now engaged in some of the most important work in its history...

EPLEY

While membership is now at an all-time high, the work that the chamber is doing deserves the increased support through widened affiliations...

Communities which have permitted their chambers of commerce to languish during the war period are beginning to realize the mistake they made...

We are absolutely certain that if we had abandoned the chamber the day war broke out, we would have re-organized it, or started a similar agency, within a month...

We have discovered that there are people who are hurt because they have not been invited to join the chamber...

The Klamath chamber is not a reactionary organization. Its committees and board have tackled the problems of policy as they came along with open minds...

A membership card in the Klamath chamber is a badge of community service.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst THE European war has just about touched the peak of its crisis on both eastern and western fronts...

Cessation of fighting in Europe will by no means put an end to activities of the Christian Science war relief units throughout the United States...

Now at the end of its fourth year, the committee finds that it has distributed approximately 2,522,059 garments to the needy overseas...

A recent shipment brought the total of supplies sent out from the Klamath Falls unit during the last year up to 415 pounds...

Warm, used garments in good condition are wanted at once for men, women, children and infants...

Poland, should begin to make their final desperate stand. And desperate it is, for the Nazi leaders are deliberately sacrificing Germany to their own hopelessly personal interests...

On both fronts the allies are exerting more and more pressure against the Germans' main fortified positions. The two great mill-stones at last have their grist firmly between them and are grinding hard...

Less Spectacular

OPERATIONS on the western front at the moment are far less spectacular than the rapid movements of the mammoth red drives, but General Eisenhower's steady thrusts are rapidly creating an explosive situation...

Either it will precipitate the much talked of battle of the Cologne plain, or it will compel Nazi Field Marshal Von Rundstedt to withdraw his entire force back across the Rhine for a stand on the east bank.

It's a fair guess that Eisenhower would prefer the fight on the Cologne plain where there's room to use his armor and maneuver for annihilation of the enemy force. Perhaps he will get this chance, for many of the Rhine bridges have been knocked out by allied bombing...

Resumption of Operations

AS a matter of fact Eisenhower's present operations are a resumption of those he was carrying out when Rundstedt halted them with his ill-fated offensive that created the short-lived Belgian bulge...

On the eastern front the red generals are continuing their pile-driver blows at the heart of the German fortified line, but with due precautions. They aren't overlooking the large Hitlerite forces on both their flanks and are proceeding to neutralize these as they thrust their central spear-head towards the golden prize of Berlin.

While main interest naturally centers in the 73 mile stretch of the Oder river which the Russians have reached opposite the capital, their amazing offensive really is made up of four great interlocking drives...

The focal point is the 20 mile Kustrin-Frankfurt sector on the Oder directly east of Berlin. This is one of the strongest parts of the German line...

WORKERS MAKE 500 THOUSAND DRESSINGS

The number of surgical dressings made for the Red Cross during the year of 1944 by volunteers in the various workrooms in Klamath county is as follows: Main workroom, 281,170; Mills, 38,370; Altamont, 65,788; Shasta, 20,150; Merrill, 43,974; Main, 24,950; Tulelake, 42,435. Total for the county was 509,009.

As of December 1, 1944, 34,640 hours were given by workers, and 13,846 hours were given by instructors. There are 36 authorized instructors for the seven units in Klamath county.

Among the many services and activities of the Red Cross chapter are home service, camp and hospital council service, blood donor service, disaster relief and civilian war aid, nutrition service, first aid, water safety and accident prevention, Junior Red Cross, volunteer special services, war fund campaign expenses, public information, general chapter administration and contingencies.

The term "home service" is applied to all services rendered by the chapter in behalf of persons of all branches of the armed forces and their families, for disabled ex-service personnel and for men in active service, the work of the chapter consists of arranging with field directors to solve family problems, provide emergency relief, report on home conditions and so forth.

For ex-servicemen, the chapter assists in applying for and presenting claims for pensions and other government benefits, financial assistance and any other requests that are made. The Red Cross inquiry service is available to civilians, as well as information and referral service, enabling the client to make use of the resources of other organizations providing services not in this program.

Thirty-three schools were enrolled in the Junior Red Cross during 1944, with 4383 pupils registered in the elementary schools of 3186 in high school. This particular organization came into being as the result of the efforts of both the Red Cross and schools to divert the interests and humanitarian urge to school youth into channels of usefulness and unselfish activity.

These pupils were very active during the past year, having made many useful articles to be shipped to military camps and convalescent and children's hospitals, as well as the local military installations. This organization also assisted with the collection of used clothing for the refutation of clothing for the children, and succeeded in shipping 94 cartons from the Klamath area.

The committee for disaster preparedness is headed by Otto Smith, chairman; Lloyd L. Ott, co-chairman; Mitchell Tillotson, finances; Dick Reed, secretary; C. H. Foster, transportation; Fred Peterson, shelter; Dr. Peter Rozendal, first aid; T. M. Medford, food; American Legion auxiliary, registration.

Communications are handled by Charles Seavey, telephone; P. M. Livingston, telegraph; E. A. Everett is the co-ordinator.

comment from Wheeler that the NYA had offered "the most constructive of any of the relief programs that were administered."

Later Wheeler, who often is at odds with the administration, told a reporter he intends to vote to confirm Williams as rural electrification administrator.

Republicans and some democrats, however, loaded opposition guns. Some of them dipped into the files of the old Dies committee for ammunition in an effort to block confirmation.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), one of Williams' supporters on the committee, raised the committee issue.

"Were you ever a communist or did you ever associate with any communist group?" Bankhead asked the witness.

"I have never attended a meeting of any communist group and never knowingly employed a communist."

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), one of Williams' supporters on the committee, raised the committee issue.

bank of the Rhine, as its first major objective. The Siegfried line is said in the dispatches to be "crumbling." One wonders what is meant by "crumbling." It's a fair guess that the Siegfried defenses in depth extend clear to the Rhine.

West front correspondents say in dispatches passed by the censorship that Nazi resistance in the Siegfried line lately "has appeared so spotty as to suggest STRONGLY that the German army has sapped its western strength TOO MUCH in its alarm to speed troops to the Russian front."

That, if true, would be extremely significant. Eisenhower must be waiting for some such sign of weakness to launch the big attack that he must be all ready and waiting for.

An all-out offensive in the west, while the Russians are pounding at Berlin's gates from the east, would certainly look like moving in for the final kill.

OUR supreme headquarters in Paris discloses today that German casualties on the west front since D-Day add up to a total of 1,260,000. That's a lot of Germans put out of action.

IN Canada (in what under the British system is called a by-election) it looks as if the anti-conscriptionists have won a victory that may result in dissolution of the Canadian parliament and a new general election.

What is happening in Canada (including vague stories of riots, mass desertion, etc.) is still a mystery to the general run of us on this side of the border. In our general lack of enlightenment, we set it down as having something to do with the French-Canadian problem that always has been posed by Quebec.

We'll be wise if we reserve judgment until we get a little more light on the subject.

IN Detroit, Senator Arthur Vandenberg tells a home-state audience that it is time for America to "sign up now with all her major allies to join in a hard-and-fast treaty" to keep the peace after the war is won and says he will continue to urge such a policy.

(He thinks fear of what America will do WON'T do has been responsible for British and Russian moves AWAY FROM the Atlantic charter principles and toward the old principles of power politics.)

He adds: "It is time for us to say what we will do. It is time for us to say what we will not do. It is time for us to START THE DOING."

In evaluating this statement, remember that Vandenberg is a REPUBLICAN.

PRISON CAMP REMOVED FROM PATH OF RAIL

Twelve hundred American prisoners of war, including Lt. John Raffetto Jr., and Lt. Lynn Moore, both of Klamath Falls, are thought to have been removed from a camp in Germany, 40 miles distant from Berlin, following inquiry into the fate of 65 Texan soldiers who were reported to have been taken from a camp in Poland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, 1948 Portland, today received two letters from their son who was taken prisoner in Poland, February, 1944. One letter dated October 27, the other dated December 24. The letters told his parents he was well and preparing for Christmas but the prisoners were short of food. He said two messages had reached him from home but he reported the arrival of Oflag 64 of Capt. Moore, former Klamath Falls attorney, who was taken prisoner in September in France. His wife, Dorothy, is living in Tule, Ore., with his father, C. Moore.

NEW kind of ASPIRIN that doesn't upset stomach.

Superin is aspirin plus—the same pure, safe aspirin have long known—but doctors in a special repeat doses.

This new kind of aspirin dissolves more quickly, the aspirin get right at the job, relieving pain, reducing the ordinary aspirin, and down repeat doses.

Ever since they were tiny tots—when the Quintuplets catch cold—their chests, throats and backs are immediately rubbed with Musterole.

Musterole gives such blessed prompt relief because it's more than just an ordinary "rub." It's what so many doctors and nurses call a modern counter-irritant. It not only relieves coughs, sore throats, aching chest muscles due to colds, makes breathing easier—but it actually helps break up congestion in upper bronchial tract, nose and throat.

And Musterole is so much easier to apply than a mustard plaster, White Liniment, Just Rub It On! No fuss. No mess with Musterole.

IN 8 STRENGTHS: Children's Mild Musterole, Regular, and Extra Strong.
