

WAR SLATED TO COME TO MODOC FIELD

Chico, where 8500 persons turned out.

Gen. Joe Stilwell, famed commander of army forces, reviewed the show before it left Fort Benning.

Men of the unit said they expect their greatest response in Oregon. Most of the men in the group are from this state. It is hoped that several thousand will see the demonstration here.

The show is being conducted under the auspices of the 7th War Loan committee. Purpose is to inform the public about the work of the infantry, "queen of battles" and to emphasize the need for bond purchases to supply fighting men with the tools of war.

The 80 men in the combat crew and band are staying at the Klamath armory. Men in the unit represent nearly all the fighting fronts—from deep Burma to the beaches of Anzio.

However, when the war department wanted experienced veterans for a demonstration of real fighting conditions they drew heavily upon Oregon's own 41st division, which is well represented in this particular unit.

Gain—Gross postal receipts for May, 1945 for Klamath amounted to $19,658.12, making a gain of $3137.54 over those for May 1944.

Weekend—Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Matthews spent the weekend at their cabin on Sprague river.

For Your Uplifting

By EARL WHITLOCK
This bit of sensible psychology I read in an article supposed to be aimed at the ladies. But somehow, I can't think its application is limited to that one sex. Anyone can profit by it.

It says that we can give ourselves a good, big, dose of discouragement that may last all day by looking in the mirror the first thing in the morning—that time when the pores are relaxed and the color is poor and the morning sun is cruelly revealing. It is a habit quite common with folks "no longer young"—a sort of gesture of fear, a "how-much-am-I-slipping" reaction.

And early in the morning, the mirror is apt to tell you you have slipped pretty far.

It is better, says this author, to go through the washing and freshening routine first, which includes a dash of make up for the ladies and a shave for the men. Then your first glimpse of yourself will convince you not only that you will probably be able to stagger through the day, but that you're not such a tough chore on the eyes, after all.

the United States and a "western" by the French. In addition, there will be an over-riding Greater Berlin zone to be administered by an inter-allied governmental authority composed of representatives of each of the four powers. Each zone will have its own commander-in-chief, who will be supreme in his particular area, but the four will act jointly in matters concerning Germany as a whole.

GERMANY will be cut down to pre-Hitler size, with Austria and Czechoslovakia split off. Her ships and communications of all kinds will be turned over to allied control, her war factories will be placed at allied disposal.

That is to say, the allies will RUN GERMANY UTTERLY, from top to bottom.

JAP papers please copy. That is EXACTLY what the Jap suicide "fight to the last cave and the last hole and the last Jap, know we're licked but go on fighting anyway" policy is leading to. Its results will be far worse than unconditional surrender.

WE mustn't, of course, put ourselves in the position of the cowboy who laughed himself weak over the way the bull was going to look when he rubbed his nose in the dirt, but to our western minds the whole Jap suicide complex looks silly.

It makes a crazy kind of sense ONLY on the assumption that their leaders think there are TOO MANY JAPS anyway and that cutting down their number will help to solve future problems.

On that cold-blooded basis, there might be something to it. Japan's area (148,756 square miles) is about one and a half times Oregon's. Japan's population (estimated in 1938 at 72,227,700) is nearly 70 TIMES Oregon's.

Oregon's population per square mile of area is roughly ten. Japan's is NEARLY 500.

Hope For Agreement
Even more they hope that Stalin will agree there is no need for a veto on the right to discuss. But a hot debate has been raging over what to do if Russia reaffirms its stand.

Virtually all United States delegates except Stettinius are reported urging that the delegation make a strong statement of its position and carry the fight to the conference floor, if necessary. In such an instance there is every prospect that the Russian view would be voted down—for many small nations are becoming quite short-tempered about the entire veto situation.

State department advisers, however, are advocating that the delegation move cautiously, in order to avoid arousing new Russian fears and antagonisms, and avoid blowing up the issue unduly.

States, Great Britain, France and Russia, recreates the German nation as it was before Hitler's annexation of Austria and Czechoslovakia. The declaration was made simultaneously in Washington, Moscow, London and Paris.

Austrian Control
No announcement was made regarding a joint control arrangement for Austria, which is expected to be set up in the fairly near future.

The Austrian situation is complicated by the recent establishment of the Renner government in Vienna behind red army lines, which has not yet been contacted by representatives of Britain, the United States and France.

Czechs Return
Nor was there any clarification of what is to be done in Czechoslovakia which is partly occupied by Russian troops on the east and American troops in the west. The Czech government, a member of the United Nations, has returned to its capital at Prague, east of the red army occupation frontier.

An American diplomatic mission reached Prague last week. A final settlement of Czech boundaries is considered a matter to be decided at a peace conference.

With Germany's unconditional surrender, the statement said, there no longer is any central government or authority there "capable of accepting responsibility for the maintenance of order, the administration of the country and compliance with the requirements of the victorious powers."

It is in these circumstances necessary, without prejudice to any subsequent decisions that may be taken respecting Germany," the announcement went on, "to make provision for the cessation of any further hostilities on the part of the German armed forces, for the maintenance of order in Germany and for the administration of the country, and to announce the immediate requirements with which Germany must comply."

Four occupational zones were set up and allotted to the victorious allied powers as follows: An eastern zone to the Soviet Union.

A northwestern zone to the United Kingdom.

A southwestern zone to the United States.

A western zone to France.

DIRECTED VERDICT ENDS SODOMY CASE

came over with a dozen eggs to give to the Reeds. He said she had one drink. They all left the house at 7:10 p. m., as Reed was to go to a train to meet his wife.

Followed Woman
Reed testified Crawford had said he wanted a cab and also some cigarettes. He testified Mrs. Petersen told Crawford she thought she had some cigarettes in a cigar at her house.

Mrs. Petersen later denied this. He said that Mrs. Petersen walked toward her house with Crawford a short distance behind her.

When Reed and his wife got home later, he said, they saw a light in Mrs. Petersen's kitchen and went over to thank her for the eggs. When they came in, Reed said, Crawford leaped to his feet and demanded to know what they were doing there.

Crawford came up swinging, Reed said, and hit Reed. The two men fought.

Mrs. Reed left and returned with two neighbors. Police were called in and Crawford was arrested.

Similar testimony was given by Mrs. Reed, who said that Mrs. Petersen told them that "you came and saved my life." She said Mrs. Petersen's face was battered and bruised, eyes swollen, right side of jaw swollen, and other injuries. She said the woman became hysterical and called Crawford a fiend and a brute.

Testifies
Mrs. Petersen next appeared on the stand. She said that Crawford shoved her into the front room, choked her, beat her, and threatened to kill her when she warned him to leave her alone.

She said she didn't remember much about the fight between Reed and Crawford, as she was semi-conscious, but recalled that Dr. Peter Rozendal, county physician, examined her at her home afterwards.

Sgt. Leigh Ackerman, city police, told of the police investigation.

Testimony with regard to liquor was given by Reed, who said on cross-examination that a whiskey bottle at the Petersen home — the bottle Crawford brought with him was "taken down about three inches" and that a second bottle was opened with one drink gone.

Dr. Rozendal, called as a state witness Tuesday, told of examining Mrs. Petersen at her home. He told of numerous injuries he found on her body and said she was frightened, incoherent, and resisted rectal examination.

He said she did not appear intoxicated.

The county coroner, Dr. George Adler, said he examined Mrs. Petersen the following day. He also described injuries.

An all-man jury is hearing the case. Its members are Frank Driscoll, Halbert Wilson, Lloyd C. Prock, J. C. Wright, Irvin W. Kramer, P. D. Reeder, Guy H. Hancock, Ralph T. Howard, Rufus A. Quillen, M. D. Drulliner, J. A. Johnson and Oscar Moeller.

VANDENBERG UPHELD IN CASE DISMISSAL

SALEM, June 5 (AP)—The state supreme court today unanimously upheld Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg, Klamath county, in his dismissal of a $45,380 damage suit brought against the Ewauna Box company for the death of Ralph T. Wood, 54, one of its employees.

The suit was brought by Thomas J. Amereau, administrator of Wood's estate. Amereau contended that the company was negligent in allowing Wood to be smothered under a pile of sawdust.

The court's decision, by Justice Arthur D. Hay, said, however, there was no conclusive evidence to show that Wood's death was caused by the sawdust caving in. The court said he might have died of a heart attack or other causes.

Churchill Talk Angers Laborites

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Cries from the labor benches of "where is the gestapo?" greeted Prime Minister Churchill today when he entered the house of commons.

The laborites were quick to voice anger at Churchill's election address last night in which he suggested that no socialist system, as advocated by the labor party, could operate without "some form of the gestapo."

He called the labor party program "abhorrent to British ideas of freedom."

A challenge was hurled across the Cascades recently by the Medford junior chamber of commerce inviting the Klamath Falls Jaycees to participate in a softball game on June 24.

The challenge was accepted here and the game is to be played at the Lake o' the Woods if the weather and grounds permit. Marvin Hixon is coaching the local team.
