6. "It scuttles the Pan-American union which we have spent 50 years in building among our American neighbors and makes it subject to the approval of European and Asiatic nations."

Bushfield said all the objections "can be corrected easily by the senate," without harm to the treaty.

him and her eyes filled with tears.

On the rubble-lined street that is the once-famous Wilhelmstrasse Natchees inquired the location of Hitler's chancellery. A middle-aged German woman, neatly dressed and twisting her hands nervously, replied, "Russian?"

"Lady, I'm an American," said the khaki-clad private. "God be thanked," she exclaimed.

No Prospecting

Most of the chancellery's walls still were standing. Red army men were supervising the clearance of debris and repairs to a water main at the corner so Natchees did not go prospecting in the rear gardens for location of the subterranean bunker where Hitler is supposed to have met his death.

In front of the Berlin cathedral, its huge dome walled by bombs and fire, Natchees was given a set of prewar Berlin postcards by a street peddler who said, "Gee, it's great to see Americans again."

er explosions occurred, but no one was injured.

Red points by the hundreds went up in smoke as the fire roared through the plant. The flames consumed hundreds of hams and bacon. Bratton said more than 100 dead of hogs were in cure there. Meat destroyed included 26 beef carcasses which had been killed Tuesday, and many other carcasses were in the cooler.

Meat Safe

Worried locker holders gathered around, but were told that while the fire had destroyed the compressor and other freezing equipment, temperature in the locker plant could be held at a safe level until other equipment could be obtained.

Bratton said today that this equipment was already rolling out of Seattle and would be installed within a short time. He said he was sure that the locker meat is safe, but if the situation should change, he will immediately make public announcement.

Jap Remnants Trapped In Isles

MANILA, July 3 (AP)—Scattered little remnants of a Japanese Philippine garrison, once half a million strong, found themselves isolated and trapped today by relentless American and guerrilla thrusts.

The tiny village of Walo, in the wild Agusan river valley of eastern Mindanao, already is circled by a tightening ring of American and Filipino troops. Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz reported from eighth army headquarters. It was there that the fleeing enemy was believed likely to attempt a final regrouping of his tired, beaten forces.

Jackson was recorded as not voting on January 3 when the house established the committee as permanent successor to the old Dies committee. However, on March 7 he voted against giving the committee $50,000 for operating expenses.

In 1943, when the old Dies group was extended for the 78th congress, Jackson voted against its continuance and against financing it.

Other southerners indicated they would support the selection of Jackson, who has been classed as a "liberal" by colleagues since he came to the house in 1941.

ELLIOT ROOSEVELT DEBT REVEALED

NEWARK, N. J., July 3 (AP)—Maxwell M. Bilofsky, manufacturer of radio tubes and electrical apparatus, said today he loaned Elliott Roosevelt $50,000 in 1939, took as collateral 500 shares of Texas state radio network stock which he said proved to be worthless, and received final and total repayment of $20,800 in 1941.

Bilofsky, president of the Industrial Electronics corporation, of Newark, said the loan to the late president's son was "pure and simple business."

The manufacturer said the transaction was arranged by David G. Baird, of Montclair, a New York insurance man who, he said, approached him in behalf of Elliott Roosevelt when he was raising funds to purchase the Texas network.

His statement was made in response to queries about Columnist Westbrook Pegler's published report that Baird loaned young Roosevelt $70,000 in November, 1939, and arranged for the $50,000 loan by Bilofsky.

Baird has been unavailable for comment at his home or office.

The advance was halted temporarily yesterday when a storage tank burst open like a volcano, and poured rivers of flaming oil down ravines.

SENATOR BUSHFIELD, of South Dakota, points out six ways in which the San Francisco charter limits the sovereignty of the United States. He is doubtless right on all six points.

But the Constitution of the United States, when framed in 1787, limited sharply the sovereignty of the 13 states, which were aware of that fact and were WORRIED BY IT.

But the Constitution WORKED. If Americans then hadn't been willing to TRY it we couldn't have learned that it would work.

THE British election is day after tomorrow.

Churchill is being branded by the Labor party as a dictator. He is retorting with questions as to what controls the Labor party executive committee, which is not elected by the voters, will exert on the government if the Laborites win.

It sounds familiar. The British governmental system differs from ours, but their campaign methods are apparently quite similar.

Woods, commanding the tactical air force; Maj. Gen. F. G. Wallace, in command of Okinawa island; and Vice Adm. J. B. Oldendorf in command of third fleet forces now in the Ryukyus.

Charles Larimer of San Francisco was treated at the Red Cross first aid station after having had his breath knocked out when he was thrown from a bucking bronco. Jerry Chocktoot, Beatty, was taken to the hospital by OWAC ambulance with a slight brain concussion as a result of being thrown.

Moon Jackson, Sprague River, was treated for a bruised leg. Larry Carl Carny, who was standing inside the arena, was run over by a horse and kicked in the head. Dean George of Beatty was treated for bruises about the head, and small Janet Stierdorf was thrown from her horse while riding around and taken to the first aid station.

A record for all Klamath rodeos was the fast time on bulldogging in yesterday's show. A. W. Walker's time of 14 4/5 seconds, a good fast record, only rated him fourth place. It was beaten by Gene Rambo at 5 4/5 seconds, taking first, Jack Sherman's 9 2/5, and Frank Ferriera's 11 4/5. Walker's time July 1 won the same event for him at 8 1/5. A close contest for final prizes on this event is predicted. Watch this Shandon Cowboy Rambo who walked off with so many firsts in last year's rodeo.

Brahma bull rides for the first two days were recommended by the committee for double-day money. Frankie Schneider awarded first place; second, third and fourth honors were split between Buck Scott, Bud Cook and Wingo Johnson.

Re-Rides Held

Re-rides were held on bronc riding, both bareback and saddled Tuesday morning, as Monday's program was too full to finish the contest the same day. Bronc riding is still proceeding, with prizes still pending. John McFarlane, Anaheim, won first on calf roping with 19 2/5 seconds; Vic Castro, Redmond, second, 19 4/5; Gene Rambo, Shandon, 20 seconds; Al Coehlo, Fresno, 20 1/5.

Firecracker-less Fourth In Store

Klamath Falls faces another war-time "firecracker-less" Fourth of July this year, with no firecrackers found for sale in any of the local stores or in stands outside the city limits.

A city ordinance has long banned the use or shooting of the fireworks in the city and retail and wholesale dealers must obtain a permit to sell them 30 days in advance. No permits have been applied for this year.

So unless citizens have old stores of the noisemakers in basements, Klamathites can be assured of a quiet Fourth of July.

Reds Move Out Of Prague

PRAGUE, July 2 (Delayed) (AP)—Russian occupation troops started moving out of Prague today and it was expected that virtually all would be gone by tomorrow except administrative officers and a guard at the airport.

The Russians are regrouping at the borders of Czechoslovakia, reducing the occupation area. The Czechs, meanwhile, are pressing an energetic mobilization program, obviously hoping to convince the occupying powers—American as well as Russian—that they can take care of any conceivable military emergency themselves.
