Purposes of the inter-regional highway designation, pending before the state highway commission, were explained by Highway Commissioner Arthur Schaupp in a brief talk before the Klamath Kiwanis club Thursday noon.

Schaupp re-stated facts he had presented at the last highway meeting in favor of the route from Eugene through Klamath Falls to Weed, Calif., for the inter-regional designation. The alternative route proposed lies down the Pacific highway through Medford.

Arguments in behalf of the two proposed southern Oregon routes will be presented to the highway commission in Portland next week, Schaupp added.

Judge Reeder said he would go to Prineville Tuesday to meet the Klamath-Lake delegation at which time courts of these two counties will discuss the recent decision of the commissioner of the general land office in Washington, D. C., in connection with the proposed Shevlin-Hixon land exchange.

A district meeting of county courts is set for Prineville Wednesday. Reeder and members of the court expect to return Thursday.

BUDGET COMMITTEE REPORTS PROGRESS

Members of the Klamath county budget committee proceeded through a maze of figures involving all departments in the county, and announced that they should be ready to "run the tape" late this afternoon.

Requests from the various county offices were taken into consideration by the committee which met for the first time Wednesday morning.

County Judge U. E. Reeder announced today that when final figures were tabulated a check would be made to see that the amount did not exceed the six per cent limitation and if it has, "the committee would have to use the scissors."

Members of the committee include Alfred D. Collier, chairman; E. M. Hammond, secretary; R. P. Ellingson Sr., members of the court, Judge U. E. Reeder and Commissioners Fred L. Pope and John Reber.

goods" using large quantities of materials, such as automobiles, furniture, trucks, refrigerators and stoves. "Will have to be retained until supplies free up a great deal more," Krug said in a statement.

"These orders generally will be amended to permit some production," he added.

The WPB chief said that of 420 control orders in effect April 1, 73 already have been revoked, and it is expected that about half will have been revoked within the next few months.

He emphasized that pent-up demands for such programs as farm machinery, transportation and utilities will consume "a great deal of the material freed by cut-backs."

He stressed also that revocation of particular orders will not necessarily mean immediate resumption of civilian production of the affected items. Revocation will, he said, clear the way for such manufacture as facilities, materials and manpower become available.

statement last night replying to Brig. Gen. Frank A. Allen Jr., director of the SHAEF public relations division, who previously had issued an 800-word statement detailing the reasons why Kennedy's accreditation as a war correspondent had been suspended for filing the dispatch.

"General Allen and other responsible officers of SHAEF public relations made it clear to me at Reims," Kennedy said, "that no question of military security was involved in release of this news. Gen. Allen told me, in fact, that Gen. Eisenhower was desirous of having the news published as soon as possible so that fighting might halt and lives possibly be saved. Gen. Allen told me that Gen. Eisenhower's hands were tied by a decision coming from 'high political levels'."

Goebbels and his family, along with other Nazi bigwigs. It will be better for all of us to accept the idea that Hitler is dead. He might as well be.

AMONG the casualties of the battle of Berlin is the SECURE FORTRESS idea, which has possessed men's minds for 1000 years but now is dead for good and all. After Berlin, which was the climax of the Fortress Germany delusion, we can accept this as proved fact: No man can build a fortress that a BETTER MAN can't take. Jap papers please copy. The little yellow men are building their hopes on the now exploded secure-fortress dream. They are hopelessly out of date.

IN the dispatches appears this striking sentence: "The Nazi underground fortress and the building above it and the WHOLE OF THE HEART OF BERLIN ARE IRREVOCABLY DESTROYED TODAY."

The spectacle of Carthage arises before our eyes. Carthage was totally destroyed at the end of the Punic wars. Not one stone was left standing on another. It never rose again. Its site is still a desert.

Carthage was poorly (narrowly, shortsightedly, selfishly) led—as was Nazi Germany. No clear, wise leadership arose afterward.

That is something for Germans to put in their pipes and smoke.

STARK drama stalks the news today. The last battle of the European war, tragic because it was so needless, horrible because of the hate and the bile that instigated it, strewed the streets of Prague (AFTER the cease-firing order had been given) with bodies so numerous they haven't yet been counted.

In these streets starving Czechs got sudden word that a Czech army was approaching. Then its vanguard appeared, led by a truck in which three Czech girls waved a Czech flag. AP Nick Boyle gives us this moving picture of what followed:

"I have heard many crowd demonstrations, but none like the peculiar sound that arose from these oppressed people celebrating their first full day of liberation. It wasn't staccato, like the yells of a cheerful American crowd. This sound had in it sadness and exhilaration and pride—and HOPE, too. It sang in the cars like a strong wind pushing across a tumultuous surf."

RED army units followed the Czech units, Boyle continues: "The incoming Russian troops were wildly acclaimed by the Czech populace. Every red army vehicle was soon overflowing with Czech girls, whom the GIs have voted the prettiest in Europe."

THIS Czech attitude is another straw in the wind by which we may judge these Russians that for us are the most intriguing and the most portentous mystery on earth today.

The Czechs are OUR kind of people. They have known real liberty—TOLERANT liberty, educated and cultured liberty. In their little mountain-ringed country they have built OVER THE CENTURIES a civilization and a way of life as fair as any that have ever existed.

Down through the generations, they have FOUGHT, grimly and tenaciously, for their liberties—fought against just about everybody in central Europe, against the Austrians in the days of Austria's greatness and power, against the Germans, against the Poles. But very seldom against the Russians.

ALWAYS the Czechs have lived near to the Russians. They know them, as well as any people in Europe. The Czechs, led by their Benes, were among the first to throw in their lot with Russia in this confusing war.

Perhaps this confidence on the part of our kind of people can help us to make up our minds about these Russians with whom we must live and work in the world of the future.

MASS FUNERAL HELD FOR FOUR BLAST VICTIMS

Hundreds of friends and relatives gathered at 2 o'clock Wednesday at the Klamath Temple to pay their final tribute to four victims of an explosion which took six lives in the Gearhart mountain area in Lake county last Saturday morning.

Services were held for Sherman Shoemaker, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shoemaker; Dick Joe, 14, and Joan, 13, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patzke, and Edward, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Einar Engen, all of Bly.

Floral tributes were piled high at the base of each of the four small caskets. More than 450 persons attended the rites, one of the largest funerals ever held here and first mass ritual in many years.

Rev. Daniel B. Anderson, pastor of the Klamath Temple, assisted by Rev. T. L. Brooks and Rev. Pollock, formerly of Bly, conducted the rites and each of the four children were eulogized by the ministers. A group of songs preceded the service.

Students of Bly grade and high school, where the four youngsters were enrolled, were among those in the church. Pall bearers for all were made up of members of the Boy Scout troop at Bly, intimate friends and members of the three families. Each of the boys was a member of the Bly troop.

An honor guard was made up of Boy Scouts and the Scout area was represented by Cpl. Larry Albritton, field director, Marine Barracks.

Burial for the Patzke children and Edward Engen took place in Linkville cemetery. Remains of young Shoemaker were shipped to Live Oak, Calif., for interment in the family plot.

Rites for Mrs. Elsie Mitchell, wife of Rev. Archie Mitchell who accompanied the children on the fateful outing, will be held at Port Angeles, Wash., former home of the couple who had but recently come to Bly to engage in the ministry. Jay Gifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Gifford, and sixth member of the party to be killed, will be buried in Medford under the direction of the Owsley Funeral home of Lakeview.

Arrangements were made here by Ward's Klamath Funeral home, assisted by Owsley's.
