

COMPANY TO FILM RODEO ACTION HERE

The July rodeo — broncs, Brahmas, performers and spectators — will be filmed by 20th Century Fox studios, O. D. Matthews, president of the Klamath Buckaroo Days committee, stated today.

Paul E. McPherson, technical director for the studio, will shoot scenes from every day of the performance, shots to be used in a forthcoming technical color picture, "Smoky," starring Fred MacMurray and Ann Baxter.

McPherson will arrive with his crew in Klamath Falls Friday, June 29, Matthews said, and anticipates making shots from each day of the celebration, July 1 to 4 inclusive.

Main shots will be action pictures and bucking events, with actors appearing in some of the scenes. There will also be shots of the grandstand spectators.

McPherson stated Klamath rodeo was selected as being one of the most typical wild west shows. The decision was reached, he said, after viewing action shots from rodeos throughout the western states.
