C OF C ASKS EXTENSION OF TRADE ACTS

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The chamber of commerce of the United States asked congress today to extend the reciprocal trade act for three years and to give the president additional tariff-cutting powers.

Clark H. Minor of New York City told the house ways and means committee the organization's directors had endorsed the legislation unanimously.

Appearing for President Eric Johnston of the chamber, Minor said "I am a republican who has learned through bitter experience that if we want prosperity and full employment with a rising standard of living we have to cooperate with other nations in promoting the exchange of goods and services."

The 10 ways and means republicans are solidly against the bill, and if three of the 15 committee democrats join them the tariff legislation will be defeated.

Minor also endorsed the legislation in behalf of the American chamber of commerce in London.

Without additional authority to cut duties, Minor told the committee, the state department is unable to make further agreements, at least with this country's two best customers, Great Britain and Canada.

Foreign traders favor a modification of the empire preferences, he said, and Britain has indicated that she will modify empire preferences only in return for adequate concessions. He added:

"Raising tariff walls and establishing trade barriers is a game which all can play. If we raise tariffs and trade barriers against the products of other countries, then we can expect those countries to bar out our products. This is what has happened in the past and history will repeat . . .

"Reports indicate that many nations, including the countries of Latin America, are talking of embarking on a tariff-raising course. We can discourage them from doing so by example and through negotiations under the trade agreements act."

PROGRAM PLANNING SLATED FOR UNITS

May 11 is program planning day for home extension units. The program will commence at 10 a. m. at Altamont junior high school. Each unit in Klamath county will be represented by two delegates, and subjects will be chosen to be studied by the units this fall.

Mrs. Rex High, president of the county home economics council, assisted by Mrs. W. S. Metler, past president, will preside at the program.

Luncheon will be served in the school cafeteria.

Friday afternoon, the agricultural division of the 7th War Loan bond drive will hold a rally at Altamont school, to which every county resident is welcome.
