Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY

TUESDAY marks the first anniversary of the arrival of the first draft of marines for the Klamath Falls Marine Barracks.

In that year that has passed, the Barracks has hung up a fine record, functioning in the capacity for which it was set up. It has returned to full-duty status large numbers of men who came here with malaria and filariasis.

EPLEY

It has proved the value of maintaining men in active training status while convalescing from these tropical diseases, demonstrating that this method is far better than hospitalization where good men often deteriorate physically and spiritually, especially if they have maladies that incapacitate them only infrequently.

The record of recovery from malaria and filariasis at the Barracks demonstrates the wise judgment that led to the establishment of this installation at Klamath Falls. Filariasis, widely feared a year ago, has diminished as a medical problem in the marine corps, and malaria has likewise "lost prestige" as a serious disease.

The Marine Barracks has been a fine asset to Klamath Falls. Here are congratulations at the end of the first year of service to the Marine Corps.

Message From Yreka

WE'RE getting a lot of attention from Bill Bailey, the alert and resourceful managing editor of the Siskiyou News.

Last Monday, Bill addressed a letter to us in his "Footnotes" column in the Yreka sheet. It must have been snowing in the Siskiyou News shop at the time the editorial page was made up that day, or maybe the type just wouldn't hold still for what Bill wanted to say.

Anyway, we couldn't read it. Neither could Bill, and the next day he re-printed it. The typographical clear-up didn't disclose anything exciting.

Burden of the message was that a couple of Yreka men had paid a visit to Klamath Falls, and en route home ran into snow on highway No. 97. One of them got home a day late. (That one sounded a bit like an alibi. Bill might ask his friend what brand of "snow" caused the delay.)

Well, the weather has been disagreeable recently (both east and west of the mountains, we hear) and there may have been snow flurries on No. 97, as well as snow, rain and fog on No. 99. There haven't been any reports here of anybody having trouble with snow on No. 97, however. The stage people tell us they haven't encountered any difficulty and the last trouble they had with snow was on No. 99 in the Dunsmuir area, which is common both to the Klamath and Yreka through routes.

Incidentally, we don't suppose the weather has helped the slide problem on No. 99 in southern Oregon, especially at that place in the Siskiyous where a detour has been necessary for years.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 28—Doubt this at your own risk, the inside unpublished figures on American war production are running daily now only eight per cent under the same days of last year when our output for Europe was at peak.

There are multitudes of military reasons for this phenomenon. An uncensorable (I hope) one is that a complete change of wardrobe will have to be furnished each one of the soldiers removed from Europe for the Asiatic front.

People never stop to think of this. I know I did not. Yet the heavy woolens with which our armies in Europe were clad for the winter-spring drive on Hitler, and even for summer wear there, are unsuitable for Japan where the weather runs about like Washington. This requires expansion in textile production.

When massive items of this expanding nature are balanced against the cutbacks in tanks and heavy goods (but not munitions yet) the average runs to the slight cut of eight per cent.

I suspect, furthermore, the administration is holding back on cuts wherever possible. The army, once bitten on cutbacks last summer, leans toward cutting practically nothing. The economic directors are not inclined to resist army tendencies much because they are trying to promote an orderly transition to peacetime goods to avoid unemployment.

Thus despite all you hear about the annual war cost rate being reduced (as proposed) from around 90 billions to 70 billion dollars for the Jap war, daily cash outlays from the treasury are still running so high that you must buy bonds in customary quantities—or more.

Want Churchill's Scalp

MR. CHURCHILL'S paltry scalp (paltry refers to what is on it, not what is under it) has been overdue for cutting by the laborites. They could hardly wait until the war was over. For more than a year there has been literally no authority on British politics here who would give Churchill a chance for re-election. Yet I would like to place a small bet at appropriate long odds on the statesman who has spoken the most beautiful prose during this war of any political leader in all history.

I suspect Mr. Churchill will outslick his opposition. He has already begun. While the liberals have been panting for an election, they did not want it as soon as the one with which Churchill is providing them. They desired delay until fall so they could campaign for six months. Churchill has cut their campaigning possibilities to a little more than a month by designating July 2.

Their campaign slogan that they can deal better with the communists also may be the best possible choice in view of developments of Russian foreign policy which are antagonizing people of democratic beliefs.

Britain went to war to defend Poland, for instance, and a deal upon Moscow's position on the subject would repudiate Britain's primary war purpose.

Churchill has chosen the flush time of victory, before the glory of war success fades, to face his opposition, and thus he has slicked himself into happiest auspices.

Change Of Policy

A CHANGE of Roosevelt policy toward De Gaulle lies behind the forthcoming visit of the French leader to the White House. It was negotiated for President Truman by his Senate Leader Barkley and Senator George during their recent trip to Paris. Both talked to De Gaulle there quite a bit.

The communist success in the French municipal elections and the lack of success of De Gaulle's separate treaty with Moscow have ploughed fertile ground for a new understanding.

Probably no general election will be held in France for some months, but when it is held, De Gaulle will be a candidate for leadership, on some party affiliation of his choice. His opposition no doubt will be communist.

Most of the French people are grateful to the United States, although some are indifferent. France needs rehabilitation help, particularly for rebuilding her railroads.

Thus, all the factors suggest a more favorable prospect for success on both sides from De Gaulle's White House visit this time.

IF we can approach the future in that humble, simple, sensible spirit, there is literally NOTHING we can't accomplish. We can pay off our war debt. We can solve our social problems.

If we'll all work together, each contributing whatever he has that is valuable to the common cause, each accepting gratefully the useful contributions of others, we can build the kind of world we all want to live in.

There are times when this man Truman seems too good to be true.

Schools Here Top Bond Quota

Students of the seven elementary schools and Klamath Union high school exceeded the quota set in the 7th War Loan by 225 per cent, and employes of the school system exceeded by 118 per cent, according to today's report.

Only two schools, Pelican and KUHS, had not exceeded the quota as far as students were concerned. Three schools, Fremont, Pelican, KUHS, and the special quota, in the employes' bracket, failed to go over.

Total for the students was $9024. Bonds purchased were $20,300. Fremont students topped the list with 570 per cent of the quota set for that school.

Employes' quota was $16,625, and the amount subscribed was $19,550.

Overall purchases were $39,850 as compared to a quota of $25,000.

Bond headquarters at 8th and Main were really doing a business today and for the first time since the "Mighty 7th" got underway, there was a lineup at the desk.

It was announced that headquarters would remain open until 2 p. m. Wednesday, Memorial Day. Marines are on hand at all times to take care of bond purchasers and supply information in connection with the drive.

Through a request from the residents of Alkali valley, the name Alkali will be erased from the government maps and it will hereafter be known as Yonna valley. It is to be deplored that any district with as much good land as this valley should be so unfortunately named and have attached to it, what, in the irrigation world, is rather a stigma.

FOREIGN POLICY GROWS DECISIVE

Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Main Objectives

The great objective of these moves are two-fold:

1. To recapture if possible a middle position between British and Russian policies—the role, sometimes of leader, sometimes of moderator, which the United States held through the Yalta meeting in February but lost shortly afterward when Washington and London joined forces against Russia over reorganizing the Polish government.

2. To reinforce United States leadership for popular democratic ideals and so-called underdog causes — particularly the causes of freedom for dependent peoples and justice for minority groups.

Eleventh, conducting operations against Japan's northern Kurile islands from bases in the Aleutians.

Twentieth, attacking the Japanese home islands with giant bombers based in the Marianas.

Plus Navy, Marines

These army forces are in addition to the aerial armadas operated by the navy and marines —carrier-based, land-based and long distance flying boats.

Under the present co-command set-up of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific air forces—except the 20th—operate under strategic direction of whichever commander currently is in charge of a campaign. The 20th is an independent unit, directed from its own headquarters at Washington and concerned only with long range heavy bombardment.

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Pivotal industrials today led the stock market on an extension of its rise to the highest average level in nearly eight years.

Rails were out in front at the start but some of these eventually wavered. Steels, motors and mail orders exhibited strength and gains running to 2 points were well distributed near the fourth hour.

WHEAT

CHICAGO, May 28 (AP)—All deliveries of wheat, rye and corn soared to new seasonal highs today, meeting little profit cashing resistance until the final hour when offerings came out in volume. Stop-loss orders were uncovered in all markets before the advance was checked.

At times wheat was up as much as three cents, corn gained important fractions, the July delivery selling at the ceiling, and rye was strong.

Spurring the broad demand was the scarcity of supplies in cash markets where wheat and corn are selling at ceilings.

Also accounting for the rush to buy were large government purchases of flour, indications that vast amounts of grain will be needed for European relief, and trade reports the ceiling price of wheat soon will be raised three or four cents a bushel.

There was a general demand for wheat futures and large quantities were bought on stop-loss orders. A bulge after noon carried prices to new highs where offerings came out in volume. However it had been difficult to buy wheat all the way up.

July corn was for sale at the $1.18⅛ ceiling. Meantime the deferred contracts reached new peaks in a mixed trade.

The rye market was active and strong despite persistent profit cashing by Longs who recently have been prominent on the bull side. Grain for delivery next month traded at a 3¼ cent premium over the July price.

At the finish wheat was 1 to 1¼ higher than Saturday's close, July $1.68-$1.67¾, Corn was up ⅛ to ¼, July $1.18⅝. Oats were ⅛ to 1⅛ higher, July 62 ⅝. Rye was up 1 to 2¼, July $1.41 ⅞-⅝. Barley was ⅛ to 1¼ higher, July $1.06¾.
