CLOTHING DRIVE RESPONSE LAUDED

A gratifying response was received throughout the Klamath basin area to the United National clothing collection, Vern Moore, chairman of the drive for this county, stated today.

Moore, on behalf of the Lion's club, sponsors of the drive, thanked citizens for their splendid cooperation in this worthwhile project.

Far more clothing than was anticipated was received from this area, Moore stated, and for the most part clean serviceable garments were donated.

Citizens cooperated with the sponsors in bringing contributions to the various collection depots established downtown and in having their clothing ready in bundles on the curb Sunday for the truck pickup.

Four tons of clothing have already been sorted and baled with the able assistance of the police department. Two baling machines are in continuous operation at the salvage depot 1415 Main, and clothing is still coming in from the outlying districts.

Garments are being separated into proper groups and baled for shipping to the Russian war relief headquarters in Portland, where it will be assorted for re-distribution to the Philippines, Russia and other devastated areas.
