WASHINGTON, June 11—They say Mr. Churchill blundered when he claimed socialism would bring a gestapo to the British...

Today's Roundup

THE country is greener than usual for this time of year, of course, but in the little valley traversed by the Old Fort Klamath road...

EPLEY

The very day he spoke, a British-spirited province in Canada voted on socialism. In Ontario, a straight-out socialist movement, called the Co-operative Commonwealth federation...

This Monday all Canada is furnishing another test of socialism and you can check the results tomorrow, but if CCF cannot win in the British labor center of Ontario it cannot hope for much anywhere outside the radical farwest farming provinces.

Atlee Defends Socialism

IN BRITAIN the labor party leader, Mr. Atlee, answered Churchill directly defending the theory of socialism against the ideal of private enterprise for private profit. While Churchill may have taken political license with the gestapo deduction, he did not exaggerate the basic issue, which has been laid: "Do you want socialism or free enterprise?"

Competition is the only thing which protects the consumers, who are all the people. Government ownership and operation is as non-competitive as a trust, a cartel or a business monopoly. Once any single force gets the power of exclusive operation, the buyer must accept the terms. Where competition is most active, the buyer is best protected. Consider the service the public gets on those western railroads where some are bemoaning the parallel lines. It is much better than upon eastern roads which control a monopoly of travel. This is true of the buying of all goods or services. It is true of hotel accommodations, of buying cigarettes, of renting a house or buying a dress.

Government Must Compete

IN my opinion, government ownership is in the public interest only when it is in itself competitive—competing with private interests to serve the public better. Consider the two Canadian railroads, one private and one government owned. The public gets much better service than if the government owned both and railroading became a business of government bureaucracy. TVA is good only when it can be contrasted against a living private operation, because, if you extend socialism to everything, socialism itself becomes a monopoly with all the deteriorating effects on the public interest. If you extend socialism to a whole country, you merely transfer labor to a government payroll—at government-fixed wages—and by the elimination of competition, allow the government to become the monopoly which offers you whatever service its political directors decide, under its terms.

Economically, socialism cannot generate business-like competition. In a competitive economy, a great portion of business develops from the necessity of one concern to get ahead of another. This stimulates interest in products and sells more of them. The very incentive of competition adds to national income.

I suspect Churchill (who was never much of a politician) may have seized upon the most popular valid issue he could present. The labor leaders who took up a proposal to go "halfway to communism" have certainly not chosen the best time to go in that direction for popular effect. There was Nazi socialism in Germany, so fresh in all minds and so repugnant to all people. Then there is the socialism of Russia, covering all Stalin's industry (he uses communism only for the farms) and this is not popular in our labor. AFL certainly is against it. Look at the differences in wage scales between Russia and U. S. and you will see why. Recall the experience of labor now in trying to get pay raises out of our government, and you will appreciate why the working man may think he can get more out of a business man who is making a profit, than out of a government monopoly.

New Analgesic Tablet now released to public

Thousands find it gives quicker, safe relief from headache—from pains of sinus, neuritis, neuralgia and arthritis

FOR MANY YEARS aspirin has been accepted by both the medical profession and the public as a safe, sure way to relieve pain.

But many people who had complete confidence in aspirin did not find it gave as quick relief from blinding, maddening pain as they hoped for. Hence in desperation they sometimes turned to other remedies less well proved.

To meet this situation a group of medical research men set out to see what could be done to speed up the analgesic or "pain-killing" action of aspirin—to make it bring their patients quicker relief, without heart or stomach upset. Out of these researches came a really new kind of analgesic tablet, a combination of aspirin and calcium glutamate. In this new tablet, aspirin does its old, safe job of relieving pain. But through its combination with calcium glutamate, extensive tests by physicians showed it gave most people both quicker relief and greater relief from pain.

After this extensive testing and use by members of the medical profession as a prescription remedy, this new analgesic tablet has now been released for non-prescription sale by every druggist. It is called Superin (from super-aspirin). You can get its blessed, quick relief from pain by asking your druggist for a bottle today—30 tablets for 35¢. Ask for Superin-Superin.
