

MARINE CORPS CLUB INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

Saturday, February 17, the Marine Corps league, Crater Lake detachment, was host to the Hodes, commandant of the Oregon department of the Marine Corps league; L. L. Baker, adjutant-paymaster of the department, and Al Smith, a member of the state staff, as well as a number of staff members stationed at the Marine Corps detachment.

The newly-elected officers of the Crater Lake detachment were installed by these state staff members into positions to which they were elected last December. The installation was a social affair with dancing and refreshments were served.

A novel twist was added to the regular dancing when the couples lined up and danced under a broomstick held by two flowers. The broomstick was lowered after each time the couples danced under it until the broomstick was about eight inches from the floor. Only two couples were thin enough to get under it and were fined $5 each for their fine dancing and effort.

It was officially announced at a meeting that the Marine Corps league, Crater Lake detachment, is sponsoring the Marine Corps Men's club, 9th and 10th streets, where the members spend their evenings in dancing. It is considered to be one of the best clubs of its kind in the city.

More events of this kind planned for the near future in the league. These affairs and dances will be announced later and all members should watch the paper for these announcements.

SOLUTION ASKS STUDY OF FISHING

OLYMPIA, Feb. 20 (AP)—An appointment of an interim committee to study and report on the fishing industry in the Pacific northwest was asked in a joint resolution introduced today by Sen. H. N. P. (D-Pierce).

The resolution asks that the committee be empowered to negotiate with similar committees of the federal government, Dominion of Canada, and Idaho and Oregon, and to report to the Senate on the fishing industry in the Pacific northwest and enlarged and sound protection given to the industry. Authority to negotiate the proposed Columbia valley agreement, "when it is established," also is asked.

GAS WASTE HURTS

PORTLAND, Feb. 20 (AP)—Wasted gasoline hurt almost $75 a hold-up look from a town in Oregon. After forcing him to drive miles outside the city, he fled to police.

OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

LT. CLEGHORN IN ENGLAND

THE 101ST GENERAL HOSPITAL, ENGLAND—“Judging from enthusiasm shown by patients at meal time, life at this United States Army general hospital in England is a veritable paradise for the wounded recently returned from the battle front of Europe,” said 2nd Lt. Elizabeth Cleghorn, 27, of 219 High, Klamath Falls, a dietitian here.

“I suppose any hot foods, served attractively, would taste good after eating K rations for days on end,” she said, “yet, there is little left to be desired in the menus we prepare. It’s rather nice, also to have fruit drinks served in the morning and malted milks in the afternoon, although we do that for the health value rather than for the luxury of it.”

On her present schedule, Lt. Cleghorn said, are 50 patients requiring daily special diets, in addition to the regular three meals a day. Orders for these are sent to her office by the ward nurses, and two cooks are assigned exclusively to the preparation of these meals.

With two other dietitians, Lt. Cleghorn prepares the hospital menus, supervises the cooking and serving of food to patients, and assists in mess sanitation. She instructs patients on the proper foods they should eat after they have left the hospital. Before being commissioned in March, 1943, Lt. Cleghorn attended Oregon State college. She also had been a civilian dietitian at the Camp Callan, Calif., reception center. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cleghorn of this city.

STUART COMPLETES TOUR

William W. Stuart, aviation machinist's mate first class, of 2716 Derby, Klamath Falls, is one of the aircrewmembers who helped VPB-61, a navy search and patrol squadron, overcome weather and Japs during a recently completed nine-month tour of duty in the stormy Aleutians.

He flew in Consolidated Catalina (PBV) flying boats on search missions, convoy duty and inshore patrol. The squadron flew a total of 6150 hours, averaging more than 800 hours a month in weather often extremely hazardous for flying.

The squadron made three single-plane flights over the northern Kuriles, which are located just north of Japan proper. Other special missions included the rescue of the pilot of an army P-40 who was forced down off Kanaga Island in the Aleutians. He was located a short time before he would have succumbed to the intense cold. Two navy aircrewmembers ferried the army pilot in a rubber life raft through the rough water between the island and the rescue plane offshore.

BRENNAN IN FRANCE

Cpl. Leo J. Brennan Jr., 1133 Grant, is among the medics of the 55th medical battalion service with the 6th army group in France. The duty of the men of the 55th is to handle the treatment of casualties from first treatment of cleansing the wounds, performing blood transfusions and remedying shock. The 55th battalion arrived overseas in December, 1943, served in northern Ireland and England before coming in on the Normandy beachhead. Later they followed through to the Rhine. The battalion has had surrendered to them, 47 German soldiers, some of whom were wounded and seeking medical attention.

NURSERIES IN CITY BROUGHT UNDER RULING

At the regular meeting of the city council on Monday night, an ordinance regulating, licensing and operation of nurseries was introduced. According to Henry Perkins, city attorney, a state law pertaining to day nurseries in operation from 4 to 12 hours daily is not applicable to the situation here.

Perkins drew up the ordinance after talking to several city officials, including Fire Chief Keith Ambrose and Orville Hamilton, acting chief of police. Perkins suggested that a settlement should be reached by the council concerning the license fee before the ordinance was read, at which time Councilman Paul O. Landry reminded the others that proper care as can be given in nurseries is urgently needed at the present time, and that the fee should not be too high. It was then decided that a fee of $3 should be required, more for control than revenue, thereby conforming with the fee demanded by the state statute pertaining to day nurseries.

The license must be filed with the police judge, after which the site of the nursery shall be thoroughly inspected by city officials before the license is granted.

Other phases of the ordinance read that the license shall expire at the end of the calendar year, and that it may not be transferred in the event that the site of the nursery is moved to a new location. An attendant must be on duty at all times, and the nursery itself may be located on the ground floor only of a building. It will be in the power of the common council to accept, refuse or revoke any license, and a hearing will be held in the case of a revocation. A fine or imprisonment may be imposed if the party is found guilty of violating the ordinance.

A sanitary inspector was sent by Acting Chief Hamilton to the day and night nursery at 1104 Crescent, declared to be in a "deplorable sanitary condition" by Fire Chief Ambrose at last week's council session. Hamilton stated that the nursery in question was found to be in much better shape, and that another inspection will be made within the near future.

TEXAS COMPANY TO DRILL FOR OIL, GAS

ST. HELENS, Ore., Feb. 20 (AP)—The Texas company today holds leases on 95,800 acres of logged-off land in Columbia county on which it plans to drill for oil and gas.

The company was lone bidder at a sale yesterday in which it paid $16,500 for the leases, posted $80,000 performance bond, and agreed to pay the county an annual rental of 15 cents an acre, less $375 for each well drilled. The agreement specifies the company must begin drilling within one year, must have equipment capable of drilling 7500 feet and must drill 5000 feet. The start is tentatively set for spring. J. H. Puls, drilling superintendent for Texas company's western division, is here inspecting locations.

Woman Sentenced For Manslaughter

YAKIMA, Feb. 20 (AP)—Superior Judge Robert J. Willis sentenced Virginia Ivey, 19, to a maximum of 20 years in the state penitentiary yesterday. The girl recently was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of 5-year-old Virgil (Butch) Langley.

Grazing Situation in Modoc Range Discussed at Confab

The grazing situation in the Modoc muledeer range was discussed at a meeting of the Shasta-Cascade subsection of the Society of American Foresters Saturday at Tulelake.

Several sections of the range are overgrazed in the vicinity of Clear lake and a field trip was made to this region and areas adjacent to the Modoc national monument.

The deer appear to be in good flesh, according to ranger officials, and considerable numbers were observed. The areas checked showed considerable overbrowsing and in the critical areas near Clear lake much browse had been entirely killed with signs of heavy use evident.

Following the field trip, a meeting was held in which George Fisher, district ranger at Modoc national forest, led a discussion involving the 1945-46 winter deer studies carried on in the area used by the interstate muledeer herd.

Detailed description of the migration route and periodic concentrations were described, showing the manner in which these migrations tied in with the overgrazed areas on the range.

The relatively low ration of bucks to does was also pointed out. The ratio now stands at one to seven and the normal ratio is one to four. The relatively low farm crop was .45 which indicates that half the does are without fawns. It was estimated that there are 20,000 deer in the region used by the interstate herd, based on strip counts during the winter months.

This study will be continued again this year and general conditions are very favorable to deer wintering in that area to date.

Several members of the Isaac Walton league from Klamath Falls were present and suggested several changes that might be made in that type of report in order to clarify some points.

Portland Cabs Deny Responsibility For Outside-City Charges

PORTLAND, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Cab Drivers union today denied its members are responsible for an extra $1 charge collected on trips outside the city limits.

Bert Garrison, union secretary, replied to charges by City Commissioner Dorothy McCullough Lee that stiff extra fares are charged by drivers "on their own impulse" for trips into the 3-mile limit outside Portland.

Garrison said the taxicab companies require the $1 charge for "even two or three blocks outside the city limits" and that drivers must collect or pay it themselves.
