Estate of Pioneer Woman Admitted to Probate in Court

The estate of the late Charlotte Lambert, well known Klamath pioneer, was admitted to probate in circuit court Friday. Mrs. Lambert was the mother of A. D. and Loulyn Lambert of this city and Marjory Farnsworth, also of Klamath Falls.

John A. McCall was named administrator of the estate which approximates $10,000 in value.

Road Conditions in County Said Good

Roads throughout the county are in good condition for travel now, word from the county road commission indicated.

Snow removal is in progress on the Lake of the Woods road where there is still five feet of winter snow. Wednesday a few inches of new snow fell in this area, but the condition was not much changed, and work of removal was not materially delayed.

With the exception of the road from the lake to the Jackson county line, all roads in Klamath county are negotiable now.

Winter road work is about completed and summer maintenance commencing. Work on Washburn way will be started in another week or 10 days.

9-Month-Old Boy Suffers Broken Leg

Roger Carson, 9-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carson of Chiloquin, is possibly the youngest patient to be admitted to Klamath Valley hospital with a broken leg.

The child, it is understood, was in the arms of the 10-year-old girl who passed the baby to his two-year-old sister. The little girl fell over with her heavy burden and the baby's leg was broken by her weight.

Roger's leg is so small that attending physicians were unable to place it in a cast and another method of treatment is being used. The child's father is an employe of the Chiloquin Lumber company.

Continuance of Young Case Granted

A motion for continuance in the case of State of Oregon vs. Manson James Young, charged with negligent homicide, was granted Friday morning by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg after J. C. O'Neill, attorney for the defendant, advised the court that Young was a patient in Hillside hospital.

The case, which grew out of the death of W. H. McPherrin, Klamath Falls merchant last September 27, was slated for trial at 10 a. m. today. The court set Monday, May 21, at 10 a. m., for future trial.

Books Gathered by Elks

This picture shows Herb Williams, chairman of the Elks lodge committee in charge, standing proudly by boxes containing 4000 books gathered by the Elks for the merchant marine and coast guard. The quota assigned the Klamath lodge was 1000 books, but the local response was so great that Williams and his committee were literally buried in books.

Processed Food Points Lowered

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—A few processed foods will cost fewer blue points beginning Sunday.

Point value reductions will apply to canned snap beans, tomato catsup, chili sauce and apricots, but grape juice will cost more points. In addition, the point value of tomato juice and vegetable juice combinations will be lowered for the 24-ounce can only.

Fairview Sale — Fairview school's stamp sale, held Thursday, amounted to $170.20 in stamps and bonds purchased by students and teachers. Mrs. Earl Green was in charge of the sale, assisted by Mrs. Charles Larkin.

Wage Increase Denied To Fir Workers

PORTLAND, Ore., April 27 (AP)—A general wage increase was denied today to some 35,000 CIO International Woodworkers of America employes in the Oregon and Washington fir industry.

In a decision almost identical with the recent pine cases, the west coast lumber commission granted two weeks' vacation, checkoff of dues, regular 8-hour day, 40-hour week from Monday through Friday, and increase of power saw operators' scale to $1.75 an hour.

The case involved fir operators included in the lumbermen's industrial relations committee. A similar case among operators not members of the committee is still pending.

New Relocation Program Man Arrives

TULELAKE — William Holland, Omaha, has arrived to succeed Bernard Shallitt as relocation program officer at the Tulelake segregation center. Shallitt, who has been on duty for just one month, now becomes assistant relocation program officer. He was formerly assistant in the social welfare section.

Eye Witness Story of the Clothing Need in Liberated Areas

is told in this letter to the Lions Club by Lion Bill Milne.

Hi Fellows:

I received the Snarl the other day and was glad to read about the clothing drive for the poor in war-torn Europe. Fellows, they are all wrecked and the Germans stole everything they could carry away. The windows are broken; the roads are all torn up; the fields are full of bomb craters and land mines. Every day we can hear the mines going off in which some poor farmer gets killed. It's a shame to see all this destruction.

When you go into a store, there is nothing for sale; the places are empty. These people can buy only one pair of shoes a year.

We are living in a chateau which the Germans used for headquarters. The owners, who live in Paris, were up this week to look things over. Before the Germans came, the house was completely furnished. Now, all the furniture is gone; most of the partitions were torn down and used for firewood.

We have seven kids from one family who hang around the place. What a dirty, ragged mess they are. One of the kids we named Snuffy. I sent my wife a picture of him and his brother helping one of the men eat his dinner (yes, men, fried chicken). You should see the kids gulp the food; our bread is like cake to them.

Snuffy had things on his feet you couldn't call shoes. One man cut the soles out of wood and put some leather uppers on them which we gave to him. He sat all day just looking at them. We then gave him a bath and haircut, if we had some clothes he would look good. If we take care of these poor kids now, show them the right way to live, we would stop all future wars. As it is now, these poor devils have to steal everything they can get.

So fellows, please get behind this clothing drive. Help these poor kids because they need it.

—Bill.
