This sky giant races the sun

Seven league boots for the AAF, the C-97—a giant that strides from ocean to ocean between lunch and dinner. Thundering across the continent in a trifle more than six hours, this double-decked heavyweight set a new speed mark for the long hop on Standard aviation products. This transport version of the B-29 flies on Chevron Aviation Gasoline, the flying fuel Boeing Aircraft Company's West Coast plant uses to flight-test its famous planes. To swift wartime research we owe both the C-97 and Chevron Aviation Gasoline. And we'll hear more about them in peacetime; the C-97 as the "Stratocruiser" airline transport and Chevron as a great new gasoline for your car.

IVORY ATTENDS SAN FRANCISCO WORLD CONFAB

E. P. Ivory, Klamath Falls lumberman prominent in democratic circles, is in San Francisco this week and sent the following message in regard to the world security conference.

"Attended the plenary session of the world security conference Wednesday afternoon with William Delzell as guests of Capt. Richard Neuberger of Portland, aide to Secretary Stettinius. The conference was impressive in the extreme. Under the chairmanship of Molotov, the program consisted of statements by representatives of various South American and European nations.

"All indicated a desire and expressed the necessity for forming a security organization. They appeared ready to accept the basic principles laid down at Dumbarton Oaks.

"The most eloquent speech was made by the prime minister of Syria who stressed idealism above the realism of the other speakers. All paid tribute to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt and each seemed to consider him the friend of his nation in some particular respect.

"The reported death of Hitler and surrender of Germans in Italy has placed an expectancy on the top diplomats that was apparent even above interest in the conference. Molotov is reported returning to Russia at once."

Returns Home—Mrs. Joe Pospisil, 723 N. 11th, was moved by automobile from Klamath Valley hospital to her home Tuesday. Mrs. Pospisil is greatly improved.
