

Council Hears Plea For Home for Man On Construction Job

Klamath's crowded housing conditions were under consideration by the city council Monday night when Marvin Hough, plumber, sought permission to move a trailer house on to land occupied by the Montgomery Plumbing company on Washburn way and Radcliffe.

He stated that he would comply with city sanitary regulations if allowed to use the trailer house, but councilmen objected that others would immediately seek permission to live in trailer houses inside the city if his request was granted. They pointed out that other construction workers and service men would use this means of solving their housing problems, and that home owners might object if trailers were placed near their property.

The construction worker agreed that the city had a problem, but said that his own was to furnish a decent home for his two children and this seemed the only way. He requested action on it as soon as possible in order that he might know what to do. The matter was referred to the police committee, building inspector, and city engineer at the suggestion of Councilman Rollin Cantrall, who said he would "hate to see the permission granted."

The tree-sidewalk problem was brought up when it was pointed out that roots were breaking up walks in the city, and that the trees should be removed. Councilman Paul Landry suggested that it was unwise for the council to act in any way that would discourage the planting of trees as they were needed for the beautification of the town.

City Engineer E. A. Thomas that pointed out that no one need stop planting trees, but suggested that careful planning as to their location would end trouble with sidewalks and sewers.

The purchase of two acres of land near the Great Northern tracks for the city dog pond was authorized, and the city attorney was directed to draw up an ordinance to this effect. The submitted price of $75 per acre was agreed upon.

A request from the Lincoln Street grocery owner to pave the parking strip in front of the store and to repair the curbing at his own cost was referred to the zoning and planning committees. Cantrall, in moving that the matter be referred, suggested that all such problems be acted upon by these committees.

An ordinance creating a police equipment and replacement fund was passed. The fund will be built up during the years when equipment is

Sorry... NO WARD WEEK THIS SPRING

This ad does NOT announce WARD WEEK, which usually comes at this time of the year. It does announce, however, a selection of timely merchandise, at Wards traditional low prices. Some of the items have been cut in price, too, in full accordance with WPB's regulations. But, because these regulations won't permit us to cut all the prices, and because merchandise shortages prevent us from bringing you all the things you usually expect in WARD WEEK, we do not feel justified in calling this a Ward Week sale. Obviously, we all expect shortages these days. America's factories are busy filling vital war orders, and merchandise for civilian use cannot be plentiful. But, in spite of shortages, we think you'll be pleasantly surprised by the merchandise in this advertisement. Study it carefully. You'll find that Wards, as always, brings you the best quality possible, at the economy prices traditional at Montgomery Ward.
