Lakeview

LAKEVIEW, (Special)—At a meeting Wednesday of the official board of the Methodist church, it was voted to pay off the debt on the church building. At some future date the bishop of the church will come here, at which time the mortgage will be burned. In the meantime, the church is being redecorated throughout and plans are being made for the installation of a furnace.

The annual meeting of the Lakeview Water Users Inc., will be held at the Westside grange hall beginning promptly at 10 a. m., Monday, April 2. Progress of the cooperative will be out- lined by Manager Harry R. Sandquist, and Art King, exten- sion specialist in soils and irri- gation from OSC will discuss land-leveling and other reorgani- zation practices in connection with irrigation. E. R. Jackman, extension specialist in farm crops from OSC, will discuss cash crops for Westside farmers.

John Etcheverry, local wool- grower, has been lambing his band of ewes the past 10 days or two weeks in the Dry Creek district of the Goose Lake valley. The state report indicates that with favorable weather and ample feed, the early lamb crop has developed well. The report further indicates that the per- centage lamb crop is about the same as last year, which was quite good. Of course, the num- ber of ewes are down this year compared with last. In Califor- nia, mild temperatures and well- distributed early winter rainfall brought on an abundant new grass cover over most of the im- portant early lambing areas, and early lambs are making good growth in that state.

Maps showing the dominant species of adult grasshoppers in 1944 and the grasshopper infesta- tion in 1945 have been received from the division of grasshopper control at Denver, Colo. These maps reveal that the infestation is threatening in the Sycan marsh area and that there will be a light infestation through Summer lake, Chewaucan and Abert Lake valleys in 1945. The dominant species that we will have to combat in Lake county this year is the annula pellicu- da.

The community cannery is now an assured thing for Lake county women for at least another season. It was thought for a while that the cannery would have to be given up for lack of a building, but due to the efforts of a number of inter- ested people and the purchase of the building in which the cannery equipment is now in- stalled, the women will be able to put up a good supply of canned foods, so necessary to the community's well-being at this time.

The Soroptimist club has adopted the project of raising the necessary funds for the can- nery operations. The club is ex- pecting the support of the entire community in helping them see that the cannery has the required funds to go on.

An immunization clinic for diphtheria and smallpox vac- cination for Lakeview pre- school and grade school children will be held during the first week in April at Central school, dates to be announced later. The clinic is sponsored by the Lake County Public Health associa- tion and Dr. Joycelin Robertson will handle the immunizing and vaccinating.

The house of representatives, Washington D. C., has voted a $1000 payment to Mrs. Donna Mae McNulty, Yreka, Calif., for dental services her husband, Dr. Stanley McNulty, now a prisoner of war, gave civilians on Guam prior to the Japanese in- vasion, according to word reach- ing here this week.

Dr. McNulty, a native of Yreka, was employed by the navy as a civilian dentist on Guam prior to Pearl Harbor. He practiced dentistry in Tulelake, leaving here for his post on Guam. When the island was taken by the Japanese he was interned and was being held in Kobe prison, Japan, when last heard from some time ago.

His wife and three sons, Stan- ley, born in the United States and Don and Jon, born on Guam, are now living in the San Fran- cisco bay district. Let's raid the icebox... Have a Coca-Cola

... a way to make a party an added success

At home, the good things of life come from the kitchen. And one of the good things is ice-cold Coca-Cola in the icebox. Have a Coke are words that make the kitchen the center of attraction for the teen-age set. For Coca-Cola never loses the freshness of its appeal, nor its unending refreshment. No wonder Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes from Maine to California,—has become a symbol of happy, refreshing times together everywhere.

You naturally hear Coca-Cola called by its friendly abbreviation "Coke". Both mean the quality product of The Coca-Cola Company.

Meet the "workhorse" of the railroads

Not glamorous, not a "show-off"—the unpretentious box car. You never see it bristling with Sherman tanks, 105 mm howitzers, 10-ton trucks and jeeps, like the flat cars and gondolas. It's just a modest workhorse—doing one of the biggest war transportation jobs of all.

When you see a mile-long string of box cars, just think of this. These plain, unassuming cars are carrying the war to Japan. Inside are airplane engines, parts to outfit ships, medical supplies for our men in the Pacific, millions of tons of foodstuffs and ammunition and small arms.

For nearly all the war cargo that goes to sea, goes by rail first. And this huge transportation job is just as important as fast production in our war factories.

The humble box car best symbolizes the fact that transportation is not the job of one railroad. It's the job of all railroads working closely together—pooling their resources and exchanging equipment and facilities.

That is why you see on Southern Pacific rails the box cars of nearly every railroad in the country—New York

Central, Erie, L & N, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Burlington, Rock Island, Pennsylvania, Southern, Western Pacific, and Santa Fe to name just a few.

As the pressure on Japan increases, you will see an increasing number of war freights rolling on Southern Pacific's 15,000 miles of line. That's because Southern Pacific serves the major West Coast ports of embarkation and more military and naval establishments than any other railroad.

When you see these freight cars, representing almost every railroad, let it remind you how all the railroads are working closely together to deliver the stuff our fighting men need—on time!
