Ping Pong Champ May Have To Play Self at USO Here

It looks like Jini O'Connor, ping-pong champion of the middle Atlantic states, will have to play herself when she appears at the Klamath USO Sunday, February 18, at 8 p. m., and Tuesday, February 20, at 4:30 p. m.

Jini will play either civilians or servicemen at those times and so far entries have been extremely light. Whether the expenses of the tricky game in Klamath Falls are a bit leery of Jini's prowess with the paddle and ball or are hiding their light under a bushel is a moot question, but applications are badly needed by the USO.

She will play either mixed doubles or singles, taking on all comers, and anyone who feels capable of giving her a game should sign up immediately at the service center. Both military and civilian spectators are welcome.

CHURCH EXECUTIVE VISITS IN BASIN

O. LeRoy Walter, executive of the synod of Oregon, Presbyterian church, spent the weekend here visiting Merrill, Tulalake and Main, with services Sunday at Mt. Laki, Altamont and the First Presbyterian church of Klamath Falls.

Monday at 10:30 a. m., Presbyterian ministers met to set up a program of future itinerancy for Walter. Meeting with him were Rev. Eugene Nelson, Lakeview; Rev. David Barnett, Klamath Falls; Rev. Hugh Bronson, Tulalake; Rev. Hugh Mitchellmore, Altamont; Rev. David Ferguson, Merrill. As planned, the program will include expansion, Christian education, building, national missions, young people's work, teachers and placement of ministers.

TIMBER INJURES LOGGING WORKER

Alva Pate, 33-year-old logger employed at the Big Lakes camp near Chinchalo, 50 miles north of Klamath Falls, suffered serious chest injuries Monday afternoon when struck by a timber.

Ward's ambulance met the injured man, who was being transferred to Hillsdale hospital, some distance north of here and Pate was admitted for treatment at 5:30 p. m. His condition was said improved late Tuesday.

DEMURRER ARGUED IN STEVENS CASE

Herbert Daniel Stevens, Marine Barracks, held in the county jail on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with the death of Karl Bold, Henley farmer, was represented in circuit court this morning when his attorney, Joseph C. O'Neill, and District Attorney C. A. Humble, argued a demurrer filed last week by the defense.

Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg announced that he would render a decision on the argument at 10 a. m., February 15.

Bombers Fail to Return From Flight

WALLA WALLA, Feb. 13 (AP)—Two heavy bombers failed to return to the Walla Walla army air field last night from combat training flights. Col. David Wade, commanding officer, reported.

Searches are being conducted in the vicinity of Troy and Fields, Ore., he said.

BUILDERS OF MEN

These men occupied with their own profession, are now sacrificing time and effort so that your boy may have the benefits of the Boy Scout program. Together these men are directing the efforts of more than 600 boys. Of these men you hear little. Yet every parent is in their debt. The whole country owes them much for they have taught our boys to be men.
