PEOPLE on the streets of towns like Klamath Falls look with mingled hope and skepticism

EPLEY

Such incidents on the lighter side were typical the first few days and not out of line

Each individual's thinking contributes to the mass psychology. Each of us needs to express the faith that will make the peace of the future safer.

Making It Easy A LOT of old clothing has been dug out of Klamath's closets, attics and basements

On that day, the campaign committee will send pick-up trucks over the city to gather up the clothing right off the curbs.

Teachers Pay EVIDENCE that the Klamath school boards have sought to maintain fair salary standards

Here are the comparative rates of pay: For teachers with two years of training—Portland $2680, Klamath Falls $2540, Eugene $2108, Salem $1830.

For teachers with three years of training—Portland $2800, Klamath Falls $2673, Eugene $2298, Salem $2100.

For teachers with B. A. degrees—Portland $3100, Klamath Falls $2807, Eugene $2466, Salem $2220.

For teachers with Master's degree—Portland $3300, Klamath Falls $2982, Eugene $2634, Salem $2400.

Competition for good teaching material has risen steadily in recent years. Salem, which doesn't show up well in this comparison, is holding a special election to get authorization for a bonus that will reduce the difference between the salaries paid the capital city teachers and those in Portland and Klamath Falls.

News Behind the News By PAUL MALLON

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27—The news from here must sound to the world more than a little confusing. When ardent world politicians as well as statesmen, foregather with their propagandists (they are highly organized here as usual and perhaps more subtly working in some instances) to cut and piece together a new world order, the news they make in announcements and press conferences is bound to be about what you have been getting.

There is some news you have not been getting which illustrates the point. As Molotov was flying into the airport for his arrival, the assembled American news picture people were told no one but three Russian photographers would be allowed to take his picture.

In some of the hotels which were completely engulfed by the avalanche of politicians, statesmen and propagandists as well as factual reporters, the managers were surprised to hear from some indignant overseas guests who could not get their rooms, that "in my country, we do it better."

Such incidents on the lighter side were typical the first few days and not out of line with the characteristic conflicts exhibited in the news. The line was taken by the American public relations director for instance that the hope of the world hangs perilously by a thread here. He is a poet and his voice almost broke on the radio as he declaimed that peace or war are the issues here.

Not So Idyllic YET in adjoining columns, the reporters are bound to record to you that the future of Poland is hardly being determined on this idyllic plane. No one here for instance is saying "the Poles must be free."

Such hope is running contrary to fact in adjoining columns, and action has been slow. While the Polish point has been stressed in developments so far, the same confusing clash of idyllic theory and practical action involves most of the European nations and all of the problems here.

Now the factual truth of this matter here is that this conference is not war "planning," not a military venture in which allies must sacrifice everything even to each other to save themselves from death.

Good Propaganda IF we need a propaganda line for the conference, there is an exceptionally good one, carved in stone over the entrance to the art museum in Golden Gate park, not far from where conference headquarters are. It says: "The honor of the state depends upon every individual."

There is a certain cadence in that too, and perhaps a minor redundancy, but no monotony of thought for it penetrates the very depths of every problem here and tells the solution if the world will take it. Restore honor to the world it says. Honor means peace treaties genuinely kept, sneak attacks ended, broken promises outlawed. A world with honor is a secure world, and ran bring happiness to all people. If this advice were followed, it might justify some disarmament, a subject which has not been mentioned much here.

"But it helps, Mom, to put on my shirt before I wash in the morning—then I know just how far I have to go!"

FELLOWSHIP DAY SLATED FOR MAY 4

"Our Town" will be the topic presented before the United Council of Church Women at the May Fellowship Day observance to be held here Friday, May 4.

Evangelistic Team To Preach Here

The First Christian church announces the coming of the Juppis evangelistic team. The Juppis introduce many of their sermons with short dramas.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Juppis, the Lee sisters make up the balance of the team. Peggie Lee is the pianist, Wanda Lee, soloist and song leader.

The series will open Sunday at 10:50 a. m. and will continue each night but Saturday until May 20, when the church will burn its mortgage and will have a number of visitors, among them former pastors and members.

Church to Display Chinese Posters

The First Covenant church, 823 Walnut, will display a large collection of posters in Chinese art at the 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening service. These posters are used extensively in presenting the gospel to the masses in China.

At 11 a. m., the pastor will speak on the theme "Looking For Peace." The public is cordially invited.

Baptist Young People To Meet Sunday

Young people of the Immanuel Baptist church will meet at 6 p. m. Sunday. Those planning to attend are asked to note the change in time.

Rev. Charles Sundstrom, pastor, will speak at both morning and evening services Sunday. His morning subject will be, "The Rock," and in the evening, "Follow Me." Special music will be presented by the orchestra. The public is invited.

ANOTHER REASON EL PASO, Tex., April 27 (P)—Sam Henderson of Gila Bend, Ariz., says he is not progressing at a very rapid clip on his hitchhiking trip to New York City—the gasoline shortage, you know.
