deter the creation of new businesses and the expansion of existing ones with consequent unemployment as war plants are shut down.

Administration Belief

On the other side—the administration viewpoint—is the argument that inflation dangers still are great and any easing of controls would be dangerous.

Senator Ellender (D-La.), who has that view, likens it to a Mississippi river flood:

"Price control is a pretty flimsy levee holding back a great big flood. You bore a few holes in it and pretty soon your levee will be gone."

Expanded Trade With Philippines Eyed

PORTLAND, May 21 (AP) — Northwest businessmen plan to resume trade with the Philippines on a far larger scale than before the war, two representatives of the foreign economic administration said here.

Ben Reese and Mason Manghum, who met with 75 Portland business and industrial leaders Saturday, said the government desires to restore private trade with the islands as quickly as possible.

About 25 per cent of the industrialists at the meeting never have traded with the Philippines before. Their products include 30 to 40 kinds of aluminum castings, clothing products such as shirts and underwear, heavy mill and factory machinery, and packaged food stuffs. Northwest exports formerly were confined chiefly to lumber products, apples, onions, potatoes, canned milk, and flour.

A. J. West, assistant manager of Richfield's lands and leases, said other companies are interested, therefore it is imperative one company secure a large acreage to justify exploration and development.

BRITISH newspapers are beginning to warn that some of the issues showing up in Europe are assuming the aspects of "international crises." There will be a lot of international crises before all the problems involved in the rehabilitation of Europe are settled. The solution of these problems will require infinite wisdom and patience (as well as grim firmness) if they are to be solved anything like RIGHT.

Most of us have high hopes that the Russian PEOPLE will ultimately turn out to be all right, but it would help a lot right now if the Kremlin would display a little more patience and understanding instead of constantly nagging at us and the British.
