

WEATHER MAN REPORTS CROP OUTLOOK GOOD

PORTLAND, June 14 (AP)—A generally good crop outlook despite persistent cloudiness delaying growth was reported today by the weather bureau in its weekly crop-weather survey of Oregon.

The bureau recorded a maximum temperature during the last week of 82 at Medford, and a minimum of 27 at Bend. Rainfall was generally scattered and light.

The grain picture: Winter grain heading well, though heads not well filled in some localities; early sown spring grain good, though acreage reduced because of poor seeding weather; some corn being replanted due to scarcity of sunshine.

Fruit: Strawberries of good quality reaching market; cane fruit crop expected to be good; cherries showing color in warmer areas; weather unfavorable for eradication of pear blight.

Livestock: Pasture good to excellent; livestock in good condition; sheep shearing delayed; good yields of hay cut in drier regions.

Truck crops: Hops doing well; lettuce being shipped; onions and sugar beets making good growth; tomatoes and melons in need of warm weather.

8 CROP DUSTING PLANES PURCHASED

A fleet of eight crop dusting planes was purchased recently by Max Mentl of Klamath Falls from Louis Soukup, who has operated the business for a number of years prior to their purchase by Mentl.

Some work is being done now for various growers and ranchers in the Klamath basin, Soukup stated, and more will be done later in Washington and up and down the coast.

These crop dusting planes operate efficiently by first placing a hopper able to hold anywhere from three sacks to 12 sacks of insecticide in the back of the plane depending upon the plane's size. The planes then take off and swoop down to a distance of from four to ten feet above the crop to be dusted. The hopper is then opened, releasing the insecticide upon the desired area.

Crop dusting planes are also used to kill weeds, exterminate grasshoppers, and sow seed, Soukup said. Crops are always dusted early in the morning when the wind velocity is low and there is some dew evident.

Several of the planes are located in a landing field adjacent to highway 97 and others at the Worden airport.

Farm Wage Program Representatives Named

PORTLAND, June 14 (AP)—Oregon's farm wage stabilization program was set up today, with three men in charge of furnishing information to farmers and enforcing wage ceilings.

Farm work ceilings are $200 a month or 85 cents an hour, except in cases where the 1943 rate was higher than that, or where special exemption has been obtained.

John W. Reed, Klamath Falls, was appointed field representative in the Willamette valley, with headquarters in Salem. Clarence L. Look, The Dalles, will cover fruit and wheat areas of eastern Oregon, and Edward T. Crawford, Merrill, will direct southern Oregon.

WRA HARVEST
The farm section of the WRA camp at Tulelake harvested 24,570 pounds of vegetables in May. First harvest of the season yielded 23,520 pounds of green onions and 1050 pounds of radishes. Major crops planted were 150 acres of potatoes, 22 acres of onions, 12 acres of gobo and 10 acres of nappa.

Weekly Market Trend

Editor's Note: The following market information is supplied from material obtained over the government leased wire in the office of the extension economist at Oregon State college. Material, in the form of a weekly summary of trends in the livestock market, is not intended to replace day by day market reports.

The government index of meat animal prices advanced two points during the month ending May 15, according to a recent report from the crop reporting service. This index now stands at 217 per cent of the 1910-1914 average. The increase during the month was due to higher prices for beef cattle. Hog prices remained unchanged, while sheep and lambs were lower.

Production of beef and veal is expected to set a new record this year—about 11.2 billion pounds. This is approximately 5 per cent more than in 1944, the previous high record year. Pork production is expected to be about 20 per cent less than the large production in 1944 and lamb and mutton around 9 per cent less than last year.

Civilian supplies of meat during the late spring and summer period are expected to be the smallest of the year, and thus far during the war period. On May 15 commercial storage stocks of meat were the lowest of that date on record in sharp contrast with a year previous when holdings were the highest for that date in 24 years.

CATTLE MARKETS
Salable receipts of cattle at North Portland on Monday, June 11, totaled 1600 heads, only 50 less than a week ago, but around 400 less than a year ago. There were also 400 calves offered, the same number as a year previous. Trading was active on the better grades of cattle with prices fully bid, but the market was weak with prices lower on the poorer grades. Two loads of choice fed steers brought a top of $18.25—a new record high. The bulk of the goods to choice fed steers moved from $17 to $18. Grass fat steers brought up to $16.25. Choice fed heifers were up to $16.75.

LAMB MARKETS
A total of 3100 head of sheep and lambs arrived, the same as a year previous. Trading was active and the market fully steady. Good to choice spring lambs brought mostly $14, with a few as high as $14.25.

Contracting of western lambs for fall delivery has been slow except in Montana where activity is reported in Wyoming and Montana at prices for black face feeders ranging from $12 per hundredweight up to as high as $13 for outstanding bands. Some Montana whiteface ewe lambs were contracted at $12.75 to $13.50 for replacement purposes.

HOG MARKETS
Hog markets continue active with prices at ceilings.

WOOL MARKETS
Sales of domestic wools on the Boston market increased slightly in volume during the week ending June 8 for military purposes, and a broader inquiry developed from civilian sources. Demand for 62's, high half-blood wools, has continued active for the manufacture of serge, and fine 64's wools of good staple sold easily at appraisal prices.

New shorn wool from the northwest is being received on the market in steadily increasing volume. Idaho wools are selling freely but very little of the new clip has moved out of Montana. The territory states was moving to the mills at $1.17 to $1.18, clean basis, and good clear lots with an edge of fine brought $1.19. The 1945 clip is reported well out of Utah. Fine graded territory staple wools were appraised in Boston at the following grease prices: Wyoming 44.4 cents; Colorado 32.7 cents; Utah 41.3 cents; and Nevada 40.6 cents.

DEADLINE SET FOR SIGN-UP ON FARM LABOR

Deadline for securing farm labor has been definitely set as 5 p. m. June 15. All contracts for Mexican national labor must be signed by that time.

Directors of the Klamath Potato Growers association met in the county agent's office Monday night to review contracts already signed for Mexican national farm labor. One hundred contracts have already been signed, requesting a total of 1223 workers, almost twice what the association expects to receive.

With some adjustments, however, most contracts will be filled. It was stated, with the 600 to 700 workers expected for this area.

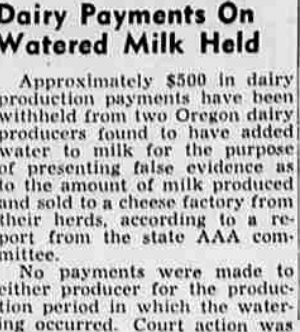

Some directors reported growers in their districts desiring labor have not signed contracts yet, and these are urged to do so without further delay.

MAKING ICE CREAM

Approximately $500 in dairy production payments have been withheld from two Oregon dairy producers found to have added water to milk for the purpose of presenting false evidence as to the amount of milk produced and sold to a cheese factory from their herds, according to a report from the state AAA committee.

No payments were made to either producer for the production period in which the watering occurred. Court action was
