

FLIGHT STUDY OFFERED FOR GAP COURSE

Classes in the theory of flight have been announced as the next subject to be offered to the general public in conjunction with the civil air patrol cadet group at the Klamath Union high school by the senior organization.

These classes will be held Monday and Wednesday at 7 p. m., and will run for three evenings beginning February 19. The instructor at these meetings will be a recently discharged member of the army air corps.

Classes in air navigation have been completed and those students who finished this course have qualified themselves for the navigation examination for a private pilot license.

Lt. W. S. Hayden, who was in charge of the navigation class, will announce the opening date of the meteorology instruction, and all those interested in the operation of aircraft are urged to attend. All courses are conducted without charge, under the auspices of the civil air patrol.

Lt. E. G. Newbill, executive officer of the civil air patrol, has stated that the CAP airport at Worden will be opened for civilian use as soon as the runways are dry enough for safe operation. Cinders will be spread during the summer months, so that a year-around operation is expected at this field in the future.

Columbia River Ferry Proposed in Bill

OLYMPIA, Feb. 19 (AP)—Appropriation of $100,000 for acquisition and operation of a ferry across the Columbia river between Dallesport, Washington, and The Dalles, Ore., on a cooperative basis with Oregon state is sought in a bill introduced to the 29th Washington legislature today by Sen. Earl S. Cox, (D-Klickitat.)

The bill stipulates that if a toll ferry is established the department of highways director, in cooperation with Oregon officials, shall establish schedules and fares, the fares to be computed as nearly as possible on a cost basis. If a free ferry is established, the director, under the bill, would be authorized to pay up to half the maintenance and operation costs.

The porpoise is known as "dead man's friend," because of its habit of flinging bodies in the water and rolling them ashore.

HIGH SCHOOL News Notes and Comment

By JUANITA SHINN

There will be a Pep assembly prior to the district basketball tournament, followed by a dance in the girls' gym. The Pelicans will leave Thursday for Ashland for the district meet, so the assembly and dance will be on that day. The dance is to be sponsored by the Hi-Y.

Dr. D. J. Ferguson, Scottish-born world traveler, will speak Tuesday at an assembly sponsored by the Latin club. The assembly will have nothing to do with Latin; the club just wanted to try an experiment with different clubs sponsoring assemblies during the year.

An experiment will also be tried in assembly singing. The entire assembly, under the direction of Andrew Loney Jr., will sing several numbers.

Dr. Ferguson was a chaplain in both the army and navy, and at the present time is a chaplain in the Oregon state guard.

The Latin club is an organization composed of students taking or who have taken Latin. There are approximately 60 members at the present time.

Its motto is "Signa Ferre" (Advance the Standards). Its idea is to promote interest in Latin and its classical background.

The Latin club raised $100 to buy pictures for the Latin room, but as yet, the money is just set aside in a fund for that purpose.

Ruth Landry is the club's president, and Helen Hoffman is the club advisor.

Two Fatally Burned In Seattle Fire

SEATTLE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Two persons, Mrs. Lenore Johanson, 27, and a soldier, tentatively identified as Raymond Solapeck, a friend of her husband, were burned to death yesterday when fire swept a small frame bungalow in north Seattle.

The woman's husband, Stan, was hospitalized with first and second degree burns of the face and back, while a second soldier, Raymond Rignell, was described as in an "extremely critical" condition at King county hospital where he was taken with first, second and third degree burns over his entire body.

Fire Battalion Chief G. W. Martin expressed belief the fire started from a cigarette.

WHEAT VALUES ADVANCE SOME IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Feb. 19 (AP)—Some advances in cash wheat values were noted here last week, reflecting the strength in midwestern wheat future prices, the war food administration said today.

Prices here went up one-half to one and a half cent a bushel compared with a week ago. Trade reports, however, indicated another very quiet week, and demand for cash wheat at Pacific northwestern terminal markets was not much higher.

Growers offered only moderately, since current bid prices are still under load redemption levels. Mills, which needed mostly hard whites and hard winters with protein above 11 per cent, were about the only outlet for cash wheat offerings.

Unusually light trading and movement was shown in sharp lower wheat receipts for the week—280 cars at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals. Portland had 118.

Because shipments are now out of line for shipment to the midwest, demand from that area was lacking. California takings were limited to occasional lots of high protein milling qualities.

Weather during the next few weeks will be important to progress of the Pacific northwest winter wheat crop, which trade reports indicate is now in fair condition.

The United States had three presidents in one month, Martin Van Buren, William Henry Harrison and John Tyler.

SPORTS FISHING HITS SALMON RUN

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 19 (AP)—The chairman of the Oregon state fish commission blames sports fishing for a high percentage of the decline in the Chinook salmon run at Bonneville dam.

John C. Veatch said the sports fishing take at the Columbia mouth last year was estimated at 50 per cent of that of commercial fishermen and that the decline ran all along the river.

"Many a young 'trout' taken from upstream waters on a fly actually is a young salmon," Veatch stated. He said the 241,718 salmon passing over Bonneville dam were the lowest in a seven-year survey.

Veatch said expansion of hatchery facilities is the only way the salmon run can be maintained, with commercial fishermen and sportsmen taking large numbers of fish from the rivers, and power and irrigation dams reducing available upstream spawning areas.

Box cars which had been captured from the Germans, were reconstructed to house the repair shops of the unit.

Pictures of Iwo Invasion Sent in 17 Hours From Iwo
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19 (AP)—Just 17 hours and 39 minutes after American marines landed on Iwo Jima, 750 miles south of Tokyo, pictures showing the landing barges headed for the island and landing were being transmitted over the Associated Press wirephoto network.

Taken from a navy plane, the pictures were flown to Guam, the Marianas and transmitted to San Francisco by navy radio. They were then distributed to the wartime still picture press.

Before 1901, Swedish pictures were known as Kings of Iwo.
