FARM CENSUS TO DETERMINE LABOR EXTENT

A count of the number of persons, 14-years-old and over, employed on farms in Klamath county is being made by enumerators of the bureau of census, department of commerce, as one of the principal features of the 1945 census of agriculture now underway. This enumeration will provide information on the extent of the farm labor force in this county after three years of war, and its drain on the farm population, according to R. L. Ackerman, supervisor of the 1945 census in this district.

The agricultural labor force count now in progress throughout the nation, a statement received by Ackerman from Census Director J. C. Capt at Washington points out, will provide detailed information on the number of farms in each of the country's more than 3000 counties related to the number of persons employed on farms classified in three groups—farm operators, unpaid members of the operators' families and hired farm operators.

At the time of the 1940 farm census, five years ago and two years before the entry of this country into World War II, there were 6,098,799 farms in the United States. Of these, 5,321,248 farms reported 9,694,168 persons working, with 5,081,848 farms reporting 7,940,727 members of the farm operators' families working on the farm, while 892,648 farms also reported employment of 1,753,441 persons as hired labor.

According to recent estimates of the census bureau, the U. S. civilian population was 25,700,000 in October of 1940, but had decreased to 4,410,000 from the 1940 census total of 30,394,000.

Proponents of the proposed $100,000,000 in grants to the local governments won their battle, at least temporarily, by a 22 to 17 vote. Adoption of the amendment automatically necessitated sending the bills out to be reprinted, hence final passage would have been delayed even if notices of reconsideration had not been made.

Immediately after the subsidies roll call, late yesterday afternoon, an attempt to further amend the governor's program by cutting the sales tax another half-cent for an estimated reduction of upwards of $40,000,000 a biennium in state levies, was defeated 35 to 4.

Guests for Easter Sunday 10:30 breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hackler, were the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. Howland and son Bobbie of Klamath hatchery; Mr. and Mrs. Noal Caywood of Klamath Agency; Alice Bishop of the Waves, from Klamath Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. MacQuiston of Fort Klamath.

Postwar Plans Asked For Portland Budget
PORTLAND, April 17 (P)—The city council asked commissioners today to submit their most important postwar projects for inclusion in the new budget. A predicted $1,000,000 cash balance at the end of the year may be used for postwar projects of smaller scope than those already authorized or included in the June 22 special election.

LOUISVILLE, April 17 (P)—Crisis hit a cafe when two waiters attempting to serve 150 diners suddenly walked out. Two regular patrons donned aprons and finished the job with the remark "We gotta eat." They received 85 cents in tips.

TAX PROGRAM STILL TO BE DETERMINED

SACRAMENTO, April 17 (P)—Governor Warren's tax reduction program received considerable of a tossing around but was still on the senate file today with its final form yet to be determined.

Held up by notices of motions to reconsider adopted amendments, the four bills purposing continuation of the $100,000,000 1943 tax cuts another two years, now are rigidly but not irrevocably tied to the principle of subventions to cities and counties through car-markings to establish a local postwar construction fund.

Proponents of the proposed $100,000,000 in grants to the local governments won their battle, at least temporarily, by a 22 to 17 vote. Adoption of the amendment automatically necessitated sending the bills out to be reprinted, hence final passage would have been delayed even if notices of reconsideration had not been made.

Our Home Town

For World Peace
By EARL WHITLOCK
Just my own personal opinion, but we are all interested in the success of the great Peace Conference at San Francisco, and anyone's opinion is in order on such a vital subject.

And I wonder if the delegates will pay enough attention to the matter of a truly free press and free radio to all countries of the world, as an assurance of permanent peace. I wonder, too, if there is anything more important to our aims.

I question if any nation, anywhere, anytime, would make war on its fellows, or if any would-be world ruler could gain supreme leadership, if there were both press and radio, free to get after him if so minded, and to give the other side of any national question which presented itself.

Men everywhere who may listen to and read both sides of any question are pretty apt to reach a decision that will not involve war. Civilized men, that is, I do not include in that category the unspeakable Japs and Nazis who will have to be civilized by education. But even with them, the assurance of a completely free press and radio would be of the greatest aid in the process of reconditioning their minds.
