Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

ANYONE who heard the inter-regional highway arguments before the highway commission in Portland must have been convinced of the important place each of the competing routes has in the coast and Oregon highway pattern. Our previously explained contention—that both should be developed to high standards but that the required inter-regional designation should go to the Eugene-Klamath-Weed route—stands unchanged after hearing the story unfolded before the commission.

EPLEY

The presentation from both sides, we felt, was fairly made, and there was no rancor or bitterness. The Pacific route people, who were there in force from Siskiyou summit to Goshen, made the expected claims that the Pacific route goes through a more heavily populated territory, that there is a lot of development in prospect there, and therefore they should have the designation. The people on our side relied heavily on the favorable engineering data which makes the Klamath (we call it the Willamette) route the better through travel route, but did not overlook the economic potentialities on this route.

Central Oregon Aid

IN this situation, the people of Central Oregon have joined with Klamath, even though the proposed designation does not reach north of Chemult. William Niskanen, Bend chamber's highway chairman and state representative, made a most logical and clear argument, pointing out that the Oregon commission has an opportunity by designating the Willamette route, to extend the inter-regional benefit to a great section of Central, Eastern and Southeastern Oregon that would otherwise be left out. The Willamette route choice would give benefits to TWO great north-south highways—No. 99 and 97, he pointed out—whereas the Pacific designation would confine the benefits to one highway and one part of the state. Lakeview sent a telegram supporting our route.

Pertinent

A HIGHLY pertinent argument was offered to the commission by A. D. Collier of Klamath Falls. Mr. Collier had used reliable data from a state highway department publication in computing the savings to the traveling public which would be effected by use of the Willamette route which has much less rise and fall than the Pacific route. Here is a point of strong public interest that is often overlooked in discussions of competing highway routes.

This writer, who happened to get the responsibility of directing the presentation of arguments for our route, expresses personal appreciation for the assistance that was given the Klamath group both in preparation of information and the presentation at Portland. The commission gave us a most attentive hearing.

A decision may not be made for a number of weeks. It is scheduled before July 1. From time to time, we will discuss other phases of this interesting issue.

Be Cautious

THE present flurry of wet weather will be followed by rapid drying out processes in our woods and open country, and the time is at hand for increasing caution against fire.

Stop Forest Fires week is with us, and the annual parade will be held Friday noon. Friday night, a banquet will take place, with Lumberman W. E. Lamm as chief speaker. Walter Wiesendanger, who has been at it for 10 years, is again in charge.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 17—Those skilled international authorities who have been on the inside at San Francisco have noted much which has not been made public concerning the veto power which the large nations have reserved for themselves, not only to make war, but to do a lot of other things.

I can report one member of the American delegation considers this veto thread running through the whole program as "immoral." Another says it violates the spirit of everything he believes in and hopes for internationally.

Other members of the delegation do not like this skein of the peace particularly, but are less critical in private. And all are going along to see if the final shredding and re-knotting does not furnish some grounds for appeasing their apprehensions.

Here are the problems of greatest concern: The security council is charged with keeping the peace of the world. This is not only the Big Five nations but the Little Six (a rotating six, the complexion of which will change from time to time).

Yet actually the peace will have to be kept by the Big Three. Only Russia, Britain and the U. S. have the power to do it. France and China, the other two nations filling out the Big Five, do not have the means of effecting the results, and cannot have for many years, if ever.

Yet either one of them with the Little Six could actually out-vote the Big Three. Most of the voting is to be done by a seven nations majority on the security council. Even the trusteeships over the Pacific islands and questions of economic sanctions can be directed by seven votes on the council—where we have one.

The Big Five think they have reserved to themselves full authority to stop any untoward possibilities along this line by retaining the veto right on practically everything. A single objection by any of the Big Five (not the Big Three) would stop the security council and the peace setup in any action.

Not Actual Protection

THIS is actually not the protection it seems to be, since France and China can exercise equal authority with the larger nations in this respect.

The defect here is that authority has been given to the Big Five to do what the Big Three will have to do under the very nature of the condition at the war end, with respect to peace, and should do in economic matters.

Now the American delegation knows all these things. I understand indirectly Mr. Stettinius has taken the position that as these matters were agreed upon at Yalta, he must stand firmly for them. (Polish government representation for the London Poles was also agreed upon at Yalta but Russia has not accepted it. This should give Mr. Stettinius an honorable opportunity to reopen the above matters if he chooses.)

These are the subjects of gravest concern running to the very heart of the peace automatic anatomy from which all others stem and they will influence final judgment of the San Francisco results unless changed.

Public Misled

THERE is another matter upon which the public, I find, has been extensively misled—the matter of the Argentine settlement. Through the mid-west and back here, you hear people saying what an "immoral" thing it was for us to admit fascist Argentina to the conference.

Argentina of course has promised to free herself, even to the extent of accepting a free press, and therefore is one vote for our democratic side in the future world assembly.

But no one points out that when we got this one vote, Russia got three and Britain six. It was done in the same conference resolution.

Russia obtained assembly votes for White Russia and the Ukraine and Britain obtained them for all her empire segments (Canada, Australia, South Africa, India, New Zealand, British Isles).

We have many of the Latin countries in this hemisphere favorable to us, and I think today we could win a test against the others in the assembly, although no one can tell how we would fare in the future security council which is to make the big decisions.

Its Little Six representatives are to be chosen by the assembly after—mark you, after the formal peace treaty of San Francisco are ratified by all nations, so perhaps we will be fully represented in the rotating nether end of the council.

But here again the point must be made that although the Latin countries are friendly now, we have placed our cause upon their future friendliness. In this connection, the facts of considerable communist influence in Latin America, are well known.

WHEAT

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Most May grain futures were steady to firm today but some of the new crop varieties, particularly of wheat, frequently were on the off side.

Salable wheat for cash interests sold July and September wheat persistently and prices were off a cent or more most of the day. The market took the short side, encouraged by reports that last night's frost in the southwest had not done as much damage as expected.

At the finish wheat was unchanged to 1 cent lower than yesterday's close, but some of the new crop varieties, particularly May 1184, oats were 1/2 cent higher to 1 1/2 cent higher. Rye was off 1/2 cent to 1 1/2 cent, May 81.15-81.42. Barley was up 1/4 to 1 1/2 cent, May 81.01.

RIGHT OF NISEI TO WORK DEFENDED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 (AP)—The right of Japanese-Americans to work as warehousemen at Stockton today received the support of Harry Bridges, president of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union.

Members of the Stockton unit of ILWU local 6 have threatened to strike in protest against employment of three Japanese-American stevedores.

The position of the ILWU on the question of equality for all, regardless of race, creed, color or national origin, is clear and unequivocal, said Bridges in a statement. "We cannot and will not compromise on it for one moment."

Local 6, through its president, Richard Lynden, said the local "will not tolerate any discrimination against loyal Americans."

Lynden added he is "convinced that outside influences with large property holdings in the Stockton area have succeeded in foisting their prejudices upon some of our members."

MAROONED

BLUE SPRINGS, Mo., May 17 (AP)—A part of the United States navy—13 sailors—became castaways here yesterday but lived off the fat of the land for seven hours while their train was held up because of a wreck ahead.

Learning of the trainload of hungry sailors, Blue Springs Red Cross workers prepared and served them 72 pounds of country sausage, 30 dozen eggs, fried potatoes and coffee. No one was hurt in the wreck.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF INTENT TO SELL NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER

Notice is hereby given that the Forest Service plans, for the furtherance of its war effort, to sell the Big Lakes Box Company of Klamath Falls, Oregon, without competition as authorized under the First War Powers Act and at the appraised rates stated below, the timber and a legitimate interest should express that interest fully to the Regional Forester, Box 437, Portland, Oregon, not later than May 28, 1945.

LOCATION AND AMOUNT. All the merchantable timber live or dead, marked for cutting on about 6640 acres of National Forest land as indicated on a map attached to the timber sale agreement in Sections 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36, T. 22 S. R. 8 E. W. 4, and Sections 2, 3, 4 and 5, T. 33 S. R. 8 E. W. 4, in the North Dry Creek Unit, Rogue River National Forest, Oregon, estimated to be 22,000,000 feet B.M., more or less, of ponderosa pine, and 5,000,000 feet B.M., more or less, of white fir and other species of saw timber.

STUMPAGE RATES & DEPOSITS. The above-described timber has been appraised at the following rates per M feet B.M.: Scribner Decimal C. Log Scale, ponderosa pine, 18.42, white fir and other species, 11.55. In addition to the price of the stumpage a deposit of $50 per M feet B.M. of the total cut of timber under the terms of the agreement will be required to cover the cost of slash disposal and a deposit of $10 per M feet B.M. for the total cut of timber under the terms of the agreement will be required to cover the cost of tree planting, seed sowing and timber stand improvement work on the area cut over.

INFORMATION. The proposed contract, the basis of appraisal and the basis for making the sale without competition are available for inspection at the office of the Regional Forester, Forest Service, Portland, Oregon, M. 17-22—No. 104.

Koney Likes Yank Jitterbug Dancers

BAD WILDUNGEN, Germany, May 17 (AP)—Marshal Ivan S. Koney visited Gen. Omar N. Bradley today and gave greater applause to American jitterbug dancers than to Hascha Helfitz or Mickey Rooney—top stars on the lavish reception.

Three enlisted men and three Wacs went through the jitterbug routines naturally and without inhibition, though their audience included the 12th army group commander and the glittering array of Russian and other American generals. An orchestra trained by Glenn Miller sparked the hepcats.

RECREATION PLANNED
HILLSBORO, May 17 (AP)—A farm labor committee is going to give Washington county's young harvesters fun as well as farming.

The committee is organizing a county-wide recreation day with sports events, entertainment, and awards for all young farm workers.
