

Regional Meeting of PTA Held at Ashland

The regional meeting of PTA which was held in Ashland was attended by 196 delegates, 56 of which were from Klamath county. After the opening ceremonies, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Harry H. George, president of the Oregon congress of PTA.

The first speaker, Mrs. Katherine Read of Oregon State college, spoke on "A Changing Family in a Changing World," and stressed the need of keeping pace with new values, of seeking greater understanding and emotional control, because of its cause and effect on the development of a child.

Mrs. O. C. Ufford, a regional vice president of the national congress, told how PTA has been instrumental in improving child welfare by labor laws, improved school lunches and measures that will mean better education in nutrition and health for the child of today, the citizen of tomorrow.

Mrs. H. H. George reported a growing state membership of over 41,500, and the need for a continued membership drive. She also reported on the constant efforts of the congress for improved legislation for education and health.

Mr. M. B. Winslow, superintendent of schools at Ashland, reminded mothers of the large part they play in the education of the child—that home is the nursery of humanity, and that with schools, parents mould the character of the adult citizen.

Mrs. Mel Hogen of the Medford League of Women Voters outlined the Dumbarton Oaks peace plan, and explained that everyone has a part in making and keeping the peace. Many of the present parts of the plan are subject to change at the conference at San Francisco on April the twenty-fifth, and the PTA representatives at the conference are anxious for everyone to study the plan and write them as citizens, think improvements might be made.
