Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

IT will be most disillusioning if it proves to be true, as German broadcasts claim today, that Adolf Hitler has elected to stay in Berlin to make his last stand.

General assumption has been that the fuehrer and his close henchmen would hide like rats in their "mountain redoubt," and would have to be driven out as befits rats. If they have actually stayed to face the Russian fury, they have more courage than has been given them credit.

EPLEY

Hitler has always been an expert at diabolical planning. We cannot escape the thought that he has some spectacular, devilish scheme up his sleeve for the final moment.

It's not likely to be anything that will brighten his place in history.

Cancer Drive

A STATEWIDE campaign is on to raise funds for the fight against cancer, which took 53 lives in Klamath county alone last year.

Because the community fund campaign was operated last fall with the public understanding that it would combine as many as possible of the public financial drives, it has been decided to put Klamath's cancer fund campaign in the 1945 community and drive.

Our quota was a little less than $2000. The community fund executive committee met and officially placed that in the 1945 over-all quota.

The cancer campaign is a most worthy cause, and Dave Simpson of Portland, the state chairman, is a good friend of Klamath county. We must not fail to raise the full amount needed next fall.

Klamath people, who recognize the worthiness of this cause, are asked to remember what has been done, and to give more liberally to the community fund.

Teen Age Club

THE Teen-age club opened auspiciously Saturday night. The rooms in the Armory building, we found upon visiting the club, are quite ample for the purpose, and all indications at the opening occasion pointed to success.

Let us here say just a word to teen-agers: If you do want this place to be a success, and to escape criticism that might bring trouble to a fine project, take it upon yourselves to see to it that orderliness prevails at all times at the club.

Make it your business to stop any rowdyism before it starts. A little rough fun can lead to a lot of trouble.

The Klamath Teen-age club is the product of constructive student leadership, backed by student and adult help. We think it has the makings of an outstanding local institution.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, April 23—Mr. Truman called in privately most of the American delegation to this world conference soon after he took office (several days before the announced conference).

He told them they had their instructions from Mr. Roosevelt and he did not wish to change those instructions in any particular. His words implied that while he could not go with them, he would hold them responsible for following every detail of the Roosevelt plan.

The plan, of course, has not been made public, any more than was this Truman warning, but it can be outlined upon the highest living authority as running along this following line:

We must not fail to establish the Dumbarton League of the United Nations, no matter what its defects, or the limitations placed upon our program. We must do this because our first duty is to do everything possible to see that war cannot happen again. The next war would destroy civilization.

No matter what we think the best answer to peace is, we must come out of this meeting with a final formula for international relationships. To do this we must give and take. But essentially we must make a beginning toward peace.

We have taken two or three big initial steps (Atlantic charter, Dumbarton, Livadia) and we are now ready for the next. We must succeed in this one. We cannot afford to fail. We cannot stick it out for perfection. We must make some start, whatever it is.

This is the explanation behind all recent Roosevelt-Truman international policy developments as well as the official background tone and guide for the conference.

* * *

May Have Had Doubts

IN my opinion, there was a time a few weeks back when the late Mr. Roosevelt and his State Secretary Stettinius may have had their doubts about going ahead. Their inability to gain their most important objectives for small nations and full democratic freedoms universally may well have disappointed them, and at that time there was a chance this conference might have been called off.

Evidently they decided in favor of the above outlined course, and since then after direct request, Britain changed its mind and sent its Foreign Minister Eden and Stalin changed and sent the equally ranking Molotov.

This conference, in accordance with these objectives, is to be thrown wide open. It is to be a free forum for airing the causes of the little people primarily. Officially, Mr. Stettinius has been saying it will last four or five weeks, but is more likely to last a couple of months.

Discussion of everything is to be allowed. Every nation will be invited to say all it wishes. The Dumbarton Oaks setup is to be thrown literally upon the table, as if to say to all:

"Here it is; go to it."

Any hope that such a program can be concluded in 4 or 5 weeks is, therefore, concededly optimistic.

In the end, if there are "not too many changes" in the Dumbarton proposal, the conference will be judged by the government to have been a success.

* * *

Differ on Fundamentals

NOW some authorities may well differ with these fundamental conclusions of the government. The alternative to Dumbarton Oaks is not necessarily chaos or another world war. Rather it is bi-lateral agreements or hemisphere defense or spheres of influence maintained by individual understandings and alliances and substitute courses for peace.

These do not necessarily require wars, or make them any more likely, than a weak or impractical formula for a league, containing, as this one does, the right of big nations to veto any interference with their own wars—and no disarmament.

It is unreasonable to say that unless any specific course is followed there will be another world war, or, as the emotional extremist Mr. Wallace, to contend that anyone who is against his tariff views is "advocating another world war." Nonsense propaganda of this nature might trap the administration later if San Francisco fails of its hopes in any particular by leading people unnecessarily to rush into another war.

But failure at San Francisco is unlikely. Whether or not the course is best, a rather general domestic political agreement for it has already been reached. No opposition is expressing itself anywhere. Doubters have been content to say:

"Try it if you will, although we do not believe it can possibly justify your expectations of preventing future wars."

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)— The stock market tried to go through its 8-year average high today but, while strong spots persisted, profit taking on the lengthy upswing was sufficient to restrict the move.

WHEAT

CHICAGO, April 23 (AP)—Wheat and rye frequently were up more than a cent and other grain futures markets were firm today. Offerings at times were extremely light and there was a general demand from commission houses and pit traders.

At Minneapolis May wheat traded at $1.69¼, up 1¼c to the futures ceiling, and the July contract was strong, gaining more than two cents.

The heavy demand for cash wheat in the northwest accounted for the strength of the market which affected prices on the Chicago board.

A survey of leading flour mills, trade sources reported, disclosed the industry has about 18 days supply of grain on hand compared with a normal working stock for 45 to 60 days.

Shortly before the close a flurry of buying lifted prices to new highs for the session but the rally encouraged profit cashing and some of the gains were lost.

At the finish wheat was 1¼c lower to 1¼c higher than Saturday's close, May $1.73½. Corn was up ⅛ to 1c, May $1.13½. Oats were unchanged to ¼c higher, May 64c. Rye was up 1¼c to 2¼c, May $1.32⅞-1.33. Barley was 1¼c to 1¼c higher, May $1.09¼.

Democracy and Communism

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., (To the Editor)—For some articles I have written, I have been severely criticized by some, saying that I upheld Russian communism—they did not read where I said I was glad I was an American.

I will go into detail, and as I see it, tell the difference between Americanism or true democracy and communism.

Some say communism is the Christian principle, as taught by Christ. It is far from it—Christ taught individualism, forcing no one to any ism. If a person wanted to be damned, he had a right to choose his path.

Fascism, nazism and communism all work on the same principle. The individual is subservient to the centralisms of industry and mode of life.

Germany, during the last quarter of the last century and the first quarter of this century, was working to put all in a dependent state. There were no tramps—everyone had to work.

We have hoboes and tramps in this America, but what of it? I would rather be a tramp or have my kith and kin as tramps, than to be told when to work, when to quit and how much to do.

The American republic has reached its great power, high mode of living and happy homes, because its citizens from the time of its formation have been fearless promoters. If I have to take a secondary place in life, it is okeh to me. In America, we are not restricted in our efforts to climb. Many lowly individuals have reached the top.

As I said of Russian mode of government, it is not a system fitted to America, but the people of the East are not imbued with the same ambition and freedom of living as Americans. The Eastern people need a strong hand to put them in the furrow, and a living way that is not starvation as they have had for centuries.

The Europeans, most of them coming to this country since our republic was formed, came here for freedom of thought and initiative. They were glad to escape restriction and military service. They were pioneers and promoters.

A person here has a chance to climb. I was 50 years old when I started a four-year college course. I had little—I worked my way through and graduated. I have done well enough since. Where is there another country that this could be done?

The United States is a true democracy in every sense. No so-called democracy is such, with dukes, lords and favored ones.

I quote from Hayek:

"Democracy seeks equality in liberty; socialism seeks equality in restraint and servitude."

Our democracy has its faults, but every person, man or woman has the vote and can make corrections. We elect both houses of our congress. We have no house of lords.

In a true democracy, every sane-thinking person wants to see everyone happy and contented. It does my heart good to see the many houses, some small, where the home is the man's castle and inviolate. He has the benefit of the four freedoms. That is why most of us have our young kith and kin fighting—it is to continue our ideas of government.

Dr. W. P. Taber,
4060 Shasta way.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 23 (AP)—Local newspapers ran a story about the "meanest thief" who stole a 35-pound turkey John Baker, 16, was saving for his soldier brother in Germany.

Next day John received an unsigned apology—and $15 in cash.

From the files — 40 years ago and 10 years ago.

From the Klamath Republican April 27, 1905

J. Frank Adams said today that he will send his dredge to Laird's landing on Lower Klamath lake, to make way for a dock to be constructed there. A good wagon road has been completed from the terminus of the McCloud railroad to Laird's, a distance of 40 miles. This will give Klamath county people cheaper freight rates.
