

Famous Coach New Athletic Officer at Marine Barracks

Captain Lee F. Hanley, member of the famous Hanley brothers coaching staff, has arrived at the Marine Barracks and took over the duties of post athletic officer, effective Thursday.

Captain Hanley is the brother of Lt. Col. Richard E. (Dick) Hanley, former head football mentor at Northwestern university, and Lt. Col. Leroy B. (Pat) Hanley, who served as head grid coach at Boston university for a number of years.

He brings a wealth of athletic experience to Klamath Falls, both as a player and coach. He started his football career at the University of Washington, where he played for one year. He then transferred to Northwestern, where he played under his brother, Dick, from 1928-31. The Wildcats captured the Big Ten title in 1930-31 and Hanley was named All-American right half in 1930.

After he graduated from Northwestern, Hanley was signed by the Indianapolis baseball club of the American association, but left at the end of the season to take a job as head football coach at the University of South Carolina. With Hanley at the helm, South Carolina won the state championship, the first it had acquired in 27 years.

Prompted by his brothers, Dick and Pat, who were head coach and line coach, respectively, at Northwestern at that time, Lee left South Carolina at the end of the year and moved to Evanston, Ill., where he rounded out the famous Hanley combination as backfield coach.

Hanley, who has won honors in all sports, including football, baseball and basketball, is glad to be back in the northwest. He said, "I'm looking forward very enthusiastically to living in the northwest again and I am anticipating the various activities that my job will include on this post. It has been a long time since I was last here—it was way back in 1927."

Scandinavian Scooters Run Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—There'll be 245 college athletes going through their paces at Madison Square Garden in the IC-4A track meet tonight but most of the crowd's interest will be centered upon Gunder Haegg and Haakon Lidman, Scandinavian scooters.

Haegg will make his broad debut in the Louis S. Zamperini invitational race against four of the best American milers now in training and has said he doesn't expect to defeat Jim Rafferty of New York, unbeaten in five races at the distance this season.

Oregon Quints Face Deciding Contests

By The Associated Press
Already crowned district titlists:

Class A—Baker (1), Medford (4), Myrtle Point (5), Eugene (6), Lebanon (7), Oregon City (12), Gresham (13), Vernonia (14), Washington of Portland (15-16).

Class B—Clatskanie (1), Dayton (2), Rogue River (5), Arlington (6), Grant Union of John Day (7), Enterprise (8).

Three more baby B schools were district crown today as Oregon prep basketball teams moved into the season's most contest-packed weekend.

Clatskanie, Columbia-Clatsop champion, overwhelmed Sherman of Washington-Tillamook leader, by 38-20 last night to capture the district 1B title.

Dayton, Yamhill-Polk leader, downed the Chemawa Indians, three-county winners, for the district 2B crown.

Clatskanie and Dayton will now battle for a berth in the state tourney. Third new B champ is Rogue River, Jackson-Josephine county champion, which steamrollered Merrill of Wood, Washington-Tillamook leader, by 38-20 last night to capture the district 1B title.

State tourney spots still hung in the balance today. Gresham, once defeated by Vernonia for a tourney seat, deadlocked the three-game series with a 46-42 victory last night. The third game was set for Scappoose March 6.

The Eugene Axemen came up from behind to edge a 48-46 victory over Myrtle Point in the first of three contests, for another tourney seat.

Throughout the state class A prepsters are battling for the still undecided district titles which must all be awarded by tomorrow. Prineville advanced to the district 3 finals by defeating Redmond, 42-25, last night. Prineville meets Bend tonight in the championship tilt.

In the opener of a tourney for the district 8 crown, McMinnville steamrollered Dallas and Newberg did the same for Williams. McMinnville victory over Newberg in the Tualatin-Yamhill valley league, is favored for the championship tilt tonight.

Salem and Woodburn meet tonight for the district 11 crown. Woodburn, undefeated in the double elimination tourney, would clinch the title by downing the Vikings, but a victory for once-beaten Salem would require another tilt.

In the district 3B tourney at Junction City, Pleasant Hill and Oakridge advanced to the finals by defeating Philomath and Alesia. The victors play for the crown tonight.

Reedsport and Langlois will tangle tonight for the district 4B championship, with new curl Reedsport, which has beaten several class A teams, a heavy favorite. Reedsport overwhelmed Coos River and Langlois beat Glendale in the opening rounds of a tourney at Coos Bay last night.

Prepdom's most unorthodox contest is underway at Hillsboro, where districts 9 and 10 are selecting a state tournament entrant without choosing individual district titlists. Last night's play saw Hillsboro overwhelm Forest Grove; Astoria beat Tillamook, and Seaside steamrollered Tigard. Beaverton drew a bye.

SEALS SIGN VETERAN
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 3 (AP)—The San Francisco Seals of the Pacific coast baseball league signed on a war veteran yesterday for a trial. He's Wally Ewing, former Wenatchee, Wash., Western International league right-handed pitcher, who lost some fingers in action.

Cougars Top Idaho Club, 48-33

Washington State Hoopmen Move Up One More Notch; Hansen Beats Scoring Mark

MOSCOW, Idaho, March 3 (AP)—Vince Hanson, the tall Tacoma, caged 14 points to set a new northern division Pacific coast conference, record last night as Washington State college trounced the University of Idaho 48 to 33 to move with in one game of a playoff shot at the division crown.

The teams met again tonight, this time at nearby Pullman, while Oregon State and Oregon are completing their regular schedules at Eugene. Another victory for WSC would send the Cougars into a tie and a playoff with the winner of the Eugene fracas.

A giant killing performance by Idaho tonight would hand the title to the winning Oregon team.

Hanson, who went into the game needing only a point to crack the 16-game record of 224 points hung up in 1943 by another Cougar, Gale Bishop, wasted little time in salting down the old mark. He dropped in a pair of free throws right after the gun to tie the game score at 2-all and WSC was never behind again.

Idaho rallied sharply, however, after the half found it trailing 22-11. Sparked by Charles Shiferl and Len Pyne, the Vandals cut the margin to 24-22 and then to 26-25 before Hanson began finding the range to give WSC a steadily increasing edge.

Hanson now has a chance to break the 20-game record of 249 points chalked up in 1938 by Laddie Gale of Oregon, needing only 12 points to surpass it. Gale's record was made in the only year a 20-game schedule was played.

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Willie Joyce upset Ike Williams in their 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night and thereby threw next month's scheduled NBA lightweight title bout between Williams and Juan Zurita, of Mexico City, into confusion.

Pete Moran, matchmaker for Herman Taylor, promoter of the title bout in Philadelphia, said the bout would go through as scheduled on April 9. However, Charley Schuster, manager of Joyce, said he would "holler" to Abe Greene, president of the NBA, that Joyce should replace Williams.

Joyce, who last fall beat Williams at Philadelphia as a 4 to 1 underdog only to lose the decision in a second bout with the Trenton, N. J., lightweight, jabbed and stabbed his way to victory last night. In the 12th round he brought the crowd of 13,131 (gross gate $60,637) to its feet by knocking Williams into the ropes and all but scoring a kayo victory.

"From Somewhere In Belgium"

Yesterday we were the recipients of an excerpt from an interesting letter written by Lt. Walter H. Stastny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stastny of Malin, to his parents. Lt. Stastny is now stationed with the medical administrative corps of the U. S. army somewhere in Belgium.

It seems that he and his buddies heard that there were some deer and boar lurking in a forest near where they were stationed. Not being men to let grass grow under their feet, Lt. Stastny and his cronies decided immediately to do a little hunting, other than searching out Jerries, and go in pursuit of the elusive quarry.

"I got an 8 mm. German Mauser bolt action rifle similar to my Winchester .30-06 at home," said Lt. Stastny, "which one of the fellows picked up on our march through France. The other fellows had guns of every description.

"We started out about 1 o'clock in the afternoon hunting through the woods. The going was tough as the snow was about 12 inches deep. After walking for about an hour, I picked out a spot and sat down to eat a candy bar and rest a little. As I was sitting there I thought of the many good times we had back in the States hunting and how good it was to be hunting deer again and forget about the war even for only a little while. (However, I could hear the sound of artillery about 15 miles away)."

The lieutenant goes on to say that he decided to search for a better spot and was looking around when he caught sight of a herd of deer. "I tried to get a good bead at them," he wrote, "but every time I got a fair bead on one it would move out of sight.

"Finally I lost sight of them altogether, and was silently cursing myself for not taking a chance shot. I sneaked along the edge of the woods trying to find them again, and sure enough, they made a little circle and started back.

"There were about five of them, but the brush was so thick I couldn't get a good shot. Finally I found an opening by which they would pass, and as the first one came along, I pulled the trigger. It snapped, but the shell didn't fire. I cursed and pumped in another shell and took aim at another one that was passing in the opening. It fired this time and the deer jumped up in the air and took off like a streak of lightning, ran for about 50 yards, and went over to where it lay and found it stone dead. It was shot right behind the front leg through the top of the heart. The steel jacket bullet went right through, but didn't knock it down like a regular deer cartridge would. The deer weighed about 170 pounds, as big as our mule deer, but they're a little darker color."

His whole outfit enjoyed a good feed, due to his superlative marksmanship, which he learned while tramping through the Oregon woods. It seems to us significant that even while involved in the grim and bitter business of war, a few Americans could take time out to enjoy to the utmost a sport they associate with the thing they love and think of most—home.

Weed Assassin Annihilates Gloomy Gust in Main Event

Pete Belcastro, the Weed assassin, disproved the old theory that "crime doesn't pay" last night when he walloped Gloomy Gust Johnson in the headgear on the crunch card at the armory.

Pete used every trick in the book, and some that aren't in, in bouncing his opponent. All was not clear sailing for the rugged Californian, however, as Johnson grabbed the first flop with his favorite leg-stretch that was a bit more than Pete bargained for.

In the fourth canto a wild series of forearm wallops, Sonnenburg butts, and dropkicks were exchanged until Pete laid a particularly well-placed boot on Gust's jaw. Johnson went down like a poled ox and Pete seized his advantage to apply a surfboard, from which Johnson was unable to return, to take the fall and match.

In the semi-windup scuffle, Georges Dusette, the powerful French-Canadian, put on a great exhibition of sheer strength to top Joltin' Jack Kiser.

Jack got off to a flying start by taking the first tumble with a reverse crab, but Dusette bulged his biceps and came back to toss Kiser all over the ring with rolling wrist locks and savage body slams.

In the third heat Georges Kiser a terrific full-Nelson on Klapper that made Jack's head bob up, down, and sideways like an apple in a heavy sea. With Dusette providing this kind of treatment, Kiser decided discretion was the better part of valor, and threw in the towel.

With the count at a fall apiece, the muscular muscled from Canada proceeded to settle down to work and laid Jack low for the evening with another sensational full-Nelson. Before the main event Georges again hurled a challenge at the "Grey Mask" to the wild cheers of the fans, who seem willing to lay six, two, and even that at last they have found the muscleman to flop the hooded hoodlum.

"Blood and Guts" Davidson and Wild Billy McEuen crunched craniums to a draw in the opening brawl that saw both boys gain a fall apiece.

Rogues Rap Merrill Five, 20-12

Klamath Wildcats Wallop Medford Varsity 2nd Team In Preliminary Tilt, 50-29

ASHLAND, March 3 (AP)—Rogue River turned back Merrill 20-12 in a slow game here last night to win the district 5B basketball championship.

The Rogues will play Arlington at Medford Monday and Tuesday nights for a berth in the state tournament at Salem. A third game, if necessary, will take place at Arlington.

Rogue River snatched the lead early in the first period and was ahead all the way. The first quarter ended 6-3, with the half tending the winners ahead 14-4. The third period ended 20-9 for the Rogues, who failed to tally in the fourth frame.

The victors played safe ball to protect their margin. Dimick, Rogue captain, paced the game with 10 counters, all collected in the first half. The game was called clean, with 12 personals called on Merrill and 10 on Rogue River. Huntton, Rogue center, was outstanding on backboard control, giving his team the rebounds.

In the preliminary clash, Coach Paul Angstead's Wildcats pulled out a stunning victory over the Medford varsity second string to the tune of 50 to 29.

The fighting Cats held a slim 22 to 18 lead at the end of the first half, but ran wild in the two final frames to gain a lopsided triumph.

Craig canned 17 markers for the Klamath club, followed by Crawford with 11. Stelle and House, both members of the Medford varsity squad, collected nine apiece.

Portland Eagles Take Thrilling Overtime Clash

PORTLAND, March 3 (AP)—Portland's Eagles roosted today within half a game of the Pacific Coast league's northern division leading Seattle Ironmen after an overtime hockey thriller last night which earned them a 6-5 victory over the Vancouver Vanguards.

With one second of the regular playing time remaining and Vancouver ahead, 5-4, Eddie Shamlock rammed home a wild shot to knot the count. In the overtime, Morin passed to Al Carr for the Portland goal while Vancouver's Clavochuck was in the penalty box.

Gale Bishop Paces Warriors to Win

MARYSVILLE, Calif., March 3 (AP)—PFC Gale Bishop boiled along at his normal temperature last night, canning 27 points as his Fort Lewis Warriors knocked over Fort Ord, 59-42, in the ninth service command basketball tournament.

Camp Ross downed McCaw General Hospital of Walla Walla in another game, 45-35, and will meet Fort Ord this morning for the right to play the Bishop gang tonight for the championship.

Umpire Rec To Comment 31st Season

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Billy McGowan, baseball's "Crownman," is getting ready to start his 31st season as umpire in the majors.

McGowan, dean of major league umpires, broke into the big time in 1925, and has since won 16 consecutive titles until arthritis laid him out two days in 1942.

Billy has no actual record in the games he officiated, skipping one, but it figures about 2600. Gehrig's record was 2150.

In the umpires' dressing room during the last world series the question came up as to an arbitrator has the longest ice record.

McGowan, George Fox and Ernie Stewart of the National League, and Ziggy Tom Dunn and Lou Johnson of the American League, were in the field that day.

Someone remarked "Beans" Heard, veteran National League umpire, was probably "Pop" of them all. Heard responded to be visiting his officials at the time, and teased:

"I'm the senior umpire in the National League, but McGowan has the longest service record of the majors, topping me by a year."

33RD PERFECT GAME
CHICAGO, March 3 (AP)—Rudy Bomar, national amateur match game bowling champion and co-holder of the world doubles title, rolled his 33rd perfect game yesterday. He bowled games of 246 and 257 for series.

Former Arky Grid Coach Predicts Boom in Sports

By VINCE GULLETTE
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 3 (AP)—Lt. Col. Fred C. Thomsen, former University of Arkansas football coach, said today that "the greatest boom of all time in college athletics is in the making."

To the coaches who have been having trouble fielding a team even with the aid of the water-boy, he brought this observation from two years service in China.

"A very large percentage of the boys in the army want to finish college. Most of them were just kids when they entered and they will be back better athletes for their war experience.

"Add those fellows to our normal number of recruits and you see what we will have—more manpower than we know what to do with."

"Everything from a shovel to a ball had to be flown over the hump," Thomsen recalled. "Gas and bombs rated the priorities and there never were enough of those. So we had to improvise what the men couldn't bring in as personal baggage."

The Colonel amassed 500 hours in the air in flying the hump from Burma to China, mostly to bring in equipment.

"It took six months to get the first American basketball," he said. "Before that we played with Chinese equipment. Basketballs were lopsided and about twice the size of ours." Basketball hoops came from metal out of a wrecked plane.

He reported the Chinese army played basketball on a large scale "and we had to bow our necks to beat them."

Softball is the other chief sport in the China theater. Regular baseball is popular, too, Thomsen said, but finding a spot large enough for a field—that isn't planted to rice—is difficult.

The equipment shortage plagues softball, too. A major triumph was a softball league of 54 teams at Kunming, which completed play shortly before Thomsen's return to America, with only three sets of equipment.
