EDITORIALS ON NEWS

31. He adds that the blacklist is about complete.

Most of us know what ought to be done. We should try all of them that we can lay hands on quickly, sternly and fairly and then shoot the convicted ones without delay. Above everything else, there should be NONE of the traditional American sob-sister stuff in the trial.

* * *

THAT is what probably will be done, for these are stern days and everyone knows it, but the hush-hush censored mystery that is being made of the war criminals business stirs suspicion and doubt and gives the Russians continued opportunity to potshot at us and the British, thus stirring up suspicion and ill will where there should be complete and understanding co-operation.

As an example of Russian prodding, a Moscow radio commentator by the name of Mikhailov says today: "Germany's military fascist clique, headed by Grand Admiral Doenitz, is holding up a bugbear of chaos before the eyes of the ALLIES as a way of blackmailing them into allowing it to retain authority."

* * *

THERE are probably good reasons for all we and the British are doing, but it is being done in such a fog of secrecy that suspicions arise inevitably.

For example:

A London News Chronicle correspondent says today that Himmler has been TRACED but not arrested; that the British 2nd army could take him into custody AT ANY TIME.

This is probably your first thought: "Well, WHY DOESN'T IT? Why risk his getting away?"

* * *

THERE are doubtless sound reasons for not nabbing Himmler, even if we know where he is. Presumably we are watching him to find out whom he sees, etc., in the hope that other war criminals may thus be tipped off to us. But with hatreds at white heat all this mystery helps to fan the fires of suspicion and ill will.

Another example:

Eden says today that Admiral Doenitz is "under investigation" and "according to newspaper reports" has been arrested. All of which leaves us certain that he knows a lot more than he is telling.

* * *

RUSSIAN prodding of us and the British isn't too hard to understand.

We and the British are snooting Russia because of her handling of the Polish matter. Quite naturally the Russians are spatting back at us, putting us in the hole wherever they can—and finding in this war criminals business a magnificent opportunity.

It is hard for us little people on the outside to escape the conclusion that a policy of GREATER FRANKNESS on the part of our insiders would pay splendid dividends. We want to believe that everything is being well and wisely done, but this constant hush-hushing unsettles us.

MICHAELSON WRITES

Vernon E. Michaelson, RDM 3/c, wrote his mother Mrs. Anna S. Michaelson, Lindley Heights, of the birthday celebration of the USS Mansfield, of which he is a member.

The destroyer was launched April 14, 1944, from Boston, and since has touched at many ports, participated in the bombardment of the Borodino Islands, supported air strikes against the Philippines, Formosa, the Ryukus Islands, Tokyo, French Indo-China, China coast, Volcano and Bonin Islands.

They helped in the support of Leyte, Mindoro and Luzon campaigns, and Iwo Jima. They have been under many Japanese air attacks but have never been hit by the enemy, and have not suffered a single casualty.

These are about all the activities of the hardened and weary year-old destroyer that the censor would pass, Michaelson said.

His wife lives on the east coast, his sister, Mrs. Cecile Carlisle in Klamath Falls. He was graduated from KUHS in 1936 and worked with the Aero Transit Truck company here and in Lakeview before he entered the service.
