Leaving by a chartered Greyhound bus on Monday afternoon were approximately 25 marines from the local Marine Barracks, who are appearing in bond shows throughout several Oregon towns in connection with the 7th War Loan drive.

Featured on the shows are 1st Lt. Ott Schulte, winner of the Navy Cross for action on Tarawa, Sgt. William B. Fields, holder of the Silver Star as a result of the battle on Saipan, Sgt. Talbot Vogler, Bronze Star winner for achievement on Bougainville, and Sgt. Joe Haystead, ex-pilot officer in the Royal Canadian air force.

Also appearing is the famed 17-piece orchestra, and special acts include Cpl. Colin Romoff, pianist, and two singers, S/Sgt. William Schlenker and PFC Carl Hagel. As an added attraction, the film "Fury in the Pacific," concerning the battle on Peleliu, will be shown. Sgt. Haystead, who appears in the picture as a member of the first marine division, will describe the activities as they are shown. Dick E. Nason is emcee for the performances.

The troupe appeared last night in Grants Pass, and other stops will be made at Roseburg tonight, Reedsport on Wednesday, Coos Bay on Thursday and Coquille on Friday. They plan to return to Klamath Falls on Saturday morning.

REDUCTIONS AHEAD FOR LEND LEASE

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—"Substantial reductions" are ahead for Russian lend-lease programs.

The state department announced this last night, with the explanation that future shipments are to be "justified on the basis of adequate information regarding the essential nature of soviet military supply requirements and in the light of competing demands."

This is the practice followed with other lend-lease countries, the statement said. It noted that since 1941 annual Russian supply programs have been carried out but "in view of the changed military situation, programs of such duration are not now required."

Navy Needs 2000 Waves Per Month

Navy recruiting service has been assigned the task of obtaining 2000 additional Wave enlistees per month to be trained for general service as well as vital duty in the hospital corps.

This immediate need is brought about through the intensification of our efforts in the Pacific now that the European war has ceased, Al C. Friesen, local recruiter, pointed out.

The navy recruiting sub-station is located in the Klamath post office building where all information regarding service in the Waves is obtainable.

MORSE LAUDS ICKES ALUMINUM BELIEFS

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) raised the testimony offered by Interior Secretary Ickes yesterday before the senate small business committee and personally summarized governmental agency handling of aluminum production with the words "just stinks."

Morse, commenting on Ickes' testimony to the effect that the Canadian Shipshaw program should never have been authorized at the expense of northwest power projects and Arkansas bauxite deposits, declared the record of the office of production management, war production board and the state department "is not only a record of inefficiency and dereliction of duty but it is a record which has the effect, even though some may contend that it was not so designed, of building up and strengthening the aluminum monopoly of Alcoa by giving it an international outlet through a foreign stooge corporation in Canada."

The government's record in operation of the Troutdale aluminum plant in Oregon, Morse said, was "shoddy" through failure to use the plant at any time to its fullest capacity.

SCOUT CAMP COURSE NOW COMPLETED

Under the leadership of Merlin Bleak, chairman of leadership training for the Klamath basin for Boy Scouts, 17 men have completed a scoutmaster course which was held last week at Penny Springs. The men spent 16 hours of intensive work on troop management, advancement technique, outdoor lore and camp cookery.

Harold B. Ashley, scoutmaster of troop 8, was elected as senior patrol leader of the course, with Wesley Cross of troop 18, C. E. Peterson of troop 50, and Elmer Wade, district commissioner, as patrol leaders.

Several of the men, including Ashley, Wade, William Van Cleve and John Weber, took the course for the second time, qualifying for an advanced certificate for this training.

VETS' RIGHTS DEMANDED AT UNION CONFAB

The IWA-CIO annual district convention held May 12 and 13 in Klamath Falls was pronounced the largest and most successful held.

Four resolutions were passed by the council:

1. To demand the right of veterans to return to former jobs, with full seniority accumulated up to date while serving in the armed forces.

2. To exert every effort to bring about the seating of labor representatives with full voice and vote at the San Francisco conference.

3. To foster and back a bill in state legislature to raise workers' compensations to somewhere near normal earning power.

No. 4. To enact laws to guarantee 15-minute rest periods each half shift for all employees of the lumbering industry.

Represented at the convention were local unions from Heppner, Ashland and Medford, Ore., and McCloud, Calif., and the territory in between.

Sessions convened at 10 a. m. Saturday morning and committees were elected to prepare work for the remainder of the program.

Officers' reports were heard from committees of resolutions, auditing, constitutions and credentials.

The afternoon session convened at 2:30 with speakers furnished by the international union, who spoke also at the Sunday sessions. Missing Road Man Feared Drowned

OREGON CITY, May 15 (AP)—Forest rangers voiced fear today that Harold D. Farmer, 57, federal road inspecting engineer missing since Friday, slipped from a footlog while crossing a rain-swollen fork of the Clackamas river.

Farmer has not been seen since he went on a mission in the Lake Harriet district, four miles above Oak Grove ranger station in the upper Clackamas river area.

The search has been underway since late Friday. Ten men carried on the hunt yesterday and resumed it today, but were slowed by the rough terrain.

DOG EATING RED POINTS PUTS BITE ON WOMAN

Last week, Mrs. Ed Lane gave the dinner scraps to her dog, Rusty, and settled down with the paper. But not for long. There on the food plate it said that housewives threw away thousands of red points because they did not save meat trimmings and plate scraps!

Now Mrs. Lane saves all fat scraps to be melted down and added to the salvage can. That way she gets more extra red points. Rusty is doing nicely on a leaner diet. He was too fat, anyway. And our country is getting more of the used fat it urgently needs for war- and home-front essentials.

MEETINGS SET TO ACT ON ROAD

PORTLAND, May 15 (AP)—State highway commissioners and representatives will meet in county courts at regional meetings in the next two weeks to select 1700 miles of roads for postwar federal aid.

Engineer R. H. Baldock said the program will get under way when congress decides the emergency is sufficiently believed to warrant.

The highway committee, with the executive committee of the Association of County Judges and Commissioners, proposed that the 1700 miles be located to the counties on a formula based on one-third of population, one-third for area and one-third for road mileage.

The commission said county committees that are selected are not satisfactory if the counties object to the selection.
